ACROSS THE BORDER.
An Interesting Letter From Cape Vincent—A Recent Elopement.

CAPE VINCENT, March 22.—A special meeting of the board of directors of the fire department was held Friday evening. Very important business was transacted. Mrs. C. E. Whitney, spending the winter south, has returned home. The merchants are still grumbling about the non-arrival of freight over the railroad. At present there are no fears of a famine. H. W. Bailey, recently elected trustee, is recovering from a severe sickness. It is denied that the recent campaign work was the cause. The scow Carleton, owned by Brewster & Marks, is being thoroughly repaired. The grange dance, held at firemen's hall, Thursday evening, was a great success. Over fifty couples were present. Miss Emma Burnham, spending the winter at Washington, has returned home.

Capt. A. Hinckley is at Picton repairing the steam barge Alberta. It is reported that the roller skating rink has been closed for the season. Mrs. F. M. Potter is recovering from an attack of the grippe. Miss Mary Hopkins was recently presented with an elegant piano by her uncle. The election held Tuesday passed off quietly. There being only one ticket in the field, of course it was elected. This village was treated to a genuine elopement one day last week. It has been a good many years since anything of the kind has happened here. The parties were a young man by the name of Freeman and the wife of a Mr. Wood, residing on Point street. It is reported that the "two hearts that beat as one" were seen making their way to their mother country, Canada, across the ice on foot. No effort was made to follow them. Dr. Budlong, Watertown, comes to this village, professionally, every Friday.

The village authorities were obliged to shovel out the road at the head of Market street, Saturday. The grangers held a meeting Saturday afternoon. Quite an excitement was created on our streets, Thursday, by the whipping of a horse, owned by J. H. Grapotte, by John Mentry. The matter was at once reported to chief of police Reff, who proceeded at once to stop the abuse. It is not known, as yet, whether the case will be prosecuted. Many of our sailors will leave about April 1st. There is no longer any doubt but what navigation will be late this spring. The ice is firm and good in this channel, with little signs of weakening. The person who occasionally poison dogs has been at work again and a number of canines have given up the ghost within the past two weeks. An effort should be made to find out this person and see that he is severely punished. The penalty for scattering poison on the highway is very severe. The grippe is fast leaving; but very few cases are reported.

Nothing more is heard of the breakwater scheme. It has gone, no doubt, as all other schemes here, to the grave. This place is noted for schemes, there being several on hand all the time. They, however, never amount to anything. Now that the breakwater project is past and gone the next one to be considered is the Wolfe Island bridge. The bridge scheme is very probable, at present, and we, of course, are very certain something will come of it. Some of our good people want a suspension bridge and some don't. Some want the bridge across by Carleton Island, others further up the river. It is to be hoped with this last idea the bridge will be successful and in the near future one will connect the two great countries. The country roads in this town are almost impassable on account of the snow.

H. Earl, wagonmaker, has opened a shop in the rear of Toole's blacksmith shop, corner Broadway and Point streets. Those who attended the Washington excursion from this village have at last reached home. They got caught in a snow blockade both going and coming. The trip was an enjoyable one otherwise. The republicans are greatly excited regarding the census recently taken. They claim that there is fraud somewhere. The democrats are kept busy trying to explain matters. The reason this town decreased in population was the fact that the federal census taken in June, 1890, found large numbers of people working here for the summer and also almost every farmer had one or more hired men.

A Pleasing Concert.
Over 800 persons attended the 14th batt. band concert in the drill shed, last evening. They promenaded for several hours and had a choice time. The exemplary musicians, twenty-eight in all, never showed themselves to better advantage. The comment of strangers was that their selections were rendered to perfection. These selections were given during the evening:

March—Glady's ... Algernon
Vive La Patria! Terra ... Borghim
Valse—Flower Girl ... Bucalosse
March—Old Home ... Algernon
Duet—Lo! Here the Gentle Lark ... Sir H. Bishop
March—Adeli ... Algernon

To the experienced ear perhaps the second, fourth and fifth selections reached the very acme of perfection, Robinson's clarionet and Jones' flute solos capturing the audience.

"A," "B," "E" and "F" companies were open for enrollment and a large number of young men joined last night.

