DODGING THE POINT.

"A labor deputation waited upon mayor McShane this week and complained that the Montreal street railway company had not paid its employees the wages they were entitled to. The mayor promptly told the deputation he would see the men got their proper pay."

In Hamilton the labor representatives seem to be baffled by the street railway company. In changing the horse cars to electric cars it was declared in the agreement between the council and the company that the employees should work but ten hours a day. The company got over the point by arranging to pay the car men a uniform wage of 12½ an hour and then giving them the option of working for ten hours or longer. As a result the plans of the labor representatives have been completely defeated, and in a way so simple and so wholly unexpected.

IS IT BRIBERY?

The proper course has been adopted in protesting the election of John Bryson, M. P., to test the question as to whether it is not bribery on the part of a government to bid for votes on the promise of a railway subsidy. "If the courts declare that to bribe a whole constituency," says the Mail, "is as bad as buying a single voter it will be an extremely awkward decision for the politicians." It certainly appears singular that it should be wrong for a candidate to treat an elector, to make him a present for the purpose of influencing his vote, or the vote of a dependent, to purchase his support with a sum however small and insignificant, while a whole community can be corrupted by the government and with a grant for public improvements which is conditional upon the election of a government supporter. If the law as it stands is not sufficient to meet the case it can be so demonstrated, and under a stress of circumstances which will force a correction of the evil.

DELAY IS UNWELCOME.

The present state of the main streets, those traversed by the horse railway, is such that the city council should hasten to alter it. There is wisdom in delaying action until it has been decided whether the electric system of railway is to be introduced and under what conditions, but this issue should be disposed of without delay. An occasional informal chat is not sufficient, and does not show that effort is being made towards a solution of the problem. In Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton the subject was considered with such earnestness that the details were promptly settled and the work of transforming the railway system as promptly commenced. True the situation of affairs in some of these places was not as it is in Kingston, so far as the franchise is concerned. Here it is held by the street car company perpetually, subject to conditions which it is not difficult to fill, and the question is under what terms the city should consent to a change in the system, knowing that it will be in the public interest. The company has asked permission to introduce electricity, and a committee of the council has agreed to permit it with certain limitations. Have these been formally presented to the company, and are they acceptable? Time is flying, and the streets are being more and more run down. The people look for an early decision of the question. Are the horse cars to remain? If so let us have the streets put in repair at once.

ANENT STREET RAILWAYS.

Yesterday a crowd of excursionists boarded a Kingston street car and the air was lively with ridicule of the horse and teeter-totter equipment. Listeners, who were posted, could hardly avoid a smile. Watertown, N.Y., has an electric street railway, but it is by grace of New York capitalists, for foursoore or more of Watertown's rich men were talking of a road fifteen years ago, when Kingston built one, and would be talking and not doing to this day but for New York boosters. Kingston will have an electric road next year, better than Watertown's, and all the capital will be Kingston's. When it wants a change or improvement on its line it will not have to beg New Yorkers to kindly condescend to be so good as to grant it. Watertown and Ottawa people were once very pleasant visitors, but since those cities have had outsiders come in and build electric roads they put on more airs than any prize horse ever seen at a fair. It is very village, it is.

One Kingstonian we know rode out to Brownville last year on a Watertown electric car, which, on the return, stopped so long at the switches that a farmer's waggon, loaded, passed the car twice and reached the city first. It may not have been a good day for travelling or the conductors may have been too tired to wind their watches, but of the snail-paced performance there is no doubt, as several prominent and very pious Watertown witnesses will attest. It behooveth Watertownians to remember what their roads have been, and especially the Cape R.W. & O. branch, before sneering at any one horse or two horse road outside the limits.

THE STYLE OF THE CROWD

MR. SHIBLEY GIVES A VERY READABLE LETTER.

The Result Will Not Affect Common Mortals—A Description of a Clambake—The Way the "Critters" Are Eaten—A Sea of Quicksilver.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 15.—(To the Editor):—The political situation is just now decidedly uninteresting. National politics are uuromantic with the thermometer at 94°, and besides the whole business is such a cheap John affair that one gets heartily sick of both factions before the campaign is fairly begun. Here comes the republican party crying aloud its protective wares, piping its reciprocity lay and shaking its mouldy bloody shirt. At the other extremity of the national forum the democratic fakir is dropping free trade, free votes and free everything into an envelope, and offering the whole as a job lot cheap. There are the two welter weights, the star-gazing protectionist and the chimera-killing pepolites, each with a mouth out of all proportion to its body. Now the fact is that on the night of the 4th of next November either the great inflated seer, Grover Cleveland, or the animated icebox, Benjamin Harrison, will be elected president of these United States and it won't matter a farthing to any of us common mortals, who work, eat and sleep in the obscurity of Bohemia.

