

CATARAQUI BRIDGE CO.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF IT OCCURS MONDAY AFTERNOON.

The Mayor in the Chair—He Wants More Information Than He Gets—But He is Not Through with the Matter Yet—The Services of the Engineer are not Rewarded.

The annual meeting of the Catarauqui bridge company was held in the council chamber yesterday afternoon.

The first business was the reading of the annual report, which comprised the treasurer's and auditors' report.

The balance on deposit with Mills & Kent from 1887 was $1,429.83; the receipts on tolls making $1,403.82; rent $1,955.20; telegraph company $220; old planks sold $10.10; interest on bank account $15.09; a total of $4,818.

Before the reports were adopted the mayor asked for an inventory of the stock on hand, the valuation of it, and the names of the valuers.

Mr. Strachan volunteered an answer from memory, but the mayor would not receive it. He wanted a written report.

Mr. Strachan, sr., superintendent of the bridge, again attempted a report regarding the valuation of the stock, but the mayor would not have it.

Mr. Strachan nevertheless presented a statement about the stock on hand. There was 10,000 feet of joisting, at $25 per M.

The mayor pointed out that in 1886 Mr. Irving, the city engineer, got $50 for the superintendence of the bridge.

Mr. Simpson explained that Mr. Irving was paid because he did work for the bridge throughout the year.

The mayor—I notice that some of the directors don't do business for the company gratuitously, and I don't see why the city engineers should work for nothing.

Mr. Strachan, sr., said Mr. Bolger had been sent to work for the company by the mayor himself.

The mayor denied that Mr. Bolger submitted a report to the company regarding the cost of repairs to the bridge at his suggestion.

Mr. Strachan, sr., said the report of the city engineer was not acted upon.

Mr. Simpson thought the engineer should send in his bill. He had no doubt the company would reward him.

Mr. Muckleston suggested that Mr. Bolger be given $10, but the matter was deferred.

The mayor was told that no report, setting forth what it would cost to keep the bridge in repair this year, had been prepared.

The following directors were then selected: Messrs. I. Simpson, Sheriff Ferguson, M. Strachan, J. S. Muckleston and the mayor.

Mr. I. Simpson was elected president, and Messrs. Voigt and Clark auditors.

Complaint to the Mayor.

Mr. Donaldson, toll collector on Catarauqui bridge, was decidedly in earnest when he stated to the mayor that some of Kingston's most prominent citizens frequently try to cheat him by attempting to drive over the bridge without paying the toll.

Chief Horsey advised Mr. Donaldson to bring people who would not pay their toll without coaxing before the magistrate.

THE INAUGURAL BALL.

An Event of Much Importance at the Royal Military College Last Night.

The Royal military college was last evening the scene of unusual festivity, being the occasion of the inaugural ball given by the recently appointed commandant, Major General Cameron, and Mrs. Cameron. The spacious rooms and corridors were a blaze of light and most tastefully decorated, and with the handsome dresses and beautiful figures of the ladies, the gay uniform of the military and other guests, the spectacle was one of much fascination.

The music was of a high order, to the evening strains of which dancing was kept up with ceaseless animation till an early hour this morning. A superb supper crowned the gracious efforts of the gallant major-general and his charming wife. If a sanguine hospitality is a fair index of the administrative ability of the new commandant we may be assured that the successor of Col. Hewitt and Major-General Oliver at the Royal military college will be a pronounced success.

The Architect also strongly opposes the proposed removal of galleries, as tending to spoil the original architectural plan and effect.

Rev. Mr. Walker has been called to Quebec to attend an ordination service.

On being asked last evening if the report was true that he intended to resign his seat in the Ontario legislature and try for the dominion government, Mr. J. H. He considered he was as much entitled to the nomination as any other man in the conservative party. And when Mr. Metcalfe thinks so the party will not differ with him.

HIGH LICENSE NO GOOD.

AS A TEMPERANCE MEASURE IT IS UTTERLY FUTILE.

What the Votes Has to Say on the Subject—Some Statistics that Cannot be Disposed of—High License a Success As a Revenue-Raiser, But that is all.

KINGSTON, Jan. 26.—(To the Editor.) In a late issue of your paper you discuss the pros and cons of "high license." The following items, clipped from an article published in the Voice of Jan. 24th, may serve in my opinion to show the utter futility of it as a temperance measure, Yours etc., PROHIBITION.

Worcester, Mass., supplied us with a test that complies perfectly with the condition our critics insist upon. This city has had successively prohibition, low license, and now $750 high license. All through the trial of the three systems there has been the same mayor, the same city marshal, and the same general police officers and police regulations. The conditions could not be fairer for a test. What are the results? Here they are:

Table with 2 columns: License Type, Arrests for Drunkenness. Rows: Prohibition (Year ending May 1 1887: 1,682; May 1 1888: 3,543), Low License (Six months of present year: 1,763), High License (present year: 1,763).

