BELGIAN MINE HORROR.

MOST APPALLING CALAMITY OF MODERN TIMES.

The Mine Takes Fire Before the Rescuers Can Reach the Imprisoned Victims and Over Two Hundred Human Beings Are Roasted Alive.

BRUSSELS, March 14.—The fire in the Anderlun colliery, near Charleroi, grew fiercer Saturday morning, and the heat became so intense that it was impossible for the rescuing parties to remain in the pit. They were consequently compelled to abandon all efforts to reach the galleries. The mine owners and engineers decided that, as there was not the slightest doubt that everybody in the mine was dead, the only course if they hoped to recover bodies was to flood the mine.

Fire Precedes Flood.

Preparations were being made to carry out this plan, but before any water could be pumped in cries of "fire" were heard on all sides, and flames ascended to the pit's mouth and sparks were scattered in every direction.

A few minutes later an immense column of flame shot through the ventilator shaft, piercing the thick clouds of smoke that were overhanging the shaft.

For a great distance around the country was illuminated to almost the brightness of day by the vast column of fire pouring out of the mine. The engine house and other buildings near by were destroyed.

Horror Upon Horror.

Water was thrown into the burning pit, but before it had descended any distance it was converted into steam and escaped with a tremendous roaring noise, which added to the horror of the situation.

The scene has seldom if ever been equalled in the mining districts of Belgium.

All the heavy machinery at the mouth of the pit was destroyed and fell crashing down the shaft. This acted as a damper against the flames ascending the shaft to the surface and thereafter but little fire could be seen, but it could be heard roaring and seething through the galleries far below the surface.

The total number of the dead colliers is 251; of this number it is estimated 170 were burned alive.

The calamity has crushed the entire Charleroi district.

BRUSSELS, March 14.—According to a report on the Anderlun mine disaster 63 persons were unhurt, 20 injured and 153 were killed.

Twenty thousand persons to-day attended the funeral of 31 of the victims.

LUDWIG IV. DEAD.

The Queen's Son-in-Law, Grand Duke of Hesse, No More.

BERLIN, March 14.—The Grand Duke of Hesse died at 1.15 o'clock this morning.

It was seen at 5 o'clock Saturday evening that the end was approaching. The family and ministers were then summoned to the dying man's bedside, and all were present at the time of his death.

The body is attired in a general's uniform.

The official Darmstadt Gazette announces the accession of the deceased's son, Ernest Ludwig, to the grand dukedom.

LONDON, March 1.—The news of the death of the Grand Duke of Hesse caused great grief at Windsor, where the deceased was a great favorite.

The Queen will send the Duke of Edinburgh to represent her at the funeral and may possibly delay her own departure for the Continent, as a mark of respect for the deceased.

Ludwig IV., the late Grand Duke of Hesse, was born on Sept. 12, 1837. He succeeded to the throne on the death of his uncle, Grand Duke Ludwig III., on June 13, 1877. On July 1, 1862, he married Princess Alice, second daughter of Queen Victoria, who died on Dec. 14, 1878. His eldest daughter, Princess Victoria, married Prince Ludwig of Battenberg; his second daughter, Princess Elizabeth, married the Grand Duke Sergius of Russia; while his third daughter, Princess Irene, married Prince Henry of Prussia. There is yet another daughter, Princess Alice, who was born on June 6, 1872.

The heir to the throne is Prince Ernest Ludwig, the Grand Duke's only son, who was born on Nov. 25, 1868.

MANY TRAGEDIES.

The Victims of a Vienna Imitator of Jack the Ripper.

VIENNA, March 14.—This city continues to be shocked by mysterious murders. The latest victim is Leopold Buchinger, who was stabbed to the heart by an undetected assassin in one of the most public places in Vienna.

This makes the list of tragedies five in number, and there is a growing feeling of terror among the public. The impression is gaining ground that Vienna harbors some madman with a homicidal mania and cunning enough to gratify his fiendish appetite without being discovered by ordinary methods.

