It was this by-law that came before the council lately and the only point of importance in connection with the discussion was that concerning the necessity of some efficial being appointed by the city to see that the exemption by laws were as fairly observed by the several parties and companies sifeeted as by the city Said one of the aldermen, who was interviewed to day and who was not in the council to 1891: "I have not yet been called upon to express my views upon the exemption question. Two by-laws came before me this year-one affecting the cotton mili and one the stove works-and I voted for them as a matter of form and in order to close up the deals entered into honestly, solumnly and without hope of repudiation That's where I stand, and don't you make any mistake about it."

AN EVENING OF FUN. All the quiet patients and a great many visitors from the city were present. The programme opened with a selection from the band, and E. Gilmore sang "The Man in the Moon," William Cochrane as usual was inimitable in his comic songs, and "There Are Moments" was seceived with great applause. His selection is full of local hits which were cleverly got off. The other songs : "A Mo ther's Appeal to Her Boy, 'by E. Callaghan; "Suam Brown," by W. Shea; "Bye-le-Baby, Darling," by J. Shea, were all ex-selleatly rendered. The dancing by W. Potter and A. McGosn was well done for amateurs and they were asked to repeat. A clarionet solo in the first part of the programme by W. H. Madill tock well. The farce, "Have You Seen Patey," was very laughable. Another highly amesing dialogue was "Un'imited Cheek or the Sewing Machine Agent, ' It was true to life, and well acted.