Bethel Church.
The service, last evening, was largely attended. Mr. Weaver took for his subject "Saul's Coronation." The evangelist exerted all his powers to persuade the indifferent to become serious, the antagonistic to become friendly loyal subjects to his great King. To the after meeting the majority of those present remained; many expressed a desire to be at peace and a goodly number openly professed their determination to stand by Him. Mr. Davis was active and helpful. He is regarded by many with affection, and is always listened to with sympathetic interest. To-morrow evening closes the series.

Ladies,

Came Up To-day.
This morning, at eleven o'clock, the question of rebate on canal tolls was argued at Ottawa and both sides were heard. Capt. Gaskin and others from this district were present and opposed the rebate to Ogdensburg. Ogdensburg and Montreal were represented by citizens of Montreal and ocean steamship agents.

Attend Armstrong's clearing sale.

A GRANT WAS MADE TO IT
THE MIDLAND FAIR ASSOCIATION REMEMBERED BY THE COUNCIL.
Asking That no Additional Shop Licenses be Granted—Mr. Millar Endorsed as Engineer of the Fire Department—Considerable Business Accomplished.

Eighteen members were present at the council last night. Alds. Gaskin, Polson, Herald and Wilson were absent. A resolution of condolence with Ald. Polson and family was passed on the loss of his eldest daughter, beloved by all who knew her. By a standing vote the aldermen gave response to their affection and sympathy for those bereaved.

W. Seale objected to local improvement assessment for drain on North Division street; W. Glidden objected to rates for Brock street drain and E. Dawson objected to frontage tax. Referred to streets committee.

The tax collections to date are $118,426.46; balance due, $23,890.22.

From W. Harty, M.P.P., enclosing a letter from the deputy minister of crown lands, with reference to the old burial grounds on Ordnance street. There was a patent for the part of the grounds owned by the English church, but there were not patents existing for the Roman Catholic and Presbyterian sections, but it was understood that such patents would probably be granted if asked for. A number of other communications were read relating to the burial grounds. The correspondence was referred to the committee on parks.

From John Macdonald, secretary of the public school board, asking that a deputation be heard in favor of the board's request for $20,000, to be spent in erecting a new school on Union street; also asking that a date be fixed for the election of a school trustee to succeed the late S. Angrove.—Referred to the finance and school committees.

From J. P. Oram, secretary of the Midland Central fair association, enclosing resolutions in favor of the annual grant of $500.—Fyled.

From H. Mooers, asking that his application for exemption be again brought before the committee on finance.—Referred to the finance committee.

From D. McRae and other farmers of Wolfe Island, asking that more space be provided on the Island market.—Referred to the markets committee.

From A. Arthurs, claiming compensation for damages to his stage by a defect on Montreal street. The cost of the accident was $4.25.—Referred to streets committee.

From G. Osborne and residents of South Bartlett street, who paid individually for its extension, protesting against the opening of Sydenham street at the expense of the public. If this is done they want the money refunded they paid for opening South Bartlett street. Referred to streets committee.

Ald. Creeggan handed in a petition from J. E. Jones asking for broker's license. Referred to committee on licenses.

FINANCE REPORTS.

Ald. Creeggan presented the report of the committee on finance and accounts and recommended the payment of the following accounts: John Lemmon, $157.60; general pay roll, $98.89; A. Davidson, $15.09; Mrs. Clark, $2.50; Dr. Phalen, $5; Dr. A. S. Oliver, $5; Lambert & Walsh, $7.59; Thomas Hanley, $15.10; J. P. Gildersleeve, $20; Clark Wright & Son, $14; pay list, March 6th, $48.65.

Back taxes on the lot of W. D. Paton, John and Division streets, was remitted and certificates of search hereafter to be issued by the treasurer; Ashley & Ryder to be allowed to place a steam engine on premises on Gordon street, on complying with requirements indicated by W. G. G[illegible] protecting the boiler room with sheet iron. The bond of A. M. Vineberg, for taxes, to be accepted. The council was informed that it had no power to grant the indemnity or guarantee asked by John McKay. The collector was ordered to forthwith give satisfactory bonds, the London Guarantee company failing to do so. Touching the request of the W.C.T.U. to prohibit the sale of tobacco, etc., to boys and youths, action of the legislature was awaited, a bill being before the house covering the clauses. The license commissioners were requested not to increase the shop licenses as requested by the W.C.T.U. The sum of $500 was granted to the fair association with a request that the objects for which the association was originally instituted, viz., the encouragement of agriculture and the industrial arts, be adhered to as closely as possible this year.