The police are devoting themselves earnestly to the work of detection, and the leading streets at night are watched by officers in citizens' attire.

Bonaparte Paid Up.

LONDON, March 14.—The prosecution of Louis Clovis Bonaparte, son of the late Prince Lucien Bonaparte, who was charged by his first wife with having conspired to obtain possession of jewelry valued at £20,000, in order to give it to Miss Laura Scott, whom he subsequently married, was withdrawn in the Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, to-day on Mr. Bonaparte undertaking to return all the jewelry and pay Rosalie Bonaparte's costs in the action.

LONDON, March 14.—Countess Russell, who recently unsuccessfully sued for a writ of judicial separation, has appealed. Judgment is reserved. Countess Russell claims that she has not the money necessary to pay the costs and solicitor's fees, and asks that her husband be compelled to pay them.

The Orleans Divorce Case.

LONDON, March 14.—The court here has dismissed the appeal of the Duke of Orleans against the order directing him to prove that Madame Melba, the well-known singer, whose husband, Capt. Armstrong, is suing her for divorce, naming the Duke of Orleans as co-respondent, is domiciled in Ireland.

The order was made in consequence of the Duke's plea that Mme. Melba is not domiciled within the jurisdiction of the English courts, but that her true domicile is in Australia.

The court also refused to appoint a commission to visit Australia for the purpose of taking evidence there.

Mrs. Osborne May be Released.

LONDON, March 14.—Mrs. Osborne, after her sentence Thursday, developed hysteric catilepsy so seriously that her condition became critical and her husband was permitted to visit her. Friends hope to obtain a medical certificate to the effect that a prolonged imprisonment is certain to cause the death of Mrs. Osborne. The birth of her child is expected in June.

NEVER FAILS. CURES COLD IN HEAD AND CATARRH

DR. KEATING NO MORE.

Tragic Death of a Well Known Guelph Physician Sunday.

GUELPH, March 14.—Shortly after midnight yesterday an alarm was sounded for fire at the residence of Dr. Keating, medical health inspector. On the arrival of the fire brigade they found the house filled with smoke and the doctor lying on the floor dead, a broken lamp lying beside him. The fire was quickly extinguished and the doctor's body removed. It is supposed he fell while carrying the lamp and in falling struck his face on the lamp, as there is a severe cut on one cheek.

After a consultation of doctors later it was ascertained that the doctor had died from heart failure some time before the lamp exploded.

Doctor Keating was chairman of the Board of Health and of Education, and also a director of one of Guelph's financial institutions.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

Jens Stevens of Whitefish Bay Takes Poison and Slashes His Throat.

RAT PORTAGE, March 14.—John Stevens, a foreman for the Keewatin Lumber Company near Whitefish Bay, Lake-of-the Woods, attempted suicide by taking poison and afterwards slashing his throat with a razor. He cannot live. His home is at Keewatin and his wife left him last fall on account of his ungovernable temper. She is said to be living in Toronto with her family.

What Sherman Thinks.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senator Sherman, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, said Saturday: "I regard the Behring Sea treaty now pending with highest favor. It is honorable to both nations. It is an example of arbitration which ought to be adopted in every controversy between two countries bound by so many ties as Great Britain and the United States. A war or even a contention between them for a cause so trivial as one year's fishing for seals would be a crime against civilization. The cupidity of a few vessel-owners, pending arbitration, should not be allowed to disturb the peace and amiable relations of two great nations."

A British Columbia Murder.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., March 14.—At the adjourned inquest into the death of May Hunter, who was found dead, lying to the bed in her bagnio, George Smith gave evidence that he saw deceased at 8 o'clock the night before she was found dead. May Hunter wanted witness to lend her $20 to go to Victoria or Seattle to get girls for her place. The Hunter woman told witness she had only $22, and would have to pay the girls' fare over and did not want to be short. May Hunter offered witness a diamond ring worth $60 for a loan of money. Witness said he told the Hunter woman he had no money to lend, but would give her some in the morning. Witness was on his way next morning to give May Hunter the money when he heard she was dead.

