SECOND - HAND BOOKS

BURDETTE'S PHILOSOPHY.

COMPANIONS IN SUFFERING. Mrs. Humphrey Ward, the author of "Robert Elsmere," complains that she has only received $500 for the American edition of her book, although 100,000 copies have been sold here.

A CHRISTMAS REMINISCENCE. What strange ideas some people have in regard to the entertainment of children. Last Christmas I attended a Christmas entertainment in a church; a live, active, intelligent membership it had, too, and no country church it was, neither. It was well located in a busy city of 100,000 inhabitants.

1. Dirge on the organ. The programme did not give the name of the dirge, but it was played with a wailing melancholy that made your flesh creep. I thought I must have stumbled upon a "Good Friday" exercise, but no; aglance at the programme again assured me that this "dirge" was the initial number of the birthday exercises.

2. A middle aged mourner followed the dirge with a recitation about a little boy who died rather than tell a lie. The moral was grand indeed, but somehow the introduction of an early and tragic death in the second number of the "entertainment" seemed to have a depressing effect upon the congregation.

3. A sunburst of childish brightness. Seven little girls gave a charming little exercise about the "days of the week." June sunshine couldn't be brighter or more welcome in December.

4. Sad recitation by a boy with a toothache. He leaned sideways and turned perfectly rigid when he faced the audience. After a moment of embarrassing silence he unlocked his jaw and let her go.

5. The organist covered the girl's retreat with the "Dead March in Saul," and a dull, sickening shudder thrilled through the room.

6. A singing society of eight young people sang "I Would Not Live Always." A nervous looking brother sitting near me asked me in a low whisper for the loan of my razor "to kill rats."

7. A beautiful song, flute obligato, sung like a bird, by a beautiful girl, entranced the congregation and dispelled the air of resignation which was settling down upon the house like a cloud.

8. A girl recited "Nobody's Child" so forlornly that it cast a gloom over the entire community.

9. A young man sang "Dublin Bay" in good dramatic style, and the way he strewed the fatal beach with ghastly corpses when the flowing tide came in would have chilled the heart of a veteran undertaker.

10. A young lady recited a poem in which an old man died sitting bolt upright in his chair, after which his faithful old colored servant doubled himself up in a heap and at his master's feet and died hard.

11. A bright young lady, with a clear voice and excellent dramatic action recited "The Burial of Moses." By this time the congregation had caught the spirit of the meeting, and the "Burial" was rapturously enjoyed.

THE TEA TABLE.

The Cream of the Papers Gathered For the Whig Readers. Rev. W. F. Wakeman, Portchester, N. Y., has opened a "Ministerial and church supply bureau."

Gen. Alexander S. Webb, for nineteen years president of the college of the city of New York, has always said that when the reading of the bible at the opening every morning should cease he would go.

For Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint you have a printed guarantee on every bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. It never fails to cure. W. J. Wilson, druggist.

A new sect has been formed at Manaco, called the "Brotherhood of the Sons of God." Its members abstain from tobacco, flesh, intoxicants, and favouring an ascetic life.

For coughs and colds take the Diamond Cough Remedy, composed of elecampane, wild cherry and horshoeod. 25 and 50 cents a bottle at Wade's drug store.

Bendin, the French naturalist, says that the average dog, cat or horse has all the intelligence of the average human being, and if given the same attention that a child receives would eventually understand everything said to them.

Are you made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, loss of Appetite, Yellow Skin? Shiloh's Vitalizer is a positive cure. W. J. Wilson, druggist.

Mrs. Austin Dobson, wife of the well-known poet, has taken up the profession of letters, having just published "Cherryburn," a volume of short stories.

The Rev. Geo. H. Thayer, of Bourbon, Ind., says: "Both myself and my wife owe our lives to Shiloh's Consumption cure." W. J. Wilson, druggist.

Rider Haggard writes in a pleasant corner room of his charming old manor of Ditchingham, which is overrun with Bankia roses, crematis and jarmine.

Women with pale, colourless faces, who feel weak and discouraged, will receive both mental and bodily vigor by using Carter's Iron Pills, which are made for the blood, nerves and complexion.

A London author has written thirty novels in three years. This beats the record of any living man, but the writer's enormous labor has brought him only 1,000.

Harsh purgative remedies are fast giving way to the gentle action and mild effects of Carter's Little Liver Pills. If you try them, they will certainly please you.

The United States marshal in New York says that 60 per cent. of all the counterfeiting done in this country is the work of Italians. He plays the hand organ to cover deeper schemes.

William Marvin, a Skowhegan man worked for thirteen years to make a clock of straw, and when he got it in running order the other day a New Yorker offered him $6 for the curiosity.

The best anodyne and expectorant for the cure of colds and coughs and all throat, lung, and bronchial troubles, is, undoubtedly, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Ask your druggist for it, and, at the same time, for Ayer's Almanac, which is free to all.

A Wisconsin Norwegian who got into a fight received thirteen knife wounds and a bullet in the shoulder, and yet he walked nine miles and worked three-quarters of a day before he even had his hurts dressed.

The weakness and debility which result from illness may be speedily overcome by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This is a safe, but powerful tonic, assists digestion, regulates the liver and kidneys, and cleanses the blood of all germs of disease.