Ald. Hardy said the communication of Mr. McKay should not be disposed of without careful consideration. He contends that the bad smells attributed to his hide shed came from bad drains. If this claim is good the council should give compensation to Mr. McKay if he is compelled to move his place of business. This would be only fair to Mr. McKay. Much of the fever and ills the people have are due to bad drainage.

Ald. Skinner said an investigation should be made into the drainage in connection with the collegiate institute. Two or three parents, who have children attending the institute, say the children have received illness through the defective drainage. Nothing has been done to remedy this.

The mayor said the institute board would make an investigation of the matter.

The report was adopted.

When the fire, water and light report came up, Ald. Dunlop wanted a record of the action in reference to the application from ratepayers for a cart, hose reel and horse to be located in the old fire station. No intimation of the action of the committee appeared on the report.

Ald. Robinson commenced to make a verbal report in this matter, but the council considered he was not in order. He said the request had been granted.

Ald. Meek asked if the apparatus recommended for the old fire station would be suitable to the insurance companies.

The mayor said he did not know that the insurance companies required the city to keep it apparatus in any particular place.

Ald. Ryan said it had been suggested that the Chatham engine be located in the old fire station.

Ald. Robinson commenced again to explain, and Ald. Dunlop said he (Robinson) was out of order.

Ald. Robinson—"If I am out of order you are the cause of it."

The Mayor—"You are not discussing matters in the report. The members of the committee are entitled to have anything omitted from the report inserted."

Ald. Robinson explained his report without reference to the record asked for.

Ald. Dunlop objected to the explanation given by Ald. Robinson.

Ald. Behan—"Has it been the custom of the committee to ballot for officers whom they appoint in connection with the fire department. Was it because the aldermen were afraid to have their votes made public?"

Ald. Robinson said the balloting for a mechanical engineer was a legal proceeding.

Ald. Meek said he did not think any engineer could become a competent electrician with a few lessons in that kind of business. It is only a question of time until the city will have to pay an expert for service in the line of electrical opinion. It is a question if the fire alarm system has been what it ought to be. It is only an expert who can look after this matter. The new engineer must not be expected to be expert in electricity in a very short time.

Ald. Robinson said the new engineer would not be required to be an electrical expert.

Ald. Robinson and the mayor had a lively conversation and the mayor repeatedly called the alderman to order.

Ald. Robinson would not be quieted, and became very angry. He would not submit to be called to order by the mayor or any one else, when he knew he was in order.

The engineer read the minute asked for by Ald. Dunlop.

It was moved by Ald. Ryan, seconded by Ald. Elliott, "That the record of the fire, water and light committee, as read by the city engineer, be incorporated in the report before the council."—Carried.

Ald. Robinson said he had mislaid the report in reference to the matter under discussion. He had, however, approved locating the Chatham engine in the old fire station.

The election of Mr. Miller as engineer was endorsed and report was adopted.

Ald. Carson presented the report of the committee on parks, stating that tenders had been called for fifty elm trees and fifty maple trees for the parks, and recommended that these be purchased from Ellinger and Bauce, through James E. Hutcheson, at 60c per tree, the lowest tender. The committee instructed the engineer to prepare an estimate of the probable cost of making a good road-bed in the main driveway of the city park, in lieu of the present cinder road, and also of the probable cost of grading a driveway in Victoria park.—Adopted.

FINAL BUSINESS.

Ald. Meek asked if the city property committee intended to make improvements in the city buildings, mentioned at the farmers' institute.

Ald. Hardy said the improvements would be made.