Clams are more interesting just now than politics, especially on Rhode Island, the home and natural stamping ground of that festive, black-necked bivalve. A clam dinner at one of the numerous shore resorts on Narragansett Bay is an institution peculiar to the foundling of Roger William. I shall attempt a description of one. The first thing, of course, is to get grown clams. These are dug up from the shore when the tide is out, much in the same manner that a farmer digs potatoes with a fork. They are then washed and a great round stone is heated for their sacrifice to the god of hunger. When this stone is properly hot they are heaped upon it and then covered with seaweed and left there to steam until the noon-beats bring down their thousands of clam eaters. The clam house is an immense pavillion filled with rude tables on which are placed among other dishes great bowls or basins into which the clams in the shell are dumped from a scoop much like a grocer uses in handling sugar. A clam dinner is a very noisy affair. The patrons are usually always in a hurry and the waiters are kept on the run. Every man opens his own clams, and in eating these bivalves scant ceremony is made. In fact one is considered a green horn and a barbarian who would touch a clam with a fork. The fingers alone are used to uncover him. Then he is yanked out by his neck and given a flop to free him from pebbles or other foreign substances not needed in digestion. The black covering about his neck, which has always reminded me of a sweater, is then peeled off, and with a dexterous turn of the wrist the clam is moped up and down a couple of times in hot butter which has been seasoned with pepper sauce, and then tossed with a gay and debonair movement into the mouth. It is no end of fun to see an old Rhode Islander eat clams. Age has made him so expert that every movement of his mouth and hand is in harmony, and one eye is always picking out the best clam.

Besides clams straight the dinner consists of clam chowder, clam cakes, broiled bluefish or mackerel, boiled potatoes, cucumbers, green corn and last, but not least, watermelon. Fifty cents pays the bill, and the dinner is worth twice the money if the clams and watermelon don't get arguing the question during the afternoon. Then the sail down the bay is always charming and a soft breeze is always coming up from the Atlantic. On Sunday, July 10th, over 25,000 people sat down to shore dinners at the various resorts, not counting the numerous parties who had little bakes and a keg of lager all by themselves on convenient rocks along the bay. Where do the clams come from? The Lord only knows. Yet every tide brings in its millions of them, and so it has been for years and they are just as fat and toothsome as when King Philiip presided over the last bake of the grand old Narragansett Indians. No one should come to Rhode Island without having a sail down the bay and a clam dinner. It will look odd but it will be something to remember, especially if the clams protest against the stomach of a foreigner, as they are very likely to do, being exceedingly patriotic and holding the commonwealth of Rhode Island against the world.

The bay has been full of phosphorous the past two weeks. When one goes in bathing at night time it is like swimming in a sea of quicksilver and the water runs from the body in globules of fire. In the wake of the steamers stretch long lines of dancing electric flames and the waters dash up on the rocks aglow with a milkey whiteness. Narragansett Bay grows on one. It is ever so charming especially at night time when the red eyes of its numerous lighthouses mimic the low stars, when the great New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia steamers glide down ablaze with incandescent jets, when Mars over the trees in the east glows red in the magnitude of his beauty, when up from the water comes the laughter and gay songs of numerous sailing parties and when one's heart reaches out to his mother, the sea, that great white mother whom we love so well, that mysterious mother who tells us naught save what we feel that she is the passion of creation.—FRED W. SHIBLEY.

A COUPLE OF ACCIDENTS.

A Fall From a Mow—Crushed a Hand While Coupling Cars.

TAMWORTH, Aug. 16—The weather this last week has been very unfavorable for the farmers. There is a large quantity of grain cut. From present appearances there is every prospect of dry weather for some time. The crop in this section never was better, and hopes are entertained by all that the price will be good. New potatoes are selling at 15c per peck; onions and cabbage are a drug on the market. Farm hands are in good demand, some asking $1.50 per day and board. The farmers are obliged to have men and they pay it without grumbling. Miss Maggie Coulter, a young lady greatly beloved by the people in this vicinity, passed peacefully to her last rest early Monday morning.—Consumption, helped on by grippe, claimed her for a victim. She was twenty-six years of age. The best of all is she was ready to go. She leaves a widowed mother, one sister and three brothers.

