WENT DOWN TO DEATH.

DECLIVITY.

palling Death List,

STATESVILLE, N. C., Aug. 28.—A western und train on the West North Carolina Railroad jumped a trestle near here yester-day about 2 o'clock. The train plunged in the darkness into an abyss 200 feet in depth, ashing the car into splinters.

dashing the car into splinters.

Kighty-five passengers were on board the train. The killed already brought to Statesville are reported as follows, Perry Barnett and Charles Barnett of Hendersonville, Samuel Gorman of Asheville, William West of Salisbury, a fireman, a lady unknown, Julius Phiter, a drummer, a porter unknown, Charles Webber of Carson, Conn., a calored man unknown, an old lady unknown, Mrs. Poole of Williamston, N. C., W. J. Fisher of Campbell, S. C., a white man unknown, W. T. Winslow of Asheville, William Houston of Greensboro, William Davis of Statesville J. B. Austin of Hickory; Rev. J. M. Sykes of Clarksville, Tenn.; Doe Wells, porter, of Louisville, Ky., and Mr. McCormick of Alexander, Buncombe County.

State Auditor Sanderlin was badly hurt.
But few of the people on the train were saved. The Asheville Fire Company, returning from a convention at Durham, was on board the train and it is supposed many of its members were killed.

The wreck occurred at Boston's bridge, two miles west of Statesville. Passenger train No. 9, known as the fast mail which made up as Salisbury pulled out at 1 a. m. loaded with passengers. It was composed of a baggage and a mail car, second and first-class coaches, Pullman sleeper and Superintendent Bridges' private car Daisy. The sleeper which was from Galdaboro contained a good number of passengers from northern points. The run to Statesville was made on time, a distance of 25 miles, but just after leaving Statesville of 25 miles, but just after leaving Statesville there is a high stone bridge spanning Third Creek and down into this creek plunged the entire train, a distance of at least 65 feet, wrecking the whole train and carrying death and destruction with it. but your pocket-book and go Twenty passengers were killed outright, 9 seriously injured and about 20 badly bruised and shook up. The scene at the wreck beg-gars description. The night was dismal and to add to the horror of the situation the water in the creek was up. It was only through the most heroicefforts of those who hurried to the scene that the injured were not drowned. The accident was caused by the spreading of the rails. The bridge was not injurid and the trains are running on schedule time.

Twenty dead bodies are now lying in a warehouse at Statesville. The injured are having the best of care at private residences and hotels. Eighteen of the dead have been identified. Mrs. Pool was drowned before aid could reach her. Three bodies have not another is a lady with a ticket in her pocket, which reads, "Mrs. George McCormick and mother, Elmwood, N. C., to Alexander, N. C." The third is also a lady, uponher fingers is a ringengraved "T. H. W. to M. R. R." It is thought that all the bodies is piled up so high that it is impossible to nake a thorough examination. Crowds have flocked to the scene all day. The accident has cast a gloom over the entire community. Not a soul came out of the sleeper alive.

He knew the notes were overdue, but had not troubled-whether they were paid or not, as he had depended on the party winning the election petitious. He did not they were paid

MANGLED BY A DOG.

Fatal Struggle with a Vicious Brute

MONTREAE, Aug. 27.—The little son of Omer Frechette of No. 108 St. Hubert-street, this city, was bitten to death by a ferocious log last night. Mr. Frechette, who is an mateur fancier, recently purchased three dogs, one of which was a cross between a hound and a buildog. The latter was considered rescently Scribbling, Exercise sidered peaceable and gave no sign of being dangerous. Shortly after 7 o'clock last evening while Mrs. Frechette was entertaining a visitor she beard her 4-year-old son, who was playing in the yard, scream. Sushing to a window she was horrified to see the dog attacking the child and tearing great pieces of flesh from its body. With all the heroism of a mother's daring, the woman flew to the rescue. The sight she met was a horrible one. The yard was covered with blood, while pieces of flesh were scattered around. pieces of flesh were scattered around.

