TO DRENCH THE COASTS.

A TASK DEVOLVING UPON THE ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT.

The war department realized ten years ago that the establishment of a strong coast and harbor defense was an imperative guarantee of peace.

Some time has passed since plans were prepared for the fortification of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Hampton Roads, Washington, New Orleans, San Francisco and other cities.

The engineering department is now constructing fortifications, mortar, dynamite guns and disappearing batteries at New York, Boston, Baltimore and San Francisco.
