BUFFALO, Oct. 8.—Wun Pung and Weo Pee, two Celestials who had fallen foul of the Chinese Exclusion Act by smuggling themselves over from Cahada, got into a strange predicament here to-day. For several hours they were carried back and fourth on the Niagara River, both Canada and the United States refusing to receive them. This crisis in the exclusion law trouble came about through the decision of Judge Cox, in the United States District Court here, on Saturday, that, in spite of President Harrison's opinion in the Sam Quong case last week, the country whence these Chinamen came was not China, but Canada. This morning four Celestials, two of them with Canadian papers, were taken from jail by the United States marshal and put on the ferry boat for Canada. The cuspapers. It has been decided to rejustate all those officials of the department of the interior who were suspended for improper conduct revealed in the public acTHE DEATH OF PARNELL. HAD BEEN BURFERING FROM AN AT SINGL OTACIS OF RHEUMATISM. SU effect of Mr. Parnell's death, Mr. Davitt thought, would be the release of the $200,000 of Irish funds now tied up in the hands of Parts bankers. A part of this spansy would be devoted, he said, undoubtedly toward the aid of evicted tenants and the remainder used by the Irish parliamentary party for the expenses of the general election.

"My opinion about Parnell," said Mr. Davitt, "now, is one of unmixed sorrow at his sudden death. The occasion demands the expression of deep regret that he should have been out off at a comparatively early age. We should remember only the good age. We should remember only the good work which he performed for Ireland in a sarear of usefulness and distinction for his sountry. His recent unhappy conduct will, I am sure, be forgotten by a grateful people. It was a sad episode in his political life, which will not linger in the memory of Ireland side by side with his great services. His death will put an end to the unhappy dissensions by which the Irish movement has been torn during the last 12 months.

dissensions by which the Irish movement has been torn during the last 12 months. Those who followed Mr. Parnell in his warfare against the majority of the Irish party did so in the majority of cases out of a feeling of personal loyalty to a man who has commanded their fealty through the stormiest period of the Land League and Home Rule fights and not from any feeling that he was right in his struggle any feeling that he was right in his struggle with those whom duty and patriotism compelled to depose him from the leadership. Now that his lips are sealed in the silence of death, I feel that our ranks will be closed up again and we will have a solid movement for Irish national self-govern-"Mr. Parnell's successor in the leadershi will be a secondary consideration. Justin McCarthy did not desire the post, which was forced upon him. He would gladly have given it up at any time since if his doing so could have put an end to dissension. Now that a sad event terminates the domestic quarrel within the party Mr. McCarthy will doubtless demand a release. We have done with one-man power in the Irish National movement for ever. The leader of the future will be democratic, not aristocratic. He must be the mouthpiece and not the master of the movement for Home Rule If McCarthy consents to continue it will, in my opinion, he sent for another physician, with whom he held a long consultation. John Parnell Shocked. ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 8 .- A seedy looking man of forty-seven years, dressed in a rough suit of brown and wearing on his head a faded slouch hat, that is John Parnell, the brother of Charles Stewart Parnell. While Charles has been figuring so prominently be-fore the people of Europe and America his brother has been tending fruit tross on a little farm near West Point, seventy-five from Atlanta. He has been spending several weeks here and when the first news of the death of the former Irish leader reached Atlanta the brother could have been seen hanging about the newspaper offices to see if the press despatches confirmed it.

"I can't believe he is dead," said he, "I have heard several times that he was dead but the despatch had been contradicted later on. The only thing that makes me believe the report is the statement that he dted suddenly. There were twelve child ren in our family, six of whom are dead and every one of the six died suddenly. Our eleter Fanny, who died last, was found dead in bed. When the news of the death was confirmed Mr. Parnell said : "My brother Charles was a great man. He was always fond of painted. The most of the stories sent out about him were gross exaggerations. The was untrue, as he always looked after her and sent her money. He loved us all, and but a short time ago he wrote me a most affectionate letter, and I was in the hope that he would come to America to visit me."

Opinions of the Press, LONDON, Oct. 7 .- The death of Parnell is the absorbing topic of the press. The Duily Neses has twelve columns, and the other papers nearly as much, with the exseption of the Times, which has a somewhat bitter leader reviling the man it failed to rain. All agree in forgetting the immediate past, placing him in a right position in his-

The St. James' Gazette says Parnell died in steel harness. Englishmen have no reason to love the dark intriguer and unsorupulous foe; but even those who were menaced admire his dauntless energy. He fought to the end, possessed of a violent spirit, bordering on insanity.

The Globe maintains that the opinion that Parnellism is dead with Parnell, is surely sasty and premature. This judgment is unwarranted by its antecedent. It declares Parnellism is not dead; the gospel of revolt against authority must continue whoever is the new Parnell. Lospon, Oct. 7. - The physicians will probably sign a certificate of death to-day setting forth, officially, the real cause of death and stilling the rumors of suicide. At the residence, in Brighton, the family still refuse details.

It is believed that Parnell's death will result in the reunion of all the members of the Nationalist party, not only in Ireland, but in the United States. At the meeting of the National Federation at Dublin yesterday David Sheehy, M.P., submitted a motion that the meeting should adjourn in consequence of the death of Mr. Parnell. The motion was adopted. A news agency states that among his complicated private affairs Mr. Parnell left ansettled the question of custody of his wife's younger children. "It is no secret. says the same authority, "that Mr. Parnell claimed to be the tather of the two youngest children of Mrs. O'Shea.

