Among the Poultry. Regularity in management is as im portant as regularity in feeding; both are necessary With young pullets it is often a good plan to let them sit a day or two before putting the eggs under them. A good farm-yard fowl must have stamina and vigor, as it is supposed to pick up a good portion of its living. Whole straw is better than hay as nest material, but either one is prefer able to that which is run through a cutting box. It is often the case that if the hens are well fed during the spring and summer brooder if the temperature is kept even. It is when they get cold that they crowd.

PRINCESS STREET, KINGSTON.

THE HEALTH of cities and towns enters so largely into the prospect of their future advance ment, that sound policy dictates the adoption of any means likely to improve the general healths or remove evils that are known to exist. , Medical men and sanitary engineers are unanimous in tracing the source of epidemics of contagious diseases to the door of imperfect drainage, and the vast amount of money already spent and now being expended in the great cities of Europe and America n perfecting the sewerage systems to this subject by the greatest engineers of the world. In London, Eng., between 1855 and 1860, $20,000,000 was spent in drainage-the result being that the death-rate was reduced from 55 to the 1,000 to 23 to 1,000. This reduction of mortality was affected among the same occupants without any change in their habits.

is proof of the importance attached

It is all important that our Drainage system should improve with the City's growth. Not only must special attention be given to the proper position and arrangement of sewers, but the quality of material used in their construction is also of vital importance. The vitrified Salt Glazed Drain Pipes made by the Standard Drain Pipe Co. are without doubt, the best made in Canada and if we are to judge from the tests by preminent engl neers, they are superior in quality and appearance to any imported pipes. We always keep on hand a full stock of Standard Pipes and Fittings and are prepared to give advice as to the construction of Drains and all Sanitary Fixtures.
