Mr E. J. Powell, a gentleman who has reout the province. Those who know him are doubtless aware that he has been a sufferer worst form. His acquaintances in the city, who remember the long slepe of the lileas he stood a year ago last winter, and who had come to look upon him as almost a confirmed invalid, have been surprised of late to see the remarkable change for the better that has taken place. The haggard face and almost crippled form of a year ago have given way to an appearance of robustness. rigor and agility that certainly seem the result of miraculous agency.

Hearing of this a reporter called on Powell in order to ascertain by what megic neans this transformation had been wrought. The scribe first asked if the reports concerning his wonderful restoration to health wers trur. "I am thankful to say they are, 'said Mr. Powell. "My case is pretty well-anown

"To what do you ewe your recovery ! "I owe it to the use of a certain remedy," he replied; "but I would prefer saying nething at precent. I have suffered nearly all my life with a malady I had begun to regard as incurable, and the fact that I am permanently relieved appears incredible. In common parlance, it seems too good to last, ] want to be sure that I am permanently cared before anything is made public, so that when I do give a testimonial it will have some weight. You may call again later on and I

The latter said he was now absolutely convinced of the permanency of his cure, but being y man who did not care for publicity, be had hesitated long before he could make up his mind to allow his name to be used. Coming frem one of his conscientiousness and probity of character, his words cannot fail to have the weight they deserve. "The primary cause of my rheumatism,"

I took the treatment steadily for several weeks, getting semetimes two or three charges a day on the hands and feet from an electric battery. But it did me not the slightest good. At last my health became se bad that I decided to quis the real estate business and enter upon rural life, thinking that the change of air and occupation might have a beneficial effect. So I exchanged some property for the old Dr. Woodruff fruit farm near the city. Much discussion has arisen ere now upon the question as to which occupation is the healthiest in a time of cholera. There was some evidence during the 1865 agitation in favor of the makers of cigars, and that has been expanded into the superstition that cholera may be kept off by smoking. If, lieved, the safest trade during an epidemic is that of the waller. What is a waller? He is a man who attends to the pans in Cheshire wherein the brine from which our salt is extracted boils and vapors all day long. The waller, one is told, is subject to accident. He sometimes falls into his pan, and never emerges alive. Nevertheleas his trade is a remarkably healthy one. He does not suf fer from decline. Cholera, smallpox and occurred in the seasons of 1891-2, which made such bavoc with all classes and in all trades and professions. We shall all want obvious why this immunity arises.