London, Oct. 8 .- The rumor has been vived here that the Government intends to increase the number of Imperial troops at Hallfax and establish permanent military stations at Quebec and Esquimanlt, on the Pacific coast. It was reported here that this step was in contemplation for two pur-poses, one to protect the new military highway, the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the other to provide British officers with experience in the Canadian climate. There is no talk of this step being contemplated in the hope of suppressing the annexationist feeling, for it is not believed in England that any general feeling in favor of annexation exists in Canada. Sir Edward Watkin urged the establishment of military stations along the line of the C.P.R. some years since, but it was then felt by the Government, to be unwise both in the interests of Canada and the Empire to take the step suggested. As to the present rumor I cannot find any officials willing to confirm it.

A MYSTERY CLEARED UP.

Annie Higgins Was Not Murdered But Left Her Employment Voluntarily. Tononto, Oct. 8 .- Government Detective John Murray returned Wednesday from Brockville, where he has been investigating the facts in con-nection with the mysterious disappearance of a young woman whom rumor charged had been murdered. Mr. James Burgess, manager of the Fairknowe Home, Brockville, some time since brought out a batch of young Scotch girls from Glasgow. Among the number was a 16 year old girl named Lizzie Higgins. On the 29th of June last she was placed with a respectable farmer near Calloden, named Wilson Anderson. On the 12th of August about 6.30 p.m. she left Anderson's, stating that she intended going to the village to make some pur-chases at the stores. From that hour no trace of her could be discovered, although the strictest investigation was instituted by Mr. Burgess and others. As there were number of suspicious characters working in a quarry in the vicinity foul play was suspected and the Government was asked Detective Murray visited the scene Saturday, and in a investigation succeeded in establishing the fact that the girl had left of her own accord and was in good health The officer learned that the girl was driven to Cardinal by a butcher named Sullivan, to whom she stated that she was going to prayer meeting. She failed to attend either church or the stores to make her purchases, but next morning she was seen by a young girl named Richway. A few hours later she crossed the St. Lawrence, where she was seen by a Mrs. Sellars. Pursuing these clues Detective Murray learned that she was employed with a family up the river. Being a free agent, no effort will be made to bring her back. The girl had announced her intention of leaving Anderson's about a fortnight before her disappearance to a Mr.

Rattan v. G. T. R. was an action for $5000 for the killing of the plaintiff's son at Paris The judge dismissed the case without letting it go to the jury.

This morning the seduction case came up for hearing and lasted about two hours. The action was styled David Stewart v. George Davidson and was for $1000 damages. The plaintiff is a night watchman and the defendant a knitter in one of the mills. In the mouth of October last the defendant seduced the plaintiff's daughter, Mary Stewart, aged 42 years, thereby depriving the plaintiff of her services, and putting him to medical and other expenses for which he claimed damages. The defendant denied that he seduced the woman and all knowledge of the affair. The jury after being out a short time brought in a verdict of $600 for the plaintiff.

A slander case, Griffin v. Weaver, is being eard. The defendant circulated reports to the effect that the plaintiff and one Griffin had stolen his syrup, burnt his sugar pans and broken his dippers, for which slanderous statement the plaintiff, Emerson Ramey, is suing for $2000.

the Top. PARHAM, Oct. 5 .- Parham has little to fire two months ago, but to-day she is able to point with a feeling of pride to the fact that one of her boys, Joseph Goodfellow, who lives a little west of the village, came out head of the freshmen year of 1891 92 at the late examinations at Queen's university The aggregate number of marks he made in the honor and pass subjects gave him the proud distinction. Your correspondent together with the whole community join in congratulating so hard working a young man. They feel proud to own him and hope that his future may be more brilliant still. He has gone to take charge of a government school near Owen Sound. George Gray had a narrow escape, in Olden township, the other day. When out driving his horse shied at a man on the road and threw him out. He managed to keep a tight grip on the reins and escaped injury. James Bertram, farmer, of Crow Lake, died on Tuesday evening, Sept 22nd, and was buried the following Thursday in Parham burying ground. A large following of friends of the deceased were present, both at the church in Parham and at the grave. Lloyd Goodfellow has lately been fixing up a building opposite Bertram's blacksmith shop, to be used as a hall for any purpose, and it will be specially suitable, now that the winter is drawing near, for sociable reunions of one kind or another. The man rent it to any star, operatic or theatrical company which may, in doing this continent or Europe, care about giving us a few nights here. BORDENTOWN, N.J., Oct. 8,-When Mrs. Delia S. Parnell was informed of the death of her son, Charles Stewart Parnell, she fell from her chair to the floor shricking and groaning. "Oh, my son, my Charles, they have killed you!" she moaned. She became hysterical, and it was some time before she was sufficiently composed to receive the particulars of her son's death. She is 76 years old and quite feeble and her grief was heartrending. She is now suffering from hysterics. She hopes that the body will be embalmed so that she can see it laid away in the grave.

WHAT MR. M'CARTHY THINKS.

Complete Reunion of all Shades

Polities Among Irishmen.

LONDON, Oct. 8 -In an interview to-day Justin McCarthy said it was not possible to forecast the political effect of the death of Mr. Parnell. Mr. McCarthy added, however, that he hoped it would lead to a complete reunion of all shades of opinio voters' list. In this polling district about 100 names have been objected to. "Before the divorce proceedings," said the lamentable manifesto and I used all efforts in endeavoring to prevent him from issuing it to the public. My idea in trying to prevent him from so doing was that the issuance of the manifesto would make his further leadership of the Irish party an utter impossibility."

It was evident Mr. McCarthy and the numbers of his party were deeply affected at Mr. Parnell's death and that all feeling of animosity to the great Irish leader had sunk beneath the flood of socrow caused by his sudden and untimely death. Continuing, Mr. Met arthy said that those who followed Mr. Paraell's leadership until the last moment had done so purely out of Some years ago while the deceased was a spirit of personal devotion to the Irish eader adding: "With the removal of his personality our separation as a party ceases. struck by lightning.
