The mayor exlained the money was for work done in connection with the collection of arrears of street watering. He was engaged to make demands for the money due. It appears the collector did not make any previous demands for the money. There were some people who would not pay the street watering and the courts would have to deal with them. Warrants of distraint would be im pozed at once. There was a long discussion over this matter, when it was learned that U. F. Jones was getting 5 per cent. for collecting street watering rates in arrears. He gathered in $1,100 since last fall.

ened-Other Depredations A. Kinghorn, Bath road, living about mile from the city limits and just beyond the first toll gate on that highway, came to the city this morning at an early hour, to secure a revolver and to tell the authorities of a dastardly assault committed during the night upon his step-daughter Miss Etta for a man who is an advocate of the 'old Campbell by a young man, who broke into flag ?" This statement caused Ald. Creeggan the house. Mr. Kinghorn said that about two o'clock this morning he was aroused from his slumbers by the cries of Miss Campbell, sleeping downstairs. She was frantically calling for her father and moth Mr. Kinghorn quickly rushed to he stairway closed and locked,) ... was no barrier for wi father sprang against the and it gave way before his weight. But as soon as he landed on the floor below the burglar fled, going out through the kitchen door, which he evidently had the forethought to open before he began his operations ; in fact it is possible that he got in that way, Miss Campbell was found in a weak condition. Her eyes were suffused with blood. The young woman, twenty-one years of age, said she was awakened by the entrance of some person in her room. She er quired who was there, and got a reply : "On, don't be afraid, it's only your father." But the voice was different and she raised the alarm. The fellow lit a lamp and then grabbed the young woman by the throat, and, with an oath, indid not, and then received three or four savage blows in the face that cut and bruised the flash and caused the blood to flaw. TO FOUND A CITY.

The Catholic Communities are Talking of Having a Resort on Carleton Island. Many people wanted to know why the lags were flying on the city hall to-day. I was in honor of a visit of many distinguished Catholics from New York who were engaged in locating a site for a summer assembly for educational purposes, The scheme is not a new one, in fact it is as old as Greece and Rome and has been in vogue for a long time in the universities of Bologne, Pisa, Oxford and Paris, and other Catholic schools abroad. But the movement in this ountry, it is fair to say, started immediately in those states where the Chaptanqua schames and the work under the university extension plan, came under the observation

States and Canada. The meeting held in New York last Thursday decided upon a plan of some definite character. There will be lectures by leading Catholic educationists, a Catholic summer city with all the accessories for thorough enjoyment, a freeh alr heme for invalids and destitute children. There have been many places suggested, but most of the deputation favor Carleton Island, on account of its situation between the United States and Canada. This fact, they think, will give the summer school an runtional character. Carleton Island in at the head of the river and the first large island of the Thousand islands. It comprises 1,200 acres, and would afford every opportunity for a Chautauqua of the Catholic church. In order to select a site and to pass upon it at once it was decided by the com-

NEW YORK, May 17. - The German emperor's eccentricities are causing increased alarm among his subjects. The train de luxe, I alluded to last week, is not popular Bavaria. More disliked than either by the recently shown to the sentry Lyck, whose brutality and recklessness are a subject of public animadversion. That chance fater riew with the German emperor which the Pail Mail Gazette, published the other day, was an ingenious bit of fiction, but, unfortunately, complete verisimilitude was spoiled by three little oversights in local coloring : First, there are no small sheds of the kind referred to in Grunewald; second ly, the emperor never goes out, even to shoot, unattended, he could not therefore have been alone; thirdly, he never smokes a pipe but only eigsrettes or long Datch-made eigara without very much flavor of tobacco about them, price about three half pence each. His father, Emperor Frederick, was a very estentatious pipe smoker of the student type, but on the other hand the old kaiser, William I, never touched tobacco except at mess, luncheon, regimental din ners or the like, when his majesty would

But he engaged to the young Countess Hooyos, whose mother was the daughter of Whiteprobably escaped special notice, but the German emperor's telegram, acknowledging the receipt of Count Herbert Bismarck's. notice of betrothal, was of a very cold and the count for the kind invitation, but sent no 'congratulations, nor is this to be wondered at in view of the relations which have subsisted between Friedricheruhe and Berlin since the breach between the Huberzollern and Bismurck dynastics was completed by the Baellicher financial reveletions. Count Herbert Bismarck need ne; expect to run with the hare and hunt with the hounds; to go and live. estentationaly with old friends in Berlin without even so much as inscribing his name in the emperor's book at the Schloss, and > ment without getting politely snubbed for Arbitration boards seem really to have some chance of being established before the end of the present parliament. Sir John Gorst's proposal to Lord Carnarvon, last week, caught on immediately and has already received the approval of Mr. Balfour and of the workingmen throughout the country. Such a motion will be immensely popular. Only in the mining districts of Northumberland and Durbam is any opposition likely to be offered and here it will be simply on the ground that there are already private organizations in existence which, as a rule, effectually do the same work. A scheme of this sort, which at all events promises to minimize the svil of strikes, is certainly worth trying and this view, I learn with satisfaction, prevails at headquarters. Lord Dunraven, who has just returned to town from the Reviera, is to be congratulated upon the success which attended the movement for restricting the influx of destitute aliens of which he is the leader. - A little more than a year ago Lord Dunraven formed an association for the purpose of organizing and directing public opinion to the subject of destitute immigration so that legislation might be obtained from parliament for the purpose of checking the evil and so vigorously did the association set to Work that the government hopes to introduce a messera, if possible, before the Whitsuntide recess, to sope with the difficulty. The matter is not an easy one and is complicated by the fact that the cabinet is by no means unanimous on the matter. We believe that Mr. Matthews, to whom the preparation of the bill was entrusted, intends to model it somewhat upon recent legislation in the United States and compel steamship companies to return the place, where they first took them aboard, all aliens who are likely to become a public nuisance or a public burden. Sir Charles Tupper's Talk. Tomovro, Oat, May 17,- The following special cable appears in this morning's Globa from London : During an interview, to day, Sir Charles Tupper said the outlook with regard to the Spanish pegotiations is likely to remain uncertain for some little while. He says it is impossible, at present, to predict what aspect matters will ultimately assume. In some quarters the belisf is current that Spain will break off the ne gotiations with England in the hope of get ting a better bargain with France. Respect ing federation he said several meetings had seen held by the committee, appointed by the council of the imperial federation league, to consider any proposals for a definite scheme giving practical effect to the federation idea, and, though some progress was made in the discussion, it is unlikely that the committee will present say report for

A Case Decided at the Division Court This To-day Judge Wilkison gave judgment in he interpleader case of Allow Newlands vs. . Rattray & Co. for $200. The judge said "Some of the articles seized were the property of the plaintiff, acquired by her with her own money, and her right thereto is not disputed. The other property she acquired directly from her husband by bill of sale. At the time it was given the husband owed no debts, and, therefore, it cannot be said to have been given with intent to defraud, delay or prejudice creditors, and cannot be held to be void on that ground. The kusband was, in fact, in a position to make a gift of the property to his wife, but I am inclined to think that it was not a gift, but a conveyance for a good consideration, namely, the signing off of her dower by the wife in the houses on Princess street. "The defendant, however, contends that the conveyance by the husband has not the 285, and subsequently in Lotten vs Bowen