Chief Houston stated in his evidence that the appearance of the body, bed clothing and room indicated a considerable struggle, which might have lasted several hours before her death. Near the bed of the deceased was a bottle labeled "listerine."

Physicians do not credit the theory that May Hunter was despatched by chloroform. Dr. C. J. Fagan, who held the post mortem, said he could find no traces of it. If she had died of chloroform her features would have been placid after death, but the features were distorted, which was pretty conclusive evidence that death was not caused by chloroform. Dr. I. M. McLean, who saw the body before it was cold, substantiated his associate, Dr. Fagan. Dr. McLean does not place credit in the chloroform theory, but is inclined to the theory that the deceased was murdered by suffocation.

A man and woman registered from Victoria at the Queen's Hotel the day before the murder. They left the same day. These parties tally with the description given by Sergt. Carty of a man and woman he saw acting suspiciously early in the morning of the day May Hunter was found dead.

The theory that the murder of May Hunter was connected in some means with the murder of the half-breed found dead in the rear of May Hunter's place five months ago is gradually gaining in the general opinion.

The Evil That Men Do Lives After Them.

The Attempt Successful.

HAMILTON, March 14.—Mr. J. B. Stacey of Hunter street, who cut his throat with a table knife on Monday last and who has been under medical treatment ever since, died at 9 yesterday at the City Hospital. Ill-health was the primary cause of the old man's rash act. He was nearly 70 years old.

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, March 14.—There was no demand for discount in London during the past week. The position of the Bank of England continues to improve. On the stock exchange business was rather more animated. At the half-yearly Bank of England meeting on March 17 it is expected that a proposal will be made to transfer the unrealized assets of the Barings to a new trust, which will raise funds to repay £6,000,000 advanced by the Bank of England for the liquidation.

Canadian railway securities were especially bought and were steady.

The institute of bankers recently sent a circular to banks inquiring whether they were in favor or against Mr. Goschen's currency scheme. Out of 110 responses two-fifths gave unqualified support, but the majority declared against the scheme.

According to experts' analyses the national balance sheet for the year ending March 31 will show a surplus of £600,000.

Miguel Negrete, sick for several weeks, is still in a serious condition.

GREAT MINERS' STRIKE.

THE INAUGURATION OF THE GIGANTIC BATTLE YESTERDAY.

Miners in Lancashire, Yorkshire, Durham and Cheshire Quit Work to the Number of Many Thousands — Belgian Shippers Sending Coal to the Tyne and to the Thames.

LONDON, March 14.—The great coalmen's strike was inaugurated in accordance with the plan of the Miners' Federation, which in its manifesto issued a few days ago declared that the holiday the men proposed to take was for the purpose of clearing the markets of the surplus coal and for restricting the output in order to prevent the masters from using the low prices as an excuse for lowering wages.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the men employed in the mines in Lancashire, Cheshire and Yorkshire stopped work and the ponies were removed from the pits.

The only men at work now are surface men, pumpers, ventilator, attendants, etc., who the Federation have not called out.

In Durham mining work has also completely stopped. It was hoped until today that some sort of a compromise would be arrived at, but no agreement could be reached, and the strange spectacle presents itself of the employes quitting work in the masters' interest, for it cannot be denied that if any advantage is to be derived from higher prices, the mine owners, as compared with the miners, will reap the greater portion.

Belgian shippers are sending coal to the Tyne and the Thames, but they refuse to give any information as to the quantity they have shipped. The old collieries carrying these consignments are expected to arrive on Monday. The coal porters will attempt to prevent discharge of these cargoes and it is feared this will lead to a renewal of the dock troubles.

