It took all the influence of the powerful Olympic Club to get Jim out of bock.

Corbett Won the Toss. At the towing for corners between Johnson for Sullivan and Delaney for Corbett this afternoon Delaney called "Tails" and son. He selected the "lucky corner," as it s called, the one that Fitzsimmons had twice and McAuliffe and Dixon occupied this week. It was 8 40 when the scales were brought n to weigh the gloves, and at the same time it was officially announced that Billy Delaney and Prof. John Donaldson of St. and would do the chief work on Corbett when in his corner, and Daly, Dillon and Prof. Mike Donovan of New York Athletic Club would be around to hand up bottles and give advice. Great cleverness was shown by Corbett in the way he jabbed, and got away, but his blows did not seem to be effective. Sullivan now made a rusb, but Corbett ran away and when he came back laughed. Sullivan tried same thing twice now and each time got a jab with his left on the stomach. ROUND 13-Suilivan had a weary look when he came from his corner, and he let go his left. He could not get there, as Corbett ran away. This scene forward be was smiling, but was was on the back of Memoir in 1890 perspiring a great deal. Sallivan rushed him and Jim ran away. Round 15 -- Sullivan went in to do Corbett this time and rushed Jim three times. The Californian's long reach held John at bay the same stage and give the spectators and the big fellow could not break in under the guard. On the contrary Corbett's left found Sullivan's face twice. In two more rushes by Spilivan Corbett held him off and plunked John on the ribs and stomach with his left. Sullivan had become very uglylooking before the end of the round, but Corbett did not mind that a bit. He went on dancing away from the blows as before. Sully's Nose Was a Mark

Round 16-A mutual rush occurred at the opening of the round, but both missed their hander and Corbett hit him on the nose lightly. This Corbett followed up with a jab in the stomach and two on the nose with the left. Sullivan appeared to be getting desperate, He went at Corbett cautiously, but Cornett was not there, John seemed more worried than ever, especfally when he received another tap on nose from Corbett's left, ROUND 17-Sullivan succeeded in getting a light left in Corbett's face. Up to this time and when he jabbed the big fellow four times on the face in succession, the spectators raised a howl. Sullivan here got in a left-on Corbett's brearst, but it didn't hurt, Then Corbett touched John up for two right handers on the body amid more howis. The people seemed now with ROUND 19. -On coming together Sullivan hit Corbett on the neck with the left pretty hard, and Corbett countered with the left on the stomach. Sullivan missed a left meant for the face, and Corbett laughed at him. At that Sullivan's face took on a savage snarl. He chased Corbett around the ring. Cosbett agrin came for-ward, and landed his left on Sullivan's stomach and face and his right on the big fellow's stomach.

suliivan Was Plainly Groggy. Round 20-Sullivan's left struck Corbett's breast as they came to the centre of the ring, but not not two seconds occurred afterward before Corbett sailed into him with left and right. Corbett caught Sullivan on both sides of the head close to the ropes, and this same dose the Californian repeated after another second. Corbett followed this up with seven more blows of the same kind and Sullivan could not protect himself nor get in a single blow in return. He was plainly groggy and weak. Corbett was very fresh and confident at the sound of the gong, at which time he was smashing Sullivan a great rate on both sides of the head. ROUND 21-In regard to this trifling minute and a half which decided the heavyseight championship of the world a great deal might be said. That the contest would end in that round no man present believed. Sullivan came from his corner in ontinued to do the edging in Corbett followed his original tactics of edging away. This sort of trade was not going on very long-not more than 10 seconds when Corbett jumped back, tushed forward hit John on the nose and John was dazed . Corbett went at him further and the same old nose was again smashed and more blood came out John looked astounded and Corbett famned back? with the morre golle of a schoolboy with a Lig apple.
