The passing of the resolution led the Water to solicit the opinions of Welfe Islanders in that direction. Reeve McRae was first iffterviewed and spoke this way : "I don't see why anybody would not be in favor of free trade with the United States unless those whose sentiments it would interfere with as citizens. My views are in keeping with the resolution as passed by the council. Under the present policy it was promised us the country would progress with leaps and bounds but on the contrary it has stagnated and the best blood and muscle are leaving it with leaps and bounds. We are probably as competent judges of the situation as Canada can produce. In sight of our homes we have the two different markets and we fully realize the penalty we pay for the national policy. My personal feel logs are for free trade at any cost. We had policy of legislation so reduce us that when we go approach the sister nation for terms we wou'r be referred to the committee on "What are your views on the annexation "I think annexation is bound to come and the only once who would object to it are those who are holding out their hands bagging for office and titles. Might not we as well reap the benefits as our great-grandchildren? Canada has a stretch of territory thousands of miles long, a few miles broad Prosperity to the south of her, desolation and Greenland's loy mountains to her north and a kind of fringe as it were to the skirt of the nation to the south, detached in a sense but still lacking the importance of the whole skirt. God meant it that the fringe should be attached to the skirt and not present such ludicrous position as through legislation it does, the fringe playing one way and the dress the other. The bread and butter brigade may preach loyalty and advise you to be loyal, even though a man's trousers become dilapidated letting the talls of the nether garments bristle with loyalty and flop defiance at the southern republic, I am sorry to take this stand, but free trade and Upon the arrest of Reilly and O'Neil the free existence are synonymous. MISS HULDA BAKER RECIFED IN ST GEORGE'S HALL

she is Quite a Success-The Youngsters of the Sous of England-An Entertainment in The First Gougregational Church-The Talent of Kingston En-

There was only a fair attendance at St George's half, last night, to hear Miss Hulds Baker, elocutionist, under the auspices of tes mechanics' institute. N. McNeil, president of the institute, introduced Miss Baker in a few well chosen words, and then called on S. Shannon for a piano solo. Mise Baker showed herself-to be an elecutionist of a high class. Her more dramatic selec-tions, "The Ride of Jennie McNeal," "Jame's Conquest" and "The Princess" were appreciated. In her humorous recitations Miss Baker achieved much success, her "Rubenstein" and "How the Parson's Horse Won the Race" being heartily applauded.
During the evening C. Jones gave a flate solo. Miss Baker thanked the audience for their kind reception and said she hoped to see all the old faces and as many new ones as possible at the hall to night. A treat is in store for those who attend.