Twenty thousand miners in Nottingham quit work at noon Saturday. When they came out of the pits they brought their tools with them. The coal stocks in the Bristol district are already nearly exhausted. The miners there have also stopped work and as a result the price of coal has gone up four shillings per ton. Many manufacturers refuse to pay the price demanded and have closed their factories. In this respect the action of the miners is working greatly to the harm of the operatives employed in other industries. One of the results of the split that has occurred among the North Wales miners is that the men working in Flintshire will not go on strike, but will work no more than five days a week.

Wooden barricades are being built around the mouths of the various pits in Durham and none of the miners will be allowed inside these inclosures.

It is believed that at the conference to be held Wednesday next by the Miners' Federation, it will be decided to limit the holiday to a week and to restrict the output during the summer.

Many of the large industrial establishments in Leeds and Manchester and on the Teeside and Tynedale and other places in the vicinity of the collieries dampened their fires when the operatives left their work Saturday afternoon. This means that work will not be resumed on Monday, the manufacturers refusing to pay the extraordinary prices now demanded for coal.

400,000 Have Quit Work.

The Miners' Federation will pay the men strike wages during the period of idleness; the only exception to this, so far as known, is the Durham miners, who will not receive pay. It will require a very large sum of money to pay the 400,000 men who, it is said, have quit work, even though they receive strike wages.

To recoup the drain the treasury of the Federation will be subjected to a levy which will be made upon the men as soon as they return to work.

Delegates from all the collieries in Durham met and finally decided that they would submit to no reduction in their wages. Durham and Northumberland miners are not members of the Miners' Federation but have an organization of their own, the National Union. The membership of the Federation is enormous. It comprises about 280,000 miners, of whom 200,000 are bottom workers, the remaining 80,000 being employed on the surface. The Federation delegates, who met some time ago at Manchester conference, represented 175,000 working miners.

The conference to be held on Wednesday next will take place in London. Hitherto most of the water used by miners and their families in household and other duties has been obtained from the mines. Pumps there furnished them with an abundant supply. It is now feared that a water famine will follow cessation of work. Women and children are procuring water from every available source and storing it in all manner and kind of receptacles in their houses.

The miners have plenty of coal, as the masters have allowed them to provide themselves with liberal supplies.

Mercier was seen off from Quebec by 500 sympathizers. He almost broke down when saying farewell. Sir Adolphe Caron boarded the same train and was urged by ardent companions to address the crowd. The moment he opened his mouth he was met with groans, hisses, uncomplimentary remarks and snowballs. All the postmaster-general could do was to smile sarcastically and gracefully wave his adieu to the irate crowd, which continued to cheer for Mercier.

Where Sympathy is Constant?

Queen's College Journal.

We can understand how the cadets or anyone else could feel inclined to take up the cause of a visiting aggregation against a team of Queen's. But what we can't understand is, why the cadets feel call upon to do it in every single case. No matter who or what team is pitted against Queen's they may be sure of hearty sympathy from the students of the R. M. C.

BURNED HIMSELF ALIVE.

A MIDDLESEX FARMER'S AWFUL SUICIDE.

He Saturates Himself with Kerosene, Ignites His Clothing and Burns to Death in Sight of His Wife, Whose Efforts at Rescue He Fights Off.

LONDON, March 14.—Mahlon A. Swarts, a man past middle life, deliberately poured coal oil over his person Saturday morning on the farm of Mr. Sol Dale, in the Gore of Westminster, a few miles southwest of this city, and applying a match thereto met death in its most terrible form.

Swarts at one time lived near Aylmer, where he was trustee of a church. A financial difficulty arose, and he lost considerable of his savings. Shortly afterwards he became an agent for an agricultural implement firm, and in this speculation he lost all his money, and was driven into a state of despondency.

He cut his throat with a jack knife in one of his fits of melancholy, inflicting a terrible gash, but was stopped by his wife before he had succeeded in making a fatal wound.

Yesterday morning, procuring a can of coal oil, the unfortunate man went a short distance from the house at the rear, and deliberately poured the contents of the can over his head and about his clothes, completely saturating them. He struck a match, applied the light to his coat and in a moment was in a blaze. The flames shot up above the tops of the surrounding trees and burned very furiously.