Ald. Meek presented the report of the printing committee, awarding the job printing to the News and the stationery to Messrs. Henderson & Co. The auditors' report will be placed in the hands of the printer at an early date, say in the month of June. The arrangement of last year in regard to the advertising of the local improvement and other by-laws of the city, will be continued during the year.—Adopted.

It was moved by Ald. Elliott, seconded by Ald. Drennan, and carried, that a committee be appointed to lay before the council as soon as practicable, in a proper form, such form of by-laws that will be necessary for the licensing of plumbers and for the regulation of sanitary appliances erected in the city, and for the appointment of a sanitary inspector.

The by-law in reference to the Dufferin street sewer passed its third reading last night.

A motion was passed that the council adjourn at eleven o'clock, except when by-laws are to be considered.

It was agreed that the consolidation and printing of the by-laws should take place.

A special committee, consisting of Alds. Gaskin, Wright, Wilson, Curtis and Hardy, were appointed to consider the telephone service and its requirements, and to enquire into what the company pays the city for privileges enjoyed.

The council adjourned at midnight.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.
Practical Matters and Church and Other Antiquities Commented on.

KINGSTON, March 22.—(To the Editor): It is wonderful to contemplate the time, interest and money Canadians bestow on things ancient in preference to things progressive and practical. The controversy going on in the WHIG and News over a matter of old church institutions is but the echo of the columns of similar stuff which break out every now and then in the Mail and Globe. In no other country,—certainly not from Maine to Oregon,—will you find in secular papers anything like this. The people here evidently like it, and it is proof of a peculiarity which may be traced through our institutions, and is probably due to the antique mould given to the national mind by the national policy.

The great Toronto school of practical science seats its president in the chair of ethnology to tell of arrow heads, babble the myths of Glooscap and Hiawatha, and shape the bent of practical youth towards the exploration of mounds and the æsthetic appreciation of the potsherds of primeval man. The Canadian institute publishes, at the public expense, engravings and letter-press descriptions of clumsy flint weapons and clay pots, any of which no enlightened American tail-twister would deign to use as a spittoon, old grannies who investigate our mineral resources are always hunting for the eozoon or some other fossil for determining the age of rocks. Why do they not set to work to bore them and show the world what great mineral wealth there is in Ontario? Analyses of selected specimens and trimmed specimens in glass cases make up interesting collections but as evidence of mineral wealth they are too ancient in style. There is said to be an Ulster intellect, and there is surely also a Toronto intellect; land-grabbing, monopolizing, bureaucratic, time-serving and ill-informed. If it was not the seat of honest Mr. Mowat's government there would have been trouble over the "Toronto policy" long ago, and it is hard to say what the future may have in store.

Your readers will see that I have artfully endeavored to lead their minds from a controversy over that delightfully uncertain and charmingly unsatisfactory subject, church antiquities, to one that makes for putting something in every man's pocket, the modern method of showing the world what wealth we have by means of a drill that will penetrate two thousand feet or more if required, and bring up cylindrical sections of the minerals penetrated. This method has been followed at the public expense in Australia for eighteen years with immensely beneficial results. Is there any reason, except that it was unknown to antiquity or that it has not been proposed in Toronto, why it should not be adopted by the provincial government?

And now to confirm all I have said Prof. Chapman is out in yesterday's Globe complaining of the mysterious influences which have thwarted his efforts to get proper accommodation for the class in mineralogy and zoology at University college, and stating that due consideration is not given to the great value of this study in the university appointments. It is satisfactory to know that things are ordered otherwise at Queen's college, where the arrangements for teaching practical mineralogy and assaying, under Prof. Nicol, are admirable, and also all the appointments for instruction in practical chemistry.

The proposal for diamond drill boring in the mineral sections of the province, which is the subject of a petition to the legislature, has no connection with any scheme for penetrating the earth for oil or gas.—J. B.

A Meeting of the Board.
At a meeting of the house of industry, yesterday, the mayor, Ald. Creeggan, Fair, and Mesdames Birch and Waldron were appointed a committee to devise a proper method for the accurate keeping of the records and books of the institution. To-day Mrs. Carter and Ald. Fair visited the institution with a view to examining the sanitary condition of the premises, to learn of the discipline of the inmates, and the distribution of rations. Miss Machar presented a scheme to employ the inmates in making mats. It was considered some of the inmates did not pay as much attention to cleanliness as they ought to. Special means will be devised to make the inmates observe the rules and regulations. Confidence was expressed in the management.