Though fainting she attacked the infuriated brute and a terrific struggle ensued. A. J. Masse, who resided near by, came to her assistance. At this moment the woman fainted and the brute turned his attention toward the new intruder. Another desperate battle followed, but Masse was armed with a knife, which he wielded to good purpose, but the dog having secured a grip on the man never let go until its head was nearly severed from its body and almost cut to Michigan House. GRAYLING, Mich., Aug. 28 .- James Burns has been living on a farm near Red Oak for four years. He was 45 years old, apparently of considerable means, and lived quietly with a handsome girl 18 years old, whom he said was his daughter. Alice Burns had not been seen for several days, but neighbors paid no attention to the matter as he was reserved and seemed to care only for his daughter. Yesterday, Herman Grostrick went to the house but could not get in. He found a famishing horse in the barn and then broke in the rear door of the house. A horrible stench nearly drove him back, but on going into a back room he discovered Burns' body on a bed with the girl's body lying across if A tight cord around the girl's neck showed that she had died of strangulation. There were no signs of a struggle and everything in the house was in order. The supposition is that Burns died a natural death or committed suicide by poison, and that the girl on discovering his death strangled herself. Papers in the house show that the girl was not Burns' daughter.

Remarkable Letter From Superintend ont Senecal, Whose Resignation he Been Accepted-Mr. Barwick and the Alleged Quebec Boodling-The Cattle

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—The investigation into the Printing Bureau scandal was continued before the public accounts Committee yester-

I have held myself at the disposal of your committee for several weeks, contrary to the formal prescription of my docter in order to furnish my desirable information as to the purchases and at to the expenses of the Government printing office, I should have been able in one sitting to have given that information, and immediately thereafter to have taken the rest I need. ed. But I see that the committee is not anxious to accure that information. I can no longer delay complying with my doctor's orders. It would have been easy to convince, the committee that all the contracts were honestly and scrupulously made, and that no commission or advantage for myself or for others was stipulated for or taken into consideration. In any event it would have been easy to prove that the purchases were made for the Government at lower prices than any private individual could have made them for himself, but that was not, it seems, what the committee wanted. According to my understanding of the law, the Civil Service Act, as also the law, the Civil Service Act, as also the coath taken by employes, forbid the receiving from the Government of any other remuneration than the regular malary. But it does not forbid, it cannot forbid, testimonials of esteem and of cordial relations from friend to friend. YESTERDAY AT OTTAWA

ortawa, Aug. 28.—The investigation into the Printing Bureau scandal was continued before the public accounts Committee yesterday.

Before Mr. Wallace swore Arthur W. Croil, the proprietor of the National Publishing and Electrotyping Company, this letter was read after messengers had been despatched to Mr. Senecal's office:

Ortawa, Aug. 26, 1891.

To Clarke Wallace, Esq., M. P., Chairman Public Accounts Committee:

I have held myself at the disposal of your committee for several weeks, contrary to the formal prescription of my doctor in order to Croil, the proprietor of the National Publishing and Electrotyping Company, this letter was read after messengers had been despatched to Mr. Senecal's office:

of cordial relations from friend to friend.
Under these circumstances the system of low spying and vile anonymous information now so freely resorted to is of ne utility. But the contrary opinion seems to prevail in your committee and elsewhere, and I have tendered my resignation. I have worked often, late into the night to make the No. tional printing office what it is, and my

National Electrotyping Company of Toron-to had known Mr. Senecal for two or three years. His business dealings with him had been unimportant. While acting as agent for W. J. Ostrander of Chicago, he had sold the Printing Bureau, through Senecal, about $4000 worth of stuff. He had given him at one time or another about $150. There was no understanding between them as to Senecal's repaying the igan. The money was paid over in Croil's office in Toronto. Senecal had come in at various times and had told Croil that he was hard up and

"Ysa, I never expected to get it back."
Mr. Croil went on to tell how McIlroy, the agent of the Potter Printing Press Com-pany of New York, had told him that the Bureau had bought 16 presses from his firm. With this transaction Croil had nothing to To Hon. Mr. Foster the witness stated hat the prices of the goods sold to the