A few days ago John Kearns, a farmer, while pulling on a rope (called the trip rope) to a hay fork, fell from the mow to the barn floor, breaking his cheek bone and nose. Dr. Clark was called and fixed him up. On Saturday morning the mixed train was doing some shunting at this station and a brakeman named Michael Morrow, while attempting to couple some cars, got caught. His right hand was smashed terribly. Drs. Clark and Wilson took off his thumb and third finger. They think they can save the rest of his fingers.

The bell has been put in place in the tower of the Church of England and it is considered a success. Our school opened Monday with the same old teachers. C. P. Sherman, John Sherman, James Sherman, wife and daughter, were here. They left Monday for Kingston. Miss I. Dunbar, Toronto, left Monday, after a short visit with friends. D. E. Rose and wife have gone to Thousand Island park for a month's visit and recreation. J. W. Fuller and J. R. Fraser have been sick but are better. C. R. Jones left for Cincinnati, Ohio, last week, on his summer holidays. H. E. Thornton is repairing his store by raising the ceiling and putting a new roof of galvanized iron on. Messrs. McGill & Noll have the contract.

Barrieifield Breezes.

The late wet week has shaken the farmers' faith somewhat. With a bountiful crop, hundreds of acres of grain and hay lying out, will be injured by it in this vicinity. A letter from Brandon says a young man, from Barriefield, named Archibald Hutton, had taken all the prizes in athletic games at a large gathering there. Mrs. J. Burns, Green Bay, met with a bad accident last week by falling down stairs and injuring her shoulder and collar bone. Mrs. A. Ricky has returned from her visit to Millhaven. Miss Hutton and Miss Maud Hutton have returned after spending their holidays in Desoronto. Visitors: Miss Cullivan and Miss Smyth, Syracuse; Miss Toner, Glenburnie, at Wm. Toner's. Mr. and Mrs. Millan received congratulations of many friends at the christening, on Sunday, of their son. Mrs. McCallum is still very ill.

The grain market of last week has not gained any strength, but has weakened slightly although reports from the country show considerable decrease from the quantity of wheat raised last year. Advices from Manitoba state that the crop is ripening fast with the occasional showers and hot weather, but the number of bushels will be less than last year. Owing to very wet weather last week harvesting in this section has been kept back and very little done. The grain is now ready for cutting, and if the present weather holds it will all be off the fields in two weeks. Local wheat sells at 75c to 80c, and Manitoba, No. 2, hard, 88c; No. 3, hard, 78c to 80c in car lots; peas are worth 62c to 65c; oats, 30c to 31c, which is an advance on last week's prices. There is no barley being offered, and the prices are quoted nominally at 40c. New rye is beginning to come in and is being purchased at 53c. Receipts are very light and will continue so for the next three weeks.

There were fair receipts of export cattle for the week at Montreal and although few changed hands there was considerable enquiry. Of butchers' the supply was somewhat large, and buyers were slow in purchasing, but everything cleared with fair results. Quotations:

Drowned in the River.

PLAYFAIRVILLE, Aug. 14.—A drowning accident occurred last Friday, August 12th. Robert Parks, son of John S. Parks, North Sherbrooke, was the victim. While working for the Canadian lumbering company he was catching boom timber at the foot of the rapids and by some unknown means slipped and fell on a log. He struck the side of his face and was stunned. Not being able to swim he went down and never rose more. About fifty men were searching for his body for nearly two days before recovery. The father and brother were present when the body was found. The father was almost prostrate with grief.

Visitors From Philadelphia.

On Sunday morning a party of about twenty ladies and gentlemen, from Philadelphia, reached Westport on a private yacht and proceeded to St. Edward's church. At 9:30 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Sinnott, one of the party, celebrated mass. After mass and a short visit to Rev. Fr. Twohey the distinguished party returned to their summer resort, the now famous Anglers' Inn on Long Island. The party will visit St. Edward's again next Sunday for service. The Rideau is becoming better known to the outside world, and consequently the number of visitors are increasing.

Gratifying to All.

A GLEAM OF SUNSHINE.

PIERCING THE GLOOM CREATED BY UNPRECEDENTED WEATHER.