The Scheme Becoming Effectual.
The police officers say that Ald. Curtis' scheme for the extermination of tramps is already becoming effectual. Since the matter was brought up and threshed out in the press the falling off of tramps has been daily perceptible. It is said the tramps have their signals established at the outskirts of the city, a sign to other members of the fraternity to give the limestone city a wide berth.

A Ludicrous Runaway.
A funny runaway occurred yesterday. A butcher's horse became frightened on Princess street and ran at a break-neck speed to the fountain on the market square. After drinking its fill the animal turned and was about to retrace its steps when a man ran out and stopped it.

A Business Meeting.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Kingston heat, light and power company was held yesterday afternoon. The financial statement was read, and a dividend of six per cent was declared. The meeting adjourned until April 11th, to elect directors and transact other business.

Rev. B. B. Smith, rector of St. George's cathedral, is confined to his house by a severe cold.

A COMMITTEE STRUCK.
ALD. CURTIS WILL BRING DOWN HIS TRAMP SCHEME.
And a Special Committee Will Discuss It—Ald. Curtis Made a Fine Address Last Evening—He Was Comical Even Though Decidedly Earnest.

Ald. Curtis came to the council board last evening, loaded with information and particulars respecting his scheme for the suppression of tramps, and when the time arrived he delivered an able address. Besides his regular spectacles he was armed with a large magnifying glass which he swung with much grace and ease, using it on law books dealing with the tramp question. He was fortified with documents and statistics, which told of the cost of prisoners to the city and dominion for many years past. He read largely from them.

"I said I would bring down a scheme pertaining to tourists, or tramps as they are more commonly known, but I am sick and will not bore the council with a long speech. I had some teeth carpentered to-day and my head and jaws ache."

The mayor—"Have you a resolution?"

Ald. Curtis—"I have a motion. The city solicitor was unable to help me any in respect to the legal points of my scheme, but being satisfied that I am right I consequently went on. The solicitor advised me to bring in a motion and have it threshed out in the council. If my poor eyes will admit with the aid of a glass I will read the resolution:

'Moved by Ald. Curtis, seconded by Ald. Meek, that a special committee be appointed to take into consideration whether it will be in the interest of the city of Kingston that all those sentenced to hard labor in the jail shall be put to breaking stone or other remunerative work outside of the jail walls; secondly, whether it will be to the interest of the city to have a reconsideration of the compensation which the county of Frontenac receives for the use of the jail; thirdly, whether it would be to the interest of the city to have its own lock-up, house of correction, jail or place of confinement. The committee to consist of Alds. Skinner, Meek, Livingston and the mover.'"

One of the aldermen enquired if Ald. Gaskin's name would be included.

Dr. Curtis—"Yes, I will put Gaskin's name in the body of the motion."

Ald. Drennan—"Are you going to bring down all the letters and papers you have received in connection with the tramp question?"

Ald. Curtis—"Yes, when the proper time comes. We were sent here to husband the funds of the city and practise economy whenever opportunity presented itself."

The time has arrived, and by the adoption of the scheme money can be saved. If they could save any money in this way they would receive the grateful thanks of every taxpayer in the city of Kingston." If we get rid of twenty tramps, or even one, we will be thanked. I find that 223 prisoners were committed to the common goal in 1891, and they cost the city $3,165. If we could have given that money to Capt. Gaskin to repair the streets or to Ald. Polson to put a fountain in Victoria park, or to the chairman of wharves and harbors would not the money have been more satisfactorily expended? The money might be expended in providing free baths for people unacquainted with soap and water."

The speaker then read objections to his scheme. Some contended that prisoners could not be taken outside of the jail walls to crack stones; others that it was not legal to put a ball and chain on prisoners, and that the city could not separate from the county and build a lock-up, house of correction or jail, or any other place of confinement. People believe[illegible] the city [illegible] keep the blackguards in idleness.

