G.T.R. ANNUAL MEETING.

TY TYLER REPLIES TO BE CHARLES TUPPER.

the Interruptions of Shareholders Or pand to the Present Board of Directors
-The Penitton of the G.T.E.

LONDON, April 14 - The recent discussion a the press between Sir Henry Tyler, pressdent of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, nd Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High causes of the exceptionally large attendance at the meeting of shareholders of the company this efternoon. The room was crowded. Sir Henry Tyler delivered a lengthy speech, the chief characteristic of which was its hopeful

States Congress would again legalize the old divisions of traffic, a matter of great importance. HWhad also good reason to hope that the Canadian Government will remove the duty on coal, thus saving the Grand Trunk £100,000 sterling annually. Regarding Sir Charles Tupper's charges against the company, Sir Henry remarked: " Before the elections we were deserving of every favor from the Government of Canada, Since the elections no language is too bad, no misrepresentation is too monstrous, to be hurled at us by the High Commissioner." Sir Henry Tyler then proceeded to read to the meetin the private report of Mr. Seargent, the general manager of the company, of the interview he held with Sir Charles Tupper. Several shareholders, however, promptly interrupted the reading of the report and some confusion ensued. "This is a private affair," said one. "Sir Charles Tupper is not here to reply," said another. "It is a one-sided statement," said a third, amid cheers. However, Sir Henry persevered and declared that the board entirely believed Mr. Seargeant as an bonorable man. The report declared that Sir Charles Tupper plainly bid for the Grand Trunk vote. Mr. Seargeaut, however, declined to swerve from the position of Pike fishing on the rapids and in Booth's complete independence. At this point Sir Henry was interrupted by a shareholder calling out, "This is all ancient history." Sir Henry having requested silence said in the interest of Odessa chairs. A woman Grand Trunk stationmaster to Chicago as special detective to endeavor to discover damaging facts against the Grand Trunk management. That gentlemen was now in jail for debt. The laughter which greeted this statement having subsided Sir Henry proceeded to review Sir Charles Tupper's charges. He remarked that in details they were very strong but absurd. As to the manager of the Chicago and Grand Truck, Manitoba, takes Robt. Bredin's farm, Meotwhose openly expressed annexationist sentiments had been drawn attention to by Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Henry said that Mr. Reeves was a very valuable officer; but the company regretted his statements as to the necessity to Canada of annexation to the United States and applogized to the Government for them. It was untrue, Sir. Henry said, that a single pass had been given over the whole system to enable an elector to cast his vote for the Liberals. Sir Charles Tupper had said that the Grand Trunk had never forgiven the Dominion Government for building the Canadian Pacific Railway. "True," Sir Henry remarked, "the Canadian Pacific received six times as much subsidy as the Grand Trunk, but this company only complains at the subsidies to lines uselessly competing with the Grand Trunk. [Cheers . Sir Charles Tupper then charged the board of this company with extravagance, corruption and jobbery. It is hardly necessary to reply seriously to such general charges, but that came from the High Commissioner. Those who knew Sir Charles Tupper better than most of the gentlemen present thought the charge recalled the

After considerable laughter and cheering Sir Henry continued. He said: "If the Grand Trunk was so guilty, why was I, as Sir Charles Tupper wrongly alleged, offered facilities by the Canadian Government to build the Canadian Pacifiel Why was our late general manager, Sir Joseph Hickson, knighted! well deserving of Government favor? "Sir Charles Tupper having made charges now means to find something to prove them. Let him do so. I challenge the High Commissioner to bring any single charge of corruption or joboery against us or Sir Joseph Hickson. I will meet him face to face, because I maintain that no line is more honestly worked than the Grand Trunk. No officials tried more than ours to do their best for the company," [Loud cheers.]

A noisy debate followed, during which hot words were used both by the friends of the management and their opponents. The re-Brockville for the Untario express and trans port was finally adopted, with only five dissenting votes.

Mr. Hili moved and Mr. Cain seconded a motion that these gentlemen be not reelected. The amendment was put amid breathless excitement and was carried by a After the excitement had been somewhat

Roberts paid $50 down and the balance he was to pay in monthly instalments. Miller left for the west and Roberts took up his residence in the Miller home. Roberts defaulted, how ever, in his monthly payments. Miller threatened to return and reclaim his wife. Roberts then left for parts unknown. Mrs. Miller, being deserted by both men, laid her case before Justice Donotiue, who issued warrant for Miller.

La Grippe Causes the Greatest Mortality Ever Known in Brooklyn. New York, April 14.—The number deaths from the grip last week and its is direct influence in producing fatal results with other diseases swelled the number of funerals in Brooklyn to-day far beyond the usual average, and there was greater demand for hearses than could be upplied. Few could be secured from this city owing to the demand here from the same causes, and those owned in the Long Island towns were sent for. Even then some funerals had to be postponed until to-morrow. The streets of Brooklyn were filled with processions passing to the various cometeries, and so many coaches were hired that in some cases the prices were increased. Extra forces of men were employed at grave digging in the cemeteries in spite of the storm, and many bodies had to be placed in receiving vaults on account of the lack of time to make graves ready. The number of deaths last week in Brooklyn was 630 and the largest number in one day was 114 on Friday.
