The Speeches of the Principal and R. W. to See-A Story From the Old Testament and the Way it Was Applied. The workingmen's meeting yesterday afternoon was a great success. Fraser's hall was packed and many could not get in. Dr. Dupuls presided, and said he had advocated many years ago, that there should be meetlogs held for workingmen and others to dishe were wealthy he would hire a hall for

B. W. Folger was received with applause. He said he would make his address short. It had been announced that the meeting would be a double-header. In discussing social questions he would take the easier or down grade and when he dropped out the big mogni would take his place. (Cheers.) he would feel it an insult and so should he would back up what he tried to suggest, atriving to get capital and labor together. Taxation should be carried with strict regard to the shifting of oit zone to pay for We bought 4,768 yards of property (real and personal) they possessed. the men having a small amount of wealth than upon rich men. They should petition the Ontario government to change the mode of taxation. He would head the document, This cannot be refused, because the fortupes of the rich are taxed after they are dead. This should be done before death. He would exempt all roal or personal property from taxation for the first $1,000. He would put a tax of two per cent, on the property of a man worth $50,000. If his robbery. fortune were $100,000 he would make the tax three per cent, and so on as the fortunes increased. If this were done no man could gather $70,000,000 as the late Jay Gould haddone. That man would never have made his money except through the workingmen. Mr. Folger advocated the co-operation scheme and said it could be made a success. He pointed out that the whole taxation for the watering of the street; in Kingston. each man would get about 20c apiece, not enough to buy the beer for the boys. (Cheers) He would, however, divide if others did the same. He proposed to make all the employees who remained a year at the electric light works stockholders by apitalizing their wages. (Cheers) "I do not think we will be out a dollar by the hange," said the speaker. Each man will be working for himself. Some people argue that workingmen are better off now than they used to be. But labor has not progressed on the same ratio as the capital. Because he once drove cattle for 253 per day that is no reason why he should want

Principal Grant said : "One of the two