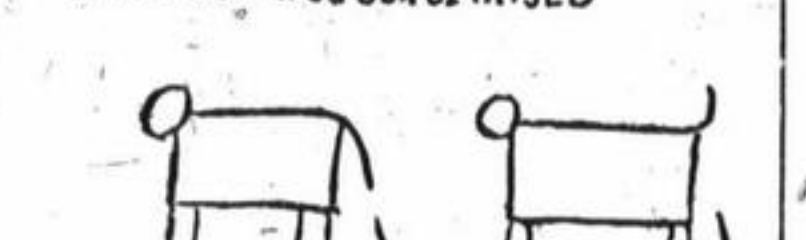

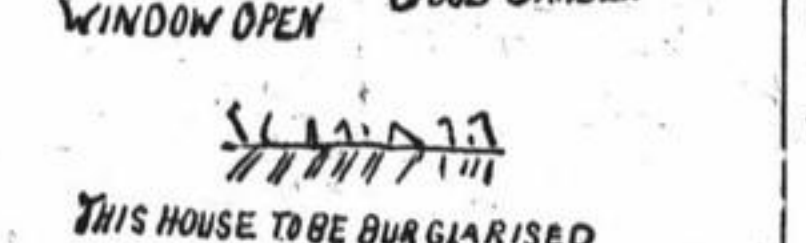

The English sparrows were driving the mocking birds and orioles out of the south until the different localities interfered and made war on them. Not a sparrow can now be found in some of the southern cities.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had children, she gave them Castoria.

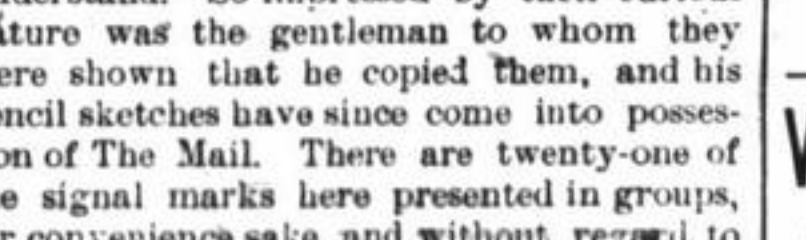

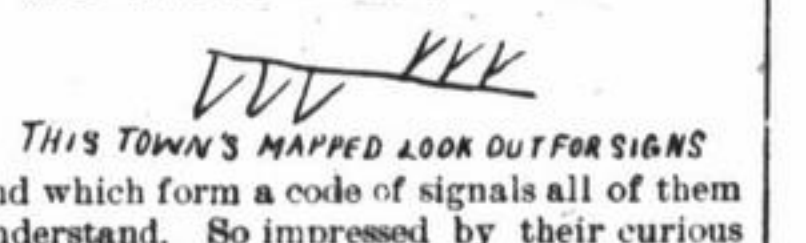

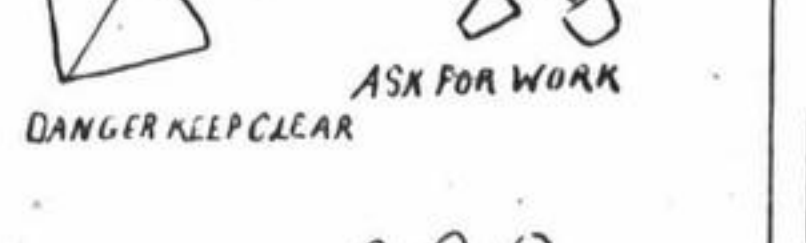

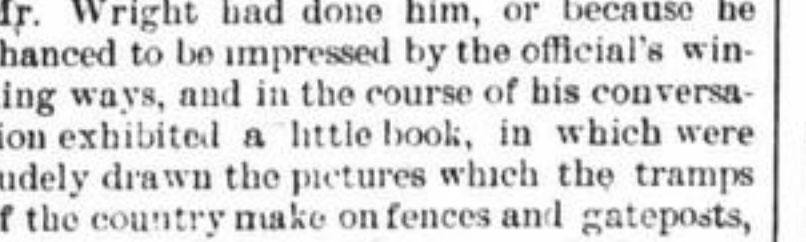

Few Think Of the wonderful processes constantly being conducted within the human body, and all are prone to forget that new blood must be supplied to replace the effete and disintegrating atoms, which, if allowed to remain within the body, do so at the peril of health if not of life itself.

THE TRAMP'S SIGNAL CODE.

Various Signs That Mean Much to Those Who Understand Them. A custom house official in Port Huron, Mich., Mr. Pulteny Wright, had a good natured talk not long ago with a gentleman of elegant leisure. The gentleman of elegant leisure was one who had "done time," and who is at present a tourist; that is, he belongs to the great army of tramps, and is a past master in the order. He became affable and communicative because of some favor Mr. Wright had done him, or because he chanced to be impressed by the official's winning ways, and in the course of his conversation exhibited a little book, in which were rudely drawn the pictures which the tramps of the country make on fences and gateposts, where burglaries may be committed or where vengeance may be gratified for some rebuff. As works of art the drawings are not remarkable, but as parts of a rude sort of historic language they are certainly rather striking. Some of them have a grim humor. —Chicago Mail.

Chances of temperature and weather frequently upset persons who are most careful of their health and particular in their diet. These corrective, purifying and gentle aperient pills are the best remedy for all defective action of the digestive organs.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children.
