THE FRESHIES FAVORED

THEY WERE THE OBJECTS OF SPECIAL CARE LAST NIGHT.

An interesting time in Queen's University was the Y. M. C. A. gave a Reception to the Students of the First Year—How the Time was Delightfully Passed.

The Y. M. C. A. of Queen's, the Royal and Women's medical colleges, to the freshmen in those three institutions of learning was attended by a large number of students.

The crowd, composed of the students and the delegates from the various sister colleges to the inter-collegiate minority athletic convention, began to arrive at 7 o'clock and by 8:15 p.m. a convention hall was filled to its utmost capacity.

After the Rev. M. Macgregor had opened the proceedings for the evening, after the guests had spent a few moments in perusing the program, in the course of which the music, the library and the reading room were visited, the Rev. M. Macgregor, in his address, referred to the third story of the building where refreshments, fitted to satisfy the ravages of an appetite, were served by the ladies.