The writhing victim's cries brought out his wife, who hurriedly procured a quilt, which she endeavored to throw about her husband, but he sternly warned her to keep away lest she also would be burned, and when she continued to approach him he fought her off and finally ran away until exhausted he fell down, and after a few moments of most excruciating agony death relieved him. The remains were burned to a crisp.

TO TAKE A PLEBEIAN WIFE.

The Kaiser's Brother-in-Law to Marry a Poet's Daughter.

BERLIN, March 12.—A stir has been created in the Imperial circle by the news that Prince Ernest of Saxe-Meiningen, who is a brother-in-law of the German Kaiser, is engaged to marry Marie, the daughter of the German poet, Wilhelm Jansen. It is, of course, a love match, and both the prince and the young woman are in Rome, safe from any interference on the part of the Kaiser or the reigning prince of Saxe-Meiningen. Prince Ernest was born in 1859, being the son of Prince George the Second of Saxe-Meiningen by his second wife, Fedora. His elder brother, Bernard, is married to the Kaiser's sister Charlotte.

The young Prince has his father's example in taking a plebeian wife. Prince George having married morganatically a woman named Helen Franz, whom he raised from obscurity to the title of Baroness of Helburg. This third wife is still living and the old Prince is said to get along with her very comfortably, and even the Kaiser treats her with respect. Miss Jansen is beautiful and has much of her father's genius.

PERRY'S BIG HAUL

Now Stated That He Secured $27,000 in His Recent Exploit.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., March 12.—Train Robber Oliver Curtis Perry secured $27,000 from the American Express Company's car, which he robbed in such a daring manner near Jordan three weeks ago.

This is the theory of Detective Linde in the employ of the express company, who has been hanging around Lyons since the robber was jailed there.

Detective Linde believes that Perry secluded the money under the stones of the barricade which he hastily constructed in the Wayne County swamp to defend himself from the armed posse of citizens, deputy sheriffs and railroad men on the Sunday of the robbery.

Stab Canada Here

NEW YORK, March 14.—A Washington special to The Recorder says: Goldwin Smith of Toronto, who is in this city, says the policy of excluding Canadian goods from free transit in bond across the territory of the United States, if rigorously enforced, would bring Canada to terms inside of three weeks and would dispose of all this sealing business in short order. Great Britain had no interest in the continuation of the destruction of the seal. On the contrary, all her interest ran the other way. Canada herself had no very great interest in the matter, except a few Nova Scotians at long range and the British Columbians, who are reaping a rich harvest by the destruction of the seals.

The mayor declared that there was no cause for alarm.

Damaged by Fire.

GUTHRIE, Okla., March 14.—A terrible prairie fire has been raging for several days in the eastern part of Payne county, doing many thousand dollars worth of damage. John Shotwell, William Quaery, John Quaery and others had their farms swept clear of everything and are left penniless. John Quaery was fatally burned while attempting to save his home.

A prairie fire twelve miles south of Huron, S. D., has destroyed the farm houses of William Mills and Wm. Rye with household goods and clothing. Several sheds containing a large amount of grain, hay and machinery were burned. A large section was burned over.

To be Tried For Challenging.

CHICAGO, March 14.—A. Gordon Murray, chief of the Highland association, is to be tried, this week, for sending a challenge, through the mails, to E. Erskine McMillan, a clansman, to fight a duel, with pistols, within five miles of the city. The trouble grew out of a charge, made by McMillan, that the chief was converting the funds of the Highland association to his own use. The recent Burns celebration was a great success, but the receipts were offset by enormous bills sent in by chief Murray. These bills are investigated by Mr. McMillan, who is a lawyer and prominent freemason.

Arthur McGufale, of Ballville, has been appointed a preventive officer of customs.

Oscar Telgmann has been confined to his room since Friday, through illness.
