RESISTING THE TAX. The business men of Montreal have been holding a public meeting at which to discuss the new tax on personal estate and income which the De Boucherville government has poor widow on St. Lawrence street who The discontent, the unrest, are here. keeps a candy store, and pays yearly rental reform of public abuses, arising from of $50; on the opposite side is a store keeper who pays $390 a year. Each of these are in due season. taxed $30 a year. Is that fair? (Ories of no! no!) A man kept a store who was asmessed at $800 a year. Another had one which cost him from $13,000 to $15,000 a year in interest, etc. This store contained lic generally :-dry-goods, boots and shoes, furniture, tinware, groceries, etc. He pays $80 a year as tax, while the former has to pay $60. That was not fair. Personally, I will never pay to go to jail." The applause which followed this remark spoke the willingness of the rest of the audience going to jail under the same diroumstances. "We'll all go to jail, will have to build a new jail," was the style of remarks heard above the din. Mr. Stephens, M.P.P., an independent liberal, scarified the government for its extravagance, Said he: "In the highest taxed city of the United States the allowance limit of taxation was five per cent, but in many cases it was only three per cent. But here, where we have less prosperity and rather more economical people, we find the people who have had central of the corporation, and its legislation have obtained power from the legislature at Quebec to run this city at 15 per cent. on the whole taxable property of the city. If there is a reaction in real estate, the priperty will go down in value and we will have our indebtedness still."

"I am an old man," said he, "but I hope yet to live to ase public robbers who go into public places and steal and rob the public treasury under the guise of a public trust— I hope to see them with longer sentences in