Here we see that under low license the arrests more than doubled, and that for six months under high license there were more arrests than for the whole year under prohibition.

Listen again to the Chicago Daily News, April 9, 1888: "We have had high license in Illinois five years, and while it is a success as a revenue measure it is an undisguised failure as a temperance measure. It in no way checks the consumption of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, nor does it in the least degree lessen the evils or crimes from such use. The dives and dens, the barrel houses and thieves' resorts are as bad and as frequent in this city to-day, after five years of high license, as they ever were. Call high license what it is, an easy way to raise a revenue from vice, but let there be an end of endorsing it as a temperance or reform measure."

In the five years the population of Chicago has increased 35 per cent.; the consumption of beer increased 100 per cent.; the arrests for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, 53 per cent.; arrests of all kinds, 42 per cent. Says the Chicago Times: "The revenue of Chicago is bottomed on a beer barrel." Yes, and the saloon through high license, is entrenched behind the cupidity of the tax payers, entrenched as never before.

Charleston, W. Va., tried low license in 1885, with 423 arrests for crime; prohibition in 1886, with 226 arrests; and high license in 1887, with 496 arrests.

Peter Her is president of the liquor dealers' association of $1,000 high license Nebraska. Says he, after six years of the trial of that law in his state: "High license has not hurt our business, but, on the contrary, has been a great benefit to it. I do not think that it lessens the quantity of liquor used, but places it in fewer hands."

I have an extensive acquaintance through this state, and I believe if it were put to a vote of the liquor dealers and saloon men whether it should be high license, low license, or no license, that they would almost unanimously be for high license.

Mr. Her is probably the largest whiskey distiller in America. His distilleries are in $1,000 high license Omaha. Surely this man, who is a large distiller and is president of the liquor dealers' association in the oldest high license state, is a competent judge of the effect of high license on the liquor trade.

We ask our opponents to meet the above arguments in a fair, frank way. Let high license advocates meet them fairly and fully or abandon this monstrous delusion which has so nearly side tracked the present temperance agitation.

In addition to all we have said above let high license advocates remember facts like these: The liquor dealers' association of Illinois have recently declared that the high license law of that state was working satisfactorily to them. What is satisfactory to the liquor dealers should not be satisfactory to the churches, surely should not be satisfactory to temperance people.

What About Our Normal School?

KINGSTON, Jan. 29.—(To the Editor.) In looking over your report of the address from the throne at the opening of the legislative assembly I mark with regret that nothing was said concerning a Normal school for Kingston.

Are we not entitled to one, and did not the Dominion government reserve a site in the west end for that purpose?

Some time ago certain parties formed a syndicate to purchase the above property for speculative purposes, but they found out on inquiry that the Ontario government had not the power to convey. The grant was made conditional, and if the Ontario administration refuse or neglect to grant us a Normal school they forfeit their right to the property and it reverts to the Federal government.

It is well for the citizens of Kingston to know that the Dominion government made the grant for Normal school purposes only, and that those who think it can be secured, either by the land grabber or for the collegiate institute, are labouring under a mis take.

There are other good sites that can be secured by the collegiate institute without interfering with the Normal school grounds, and the intelligent citizens who appreciate the good work of the institute will generously aid them. You strongly advocated the city's rights in this matter on more than one occasion. Please do so again, and you will earn the gratitude of all who have Kingston's interest at heart—Yours truly, J. A. D.

A Very Good Joke.

At the entertainment held at the penitentiary on Saturday one of the performers got off a very good joke. He asked, "Why does Warden Lavell deserve the sympathy of the community?" The question was not answered, and the speaker said: "Because he has more felons on his hands than any other man in this district."

COUNTERFEITING PILLS.

A Deliberate Attempt Made to Flood the Country With Bogus Pills.

Morning Journal, New York. A manufacturing druggist named Luzon J. Finch is under bail charged with a stupendous fraud upon the public. Finch lives at 310 Pleasant avenue, and runs a drug factory at 36 Gold street. On evidence that he has been imitating trademarks and flooding the market with bogus pills the grand jury has found a true bill against him. Yesterday Recorder Smyth issued a warrant for his arrest, which Detective Kiernan executed.

Armed with a search warrant Detective Von Gerichten and assistants raided the pill factory in Gold street. Here samples of over ten thousand fraudulent imitations of a trade mark were found. These, with enough pills to restore the shattered nerves of a nation, were seized by the searching party and stored away in the receiving vaults under the district-attorney's office.

