Fates' Clable Letter. NEW YORK, April 12 .- A correspondent in St. Petersburg informs me that the casrewitch is going to America early in June for a few months. The emperor wishes his eldest son to marry at once, but the czarowitch declines to contemplate a permanent settlement in life and it is hoped that another distant tour may lead him to change his views on the subject. The czarewitch has given his tather a great deal of trouble during the last two years and is the cause of much anxiety to the imperial family. The czarewitch will accompany the emperor and empress to Copenhagen for the celebration of the golden wedding of the king and queen of Denmark on May 26th. The reception of the Hyeres Crimean veterans by the queen caused much annoy ance to the French government for every effort has lately been made to bury the Crimean war in oblivion and the revival of that unwelcome topic is regarded as peonliarly unseasonable at the time when there are disquieting reports of an impending reapproachment between Russia and The new practice of taking Indian domestice to the continent, caused infinite trouble to the functionaries who have to make all the arrangements for the queen's foreign journey and sojourn. These orientals require to travel by themselves with separate saloon and meals; all refreshments must be served them in the train at stopping station?" instead of their going to buffets with suits and European servants. Then special arrangements have to be made for the Indians at the hotel which causes a great deal of bother and considerable extra expense must be added. They have practically no duties and are perfectly useless. Mr. Gladatone was one of the eager and industrious readers to the British, museum on three or four days of last week in the in tervals of his parliamentary labors, Folke stone preparations and a few dinner parlies. He is busily preparing for his re-appearance before the university of Oxford in the augume as the first lecturer on the newly founded Romanese trust. The occasion is wholly non-political and the general election permitting, promises to be one of the highest interest. The subject is "Universities in the Middle Ages," and the eminent lecturer is, I understand, in particular preparing an elaborate comparison between Paris and Oxford.

He is still, however, as he always has been liable to yield to one emptation, that of letting his tactical genius be ever-ruled by his love of effect. If he gets a really good chance of playing to the gallery he will take it whoever suffers thereby. There was a very comical scene in the house of commons during Sir George Trevelyan's impassioned, but somewhat incoher ent, harangue on Thursday night. His summer are views were by no means relished by his neighbors on the front opposition bench, and he presently annoyed them so much that Sir William Harcourt dragged sharply at the speaker's coat tail and hastily whispered a few forcible words in his ear. The only logical outcome of Sir George's speech would have been to vote for O'Connor's motion, but after Sir William had interposed the orator became so florried that he sat down in the middle of a septence and had to rise again and explain that he could not vote in accordance with his expressed views, a declaration which was bailed with derisive cheers from all parts of the house. Mr. Gladstone de-ciaively threw over Sir George Trevelyan in an admirable speech. OTTAWA. April 12 - Chevalier A. M. F. Gravelli, I oronto, honorary consul in Cana reference to Canadian exhibits being sent to $00th anniversary of Columbus' discovery of
