JESSE JAMES OUTDOPE THE STAR OF THE WESTERN BANDIT PALES

Before the Daring Nerve of Mr. Eastern... The train was stopped at the station.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 22.—The shooting of an express messenger on a Central Hudson train, the killing of a valuable aide, the flight of the robber on the engine of another train, from which he drops the crew at the point of a revolver, a running fight from the engine, a chase by a train of another engine, a chase by another engine filled with railway men and final capture of the desperado by a sheriff's posse in a swampy place are some of the sensational features of the most desperate attempt at train robbery in the history of the Central Hudson Railway.

Train No. 3 on the Central Hudson, known as the American Express Company's special, is run every day in the year between New York and Buffalo and carries only goods and property shipped by that company.

The train leaves New York at 9 o'clock each evening and is due in this city at 7:05 o'clock in the morning. Nearly all the cars are run through to Chicago and contain the express matter.

The Famous "Money Car." One car is known as the "money car" and it is sent the specie from the United States Treasury for Western banks as well as money in process of exchange between banks of New York and the West.

The train left Syracuse at 5 o'clock this morning in charge of Conductor Emil E. Smith. The train was stopped at the engine 692, with Cash Cherry, Engineer. The coach was in the rear of the train and the money car just ahead.

He was the robber. Now, it so happened that the trainman had noticed the same young man at the station at Syracuse before the train pulled out and he had seen him since, and a question of what he was doing at Lyons and how he got there at once suggested it.

An attempt was made to seize him, but he pulled out two revolvers, held the crowd back and backed across the engine until he reached a coal train. The engine had steam up ready to pull out for the west and the robber, holding the tender to the first car, coasted over the coal train, the cab drove the engineer and fireman out with his revolver and started the engine up.

Conductor, Louis and one of the switchmen procured a shotgun, freed the engine of the express and with the fireman and engineer started in pursuit. The train was going out as the robber took part of this time. No one was hurt in either battle.

At the age of 23 Albert Bayard, the presumed orphan, was in the employ of the Assistance Publique. He was discovered by the police and his identity was established.