The alderman then proceeded to answer these objections, and backed his statements by the laws of Ontario. "It cost the city $3,165 to keep these tourists in idleness. The property of poor people, who could not pay their taxes, was seized by the bailiff and the receipts went towards the maintenance of incorrigible blackguards.

"We have a right to take them out of the jail, and we have a right to shoot them if they try to escape."

Ald. Meek—"Ald. Drennan wants the law on the subject."

Ald. Curtis—"Ald. Drennan needs a good deal of it."

Ald. Drennan—"Did you find out how many prisoners were in jail for several years back?"

Ald. Curtis—"There were 300 prisoners in jail last year."

Ald. Drennan continued to talk, and Ald. Meek said he was out of order.

Ald. Curtis—"We have a right to take the prisoners out of the jail, put them to work on the streets with a ball and chain on them. We can also put a guard over them."

Ald. Robinson—"What if they try to escape?"

Ald. Curtis—"We have a right to shoot them. Over six prisoners there could be one guard and over twelve prisoners two guards."

Ald. Drennan—"The expense of this scheme would be large."

Ald. Curtis—"We would need less policemen when we got rid of the tramps."

He then proceeded to give statistics showing the maintenance of prisoners for the last fourteen years. There were 155,657 prisoners incarcerated in the common jails. These scoundrels would make a city the size of Toronto. The total cost in the province during the time referred to was $1,786,905.88. The city of Kingston had supplied in 1891, tramps whose time in jail totalled 8,448 days.

Ald. Meek—"At a cost of 20c per day each."

Ald. Curtis—"Actual expense of maintaining each tramp 20.42 cents."

Ald. Robinson—"You should not call these prisoners tramps."

Ald. Curtis—"I will call them by no other name. They are drunken contemptible loafers." He proceeded to show the number of times prisoners came back to the jail. He contended that in the matter of boarding tramps the county had the best of the bargain with the city, and sometimes the county made a profit out of the city. "There is something wrong in Denmark when such a state of affairs exist. The county should stand half the expenses. The city could keep prisoners for 6½c. in apartments built in connection with the house of industry. One superintendent could look after the whole institution. I don't think the tramps would get indigestion in the poor house. It is called a house of industry, but that is a misnomer. Twenty cells could be built for tramps, the plans of which were drawn by Ellis. The cells would cost $5,000. There would be a department for ladies, and Tillie Oliphant, the young lady mentioned in police court circles, could go there free from the vulgar gaze of prisoners. (Tillie is seventy years of age.) This confinement would frighten tramps so that there would be very few here. I have received thirty-one papers favorable to my scheme; nineteen letters from various parts of the country, written by ministers of the gospel, lawyers, doctors, from all classes and conditions of men and from ladies too! All speak in commendable terms of my scheme. I received a letter from Rev. D. McCormick, pastor of the church at which I worship, he urges me to proceed. I will read pro-re-nata."

Ald. Meek—"What's that doctor?"

Ald. Curtis—"Oh, that is only a stall-fed word."

In concluding the doctor hoped they would not strangle the scheme.

Ald. Meek said the information given by Dr. Curtis was important, and the council should look into the facts in connection with the maintenance of the jail, as far as the city is concerned.

Ald. Skinner—"I object to being on the committee. I think the matter is simply rot. If a decent resolution in connection with the maintenance of prisoners is brought in I will vote for it."

Ald. Curtis—"I beg a thousand pardons, Ald. Skinner. It would be infra dignitatem in a man of such magnificent talents, a man of such literary and scholastic attainments, a man who is a living walking cyclopedia of legal lore, a man who has distinguished himself as an expounder of the law, who in the near future will rise to that giddy summit of legal fame and will probably be an ornament to the wool-sack. It would be a sad thing for a judge of the supreme court to look back and think that he had once served on a committee that had for its object the suppression of drunkenness and crime. I once more beg your pardon. I will substitute Ald. Behan, a gentleman that is always ready to put a stop to drunkenness and save the tax-payers' pocket."

Ald. Skinner—"The bargain is granted."

The resolution was carried.

SECOND EDITION.
MARRIAGES AT SYDENHAM.
The Brides Leave the Township—Mica is Being Extensively Mined.