Brent Good, of 57 Murray street, is manager of the Carter medicine company, a corporation under the general law of the state. The company owns a trade mark affixed to a valuable manufacture known as "Carter's Little Liver Pills." This trade mark was adopted in 1874 by Dr. Carter, a well-known physician. Wishing to retire from business he sold the trade mark and good will and full right to manufacture his specialty to persons who in 1880 sold out their interest to the "Carter medicine company." Over $1,000,000 have been spent by the present concern in advertising their business.

About three months ago Manager Good was informed that Finch was manufacturing pills in enormous quantities and putting them up in a style similar to those of the "Carter Little Liver Pills," packed in a similar bottle, and wrapped both up in a label which was nothing more nor less than an impudent imitation of the genuine one. Hundreds of druggists were being supplied by Finch with bogus Little Liver Pills, and the fraud was becoming more general as the false manufacturer was inserting in the label or wrapper the name of any retailer who might desire it to be done, and while the spurious article was being sold at ten cents a bottle, the genuine one cost twenty-five cents. Of course these retailers were parties to the fraud and are all liable to prosecution.

Joseph E. Moore, of 135 Newark avenue, Jersey City, is a retail druggist for many years in business. With several other gentlemen of his profession he has been subpoenaed as a witness by Assistant District-attorney John D. Lindsay, who is conducting the case for the Parter people. Two New York druggists who will assist the prosecution are J. W. Linton, of Seventeenth street, and Frederick D. Brown, of 244 Sixth avenue. Brown was supplied with 50,000 Little Liver Pills. Finch was accommodating enough to furnish printed wrappers telling Brown to save money and pack the pills himself. The colour of the wrapper, the printing, and the general appearance of the false are the same as the genuine. A variety of clumsy devices has been restored to by the bill coun erfeiter to evade the law, the most notable being the substitution of the letter 'h' for the letter 'c' in the word "Carter," thus making "Dr. Harter's Little Liver Pills." This, however, is only one instance out of several thousand.

Finch has made himself amenable to the criminal law. The grand jury has indicted him. The evidence would enable the court to convict him of fraud on different charges exactly 250 times. The punishment is imprisonment for not more than one year, or a fine of not more than $500, or both.

Before Recorder Smyth the prisoner pleaded "not guilty." Lawyer Ambrose Purdy, who represented him, applied for bail, which was fixed at $1,000. Albert Plaut, of Lehn & Fink, the wholesale druggists, was accepted as a bondsman. According to the records of the district attorney's office the members of this wholesale drug firm were arrested some time ago on a charge of counterfeiting the trade mark of Theodore Merck, a celebrated German chemist. Their case was dismissed by the grand jury.

A NEW TROPHY PUT UP.

The Kingston Club will be in the Contest—Playing in Ottawa.

The secretary of the Quebec branch of the Royal Caledonian curling club has sent to the secretaries of the various affiliated clubs a circular containing announcement of the arrangements for the competitions for the new trophy given by the branch.

The conditions in the past have been a "points" game on the competing clubs' own rinks, sixteen players per club, the two clubs having the highest number of points to meet in Montreal and play two rinks a side. The trophy became the property of the club winning it oftener in five years.

The trophy finally became the property of the Ottawa club last year, and it has been decided to continue the competition under the different arrangements, and a new trophy costing $250 will be played for.

The affiliated clubs, sixteen, have been divided into two groups, having Montreal and Ottawa for their centres. The Ottawa groups will meet next week, unless the majority prefer to go to Montreal during carnival week, and play rink games of twenty five "ends" two rinks per club. The Montreal group will meet next week, and the winning club will play the deciding game in Montreal the end of next week. The successful group is entitled to have its name engraved on the trophy, and to hold it until the first of January next.

This mode of competition will be continued for five years, at the end of which time the successful clubs will decide the cup's final possession by the playing off among themselves. The clubs in the Ottawa group are the Ottawa, Governor General's, Rideau (Ottawa), Kingston, Arnprior, Renfrew, Carillon; in the Montreal group, Montreal, Histic, Caledonia and Heather, and all of Montreal, Quebec, St. Johns and Stoney Creek.

Getting Out the Timber.

Capt. Rothwell was in the city to-day. He has been, since the closing of navigation, carrying on business in Ernestown, where he owns a large saw mill, close to Little Lake. He has been in the woods getting out cedar, elm and ash. Last week, with two teams, 100 loads of timber was drawn to the mill. In this establishment there are large boilers and two engines. The output of the mill is forwarded to the front and shipped. Thirty thousand feet of timber was sent to Gananoque last week.

The Kick Out $3.

The county council objected to a bill sent in by Mr. Gallenger, contracting mason, amounting to $163, for work done to the court house. The matter was referred to a special committee to settle. An architect looked over the work and decided that the bill was not exorbitant. At his recommendation the bill was paid, and he got $3 for his advice.