A Junior Minister Resigns to Take a Better Position—The Sale of Early Apples—Good Prices Offered For the Late Varieties—The Evaporators to Start.

SOUTH MARYSBURGH, Aug. 16.—Schools have re-opened and teachers and scholars are looking fresh and vigorous after their midsummer recreation. Eighty-two, out of 182 candidates, in the county who tried the high school entrance examinations were successful. The Rev. A. R. Dexter, B.A., junior minister of the Methodist church, Cressy, has resigned and has secured a position on the staff of teachers for Albert college, Belleville. The Rev. F. Leitch, formerly of this place, is rusticating at Castleton prior to his commencing a three years' course in the Montreal Methodist theological college. Willet, Asa and David Wood, of Point Traverse, have each erected new dwelling houses this summer. Hial Ostrander, Milford, has also begun the erection of a new dwelling on the site of the one burned a few weeks ago.

Farmers have began picking their early apples and a few sales are reported at $1.50 per barrel. Dealers are quite numerous and active with regard to the later varieties, and have already made offers at figures in excess of last year's prices, and as the prospects are favorable for a fair crop of good quality in most localities, which, with the late advances in the prices of cheese, is serving as a gleam of sunshine that pierces the gloom that has been formed in the community owing to the unprecedented bad weather we have had since the beginning of harvest. The present week, however, has opened more favorably, but 'tis a fact that much irreparable damage has been done the grain by hail and other foul weather.

Three horses belonging to A. H. Doan, Hill Top, were killed by lightning during one of the recent storms. Eggs have gone up to 11c per dozen and the hen is regaining some of her old-time popularity. Several of the citizens of Waupoos spent Sunday last at Thousand Island Park. Leslie Hicks and Myrtle Brown, of South Bay, were married last week. The evaporators will not be opened for business this year until the first week in September. The South Marysburg council will have a session on Saturday next. Aid for the Milford band will then be asked for. A. E. Grummon was in Napanee last week disposing of the balance of his stock of raspberries.

Visitors: Mrs. Geo. Goodwin, Napanee; A. Hudgin and family, Bloomfield; O. C. Hubbs and family, Toronto; E. Vangeyen and wife, Watertown; Miss Minnie Tweedle, Smithfield; Rev. F. Leitch, Castleton; Mrs. J. C. Nancollis, Toronto; Fenton Dodge, Desoronto and F. Fretz, Minnesota; Mrs. S. Footlander, visiting friends at Waupoos; F. Shannon, Rochester.

Twenty-five per cent. off all cotton hosiery; forty per cent. off all parasols for the remainder of the season at R. McFaul's.

THE NEW BON MARCHE.

NEW DISCOVERY by ACCIDENT

In compounding a solution a gray was accidently spilled on the hand and on washing afterward it was discovered that the hair was completely removed. We at once put this wonderful preparation on the market and so great has been the demand that we are now introducing it throughout the world under the name of Queen's Anti-Hairine, IT IS PERFECTLY HARMLESS AND SO SIMPLE ANY CHILD CAN USE IT.

Lay the hair over and apply the mixture for a few minutes, and the hair disappears as if by magic without the slightest pain or injury when applied or ever afterwards. It vanishes any other preparation ever used for a like purpose. Thousands of LADIES who have been annoyed with hair on their FACE, NECK and ARMS will attest its merits.

GENTLEMEN who do not appreciate a beard or hair on their neck, find a priceless boon in Queen's Anti-Hairine which does away with Shaving, by rendering its future growth an utter impossibility.

Price of Queen's Anti-Hairine $1 per bottle, sent in safety, mailing boxes, postage paid, by us securely sealed from observation. Send money or stamps by letter with full address written plainly. Correspondence strictly confidential. This advertisement is honest and straight forward in every word it contains. We invite you to deal with us and you will find everything as represented. Cut this out and send to-day. Address QUEEN CHEMICAL CO., 1174 Race Street, CINCINNATI, O. You can register your letter at any Post Office to insure its safe delivery. We will pay $500 for any case of failure or slightest injury to any purchaser. Every bottle guaranteed.

SPECIAL—To ladies who introduce and sell among their friends 25 Bottles of Queen's Anti-Hairine, we will present with a SILK DRESS, 18 yards best silk. Extra Large Bottle and samples of silk to select from sent with order. Good Salary or Commission to Agents.

We have tried Queen's Anti-Hairine, and find it does all the above company claims for it.—EDITOR.