SYDENHAM, March 21.—Last Friday we had the greatest snow storm of the season, nearly all the roads in this vicinity were completely blockaded. In many places the snow was five and six feet high. We never fail having a winter in this country some time between October and June. This has been an awful week. Last Monday evening Rev. E. S. Shorey repaired to the residence of John Ivey of this village. Damon Lake was in waiting when the gentleman entered. When questioned whether he would have this woman (meaning Miss Fanny Ivey) to be his wedded wife, he said he would. Fanny not offering any factious opposition the parson pronounced the magic word, and the twain were made one flesh, and now, alas! the Sixth line school is without a teacher, as well as a Sunday school class, the choir without an alto and the village loses one of its most estimable young ladies. Shortly after their arrival home the bridal pair were treated to a "sarynade" by the boys. The instruments were so evidently out of time that they received $5 to beat a retreat. A more elaborate affair, with similar results, took place the following Wednesday evening at the residence of Mrs. John Amey. The occasion was the marriage of her daughter, Victoria McConnell, to Stephen Ackroyd, formerly of this place. The invitations were lavish and the wedding was furnished with gusto. The ceremony was performed by Mr. Shorey, who had just previously received a telegram from Centreville, announcing the death of his aged father. The numerous and costly gifts presented to the bride were evidence of her popularity and social standing in the community. The bridal pair will locate in Iowa. The wedding was attended by R. J. McConnell and wife, of Wooler, and Wm. McConnell, Toronto, brothers of the bride.

Mr. Stirling has opened a mica factory in the building formerly occupied by George Martin as a waggon shop. The latter has been an invalid all winter. We are glad to learn that Mrs. John Booth is slowly recovering from her tedious illness. Mrs. Sidney Kellar is suffering from lung trouble. The mines on George Amey's place are turning out mica of a valuable quality. Lewis Chown is buying large quantities for the Webster electric light company. H. Macnamara, employed in the mica business near Ottawa, returned home, last week, with a dislocated shoulder. St. Patrick's morn brought joy and gladness to Edwin Lawson's home. The cause of all this furore was the advent of a "leedle pay," girl baby. Next Friday evening, 25th inst., a public meeting will be held in the town hall to discuss the advisability of granting aid for railway extension from Harrowsmith to Sydenham. The ratepayers will be wise to take advantage of this opportunity for obtaining railway connection. $5,000 is the bonus asked from this township. For that amount each tax payer will have to pay $1 for $1,000 assessment for a period of twenty years. Let the electors thoughtfully and intelligently consider and enquire into this question whether a road coming into and probably passing through our township will not be worth that amount to any one of them.

THE ASSIZE DOCKET.
The Cases to be Heard Before Judge McMahon This Week.

The following cases will be considered before Justice McMahon at the spring assizes which open on March 24th:

THE OTTAWA BUDGET.
Asking for Advances to Mail Clerks—The Interest May be Advanced.

Special to the WHIG.

[illegible]—A deputation of members from Manitoba, North-West territories and British Columbia, had an interview with the postmaster general, yesterday, in regard to the mileage rates allowed to railway mail clerks in the section of country lying west of Lake Superior to the coast. Heretofore these mail clerks have received double pay [illegible] that given to the mail clerks in the other provinces, consequent upon their long runs and the higher rate of living in the western [illegible] of Canada. But this additional payment was never legalized by law and had to be stopped when the auditor-general called attention to the matter. The members of parliament now ask that the old rate be given to the railway mail clerks and that the payments be given and made legal by statutory enactment. Sir Adolphe Caron promised to give the matter his early consideration.

Collegiate Institute Sanitation.
A deal of talk is being devoted to the drainage of the collegiate institute. The public seem to forget that two years ago a tile drain, independent of the old box drain, was run from the building to Barrie street under an architect's supervision, with thorough workmanship. The institute is no less sanitary than many other low basement buildings in Kingston, but like all those the basement is too deep ever to be wholesome. Again, the institute cannot be properly ventilated. As a school building it was a back number twenty-five years ago. Since other members of the families of sick scholars suffer also their homes, and not the institute, must be the weak spot.

Good Prospects for Races.
