THE REFERENCES TO THE LATE WILLIAM MIDDLETON.

ed Yesterday Murning-Rev. Mr. Ross in Convocation Hall-General Paragraphs From Many Churches.

Yesterday morning the pastor of Chal-mers' church made grateful and appreciative reference to the late William Middleton. sad truth that William Middleton is dead The shadow of his death has rested like a horrible nightmare on those who had known him best. And no wonder for he was one of obliging of men, and those of us who saw him bravely and patiently struggling with the fell disease that struck him down, real ize as others naturally cannot, the grief parting with such a man. I have to say that in all my experience I have not seen men (not relatives of the deceased) so move as many were when, on the past Sabbath they looked for the last time on the face William Middleton. That fact speaks of the worthy place he had in their esteem and the good and sunny influence of his life. And yet he was a man of few words and anythin but a fawning manner. Not many men come more quick to the point an show in fewer words just how they stood "We shall greatly miss him in Chalmers

He had many gifts and he was not stingy in giving them to his church. His liberality, his taste, his skill, his assistance LINDSAY—At Deseronto, on March 27th, Manly in a great many ways were frequently laid under contribution, and he gave with no grudging hand or heart. I knew him for four years, and was thrown much in his way in connection with his own business and church work. In the former connection never knew him to be other than prompt courteous and obliging ; in the latter I never got a refusal from him. And in the course of the past week I have heard people other churches speak of him in the same appreciative terms. May God raise up others to take his place. No church can well afford to lose men like him. 'By their fruits ye shall know them.' 'They rest

All Should Work. Rev. James Ross, B.D., Perth, and s graduate of Queen's, delivered an interest ing and powerful address in Convocation mission work, addressing himself more particularly to those who were not as ye preparing themselves for that branch of the church's labors. The reverend gentleman said that while much attention was directed to heathen nations, as India and China. quite as good work could be done nearer home, in Ontario and Quebec. God did not ask us to do something impossible when He commanded His people to go into all the world to save sinners. Mighty resource were lying undeveloped which might b utilized for the saving of souls, and it is the duty of all to help forward the work by every means in their power. The methods of the Salvationists had been condemned by many who did not put forth a hand for the | manage cause of Christ, and yet their work was all for the same end and brought thousand into the fold who would otherwise have been lost. The difficulties which have attended missionaries in heathen countries when first beginning their labor was pointed out and compare I with the comparatively unemposed work which might be done at the present, and could and should be helped forward by "all sorts and conditions of men." The Back Part of Frontenac Before St. James' and St. George's congregations on Sunday Rev. W. Y. Davkin made an appeal on behalf of the mission of Clarendon. It may open the eyes of those sitting in cushioned pews in the city as to the state of their own county. Mr. Daykin stated: "The church families number only twenty three. All but six of these are so very poor as to be unable to do more than support their minister, with aid of the mission fund. There are many families living in remote places in neglect of religion. thirty years experience he never met with people so ready in support of their minister. difficulty stay long, for board is not to be had, and the parsonage is not tenantable by a family.
