WIT AND HUMOUR.

Crushed.

"You seem to be in trouble," said a philanthropic citizen as he paused before an old man, who sat on one of the benches in the City-Hall park looking the picture of woe; "what's the matter?" "Yes, I am in trouble—right into it deep," replied the old man, mournfully. "Are you sick, or out of work, or anything of that kind?" went on the gentleman.

"No, that ain't it," said the old man, "but my boy, 'bout 12 years old, has been took up for stealin'."

"That's bad—is there anything in it, do you think?"

"Yes, he was takin' a shirt from the front of a store in the Bowery, when the cop grabbed him."

"That is very sad, very," said the kind-hearted gentleman. "There can't be anything much harder than to have such a boy. No wonder you feel discouraged."

"Yes," replied the old man, as he looked at the ground, "it's pretty tough at my age to have that kind of a boy. And there hain't no excuse for it, neither; I told him he'd got to be mighty keeful or they'd snatch him. I guess the next time I want a shirt I'll lift it myself and not trust no boy. You well say it is sad. I once thought that boy would be a comfort to my declinin' years, but it seems it ain't to be."—New York Tribune.

Simplified.

"Of what denomination are de chile?" asked an old colored preacher of a young couple who had brought an infant to him for baptism.

"Sah?" said the young father, evidently perplexed by the word "denomination."

"I axed you ob what denomination de chile war," repeated the minister, a little severely.

The parents looked at each other in evident confusion for a moment; then the father stammered out: "I—I—I don't know what you mean by 'denomination,' sah."

"Hough, you don't," replied the preacher, scornfully. "Well, den, I'll simplify it 'coridin' to yo' intenance so yo' kin understand it: Are de chile a boy or a gal child?"—Youth's Companion.

An Embarrassing Mistake.

Well Supplied Already. "Any news in the paper this morning, Samantha?" inquired Mr. Chugwater, as he came down to breakfast.

"Not much," replied his wife. "Seems to be hardly any—yes, here is a 'Strange Story in regard to Mme. Patti—Readers of The Morning Paralyzer will be surprised to learn that this gifted prima donna"

"Samantha," interposed Mr. Chugwater, "before you become too deeply interested in that item of news permit me to remind you that we don't need any toilet soap. There are seven kinds in the house already."—Chicago Tribune.

A Crushing Blow. "May I look through your waste basket?" inquired the young man, entering timidly.

"Certainly," said the editor. "What do you want to find?"

"A little poem on 'Mortality' that I sent in yesterday."

"My dear sir, that poem was accepted and will appear tomorrow. I will draw you a check for $25, and I assure you"—But he spoke to lifeless ears. The young man had fallen to the floor. The shock had killed him.—Chicago Tribune.

B. W. Washburn and N. T. Lowe have been appointed delegates from Deseronto to the meeting of the Royal Templars of temperance, at London, on the 12th inst.

A spring medicine is needed by everyone. Winter food, largely consisting of salt meat and animal fats, causes the liver to become disordered and the blood impure, hence the necessity of a cleansing medicine. The best is Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The Rev. Mr. Wilkins, Trenton, has been summoned to St. John, N. B., to attend the funeral of his father.

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has given me great relief in bronchitis. Within a month I have sent some of this preparation to a friend suffering from bronchitis and asthma. It has done him so much good that he writes for more."—Charles F. Dumterville, Plymouth, England.

Despondency and Depression Too often result from causes, at the beginning easily remedied, but neglected most difficult to remove. The liver, allowed to become torpid and inactive, paves the way for a host of diseases, constipation giving away to indigestion, until at last the unfortunate victim has to undergo all the horrors of acute dyspepsia. No remedy so speedily and with such certainty corrects all diseases of the liver and stomach and bowels as Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Vegetable in composition and always safe. Sold by Polson & Co., Kingston, and by dealers everywhere.

A Sure Remedy for Neuralgia. Neuralgia is one of the most common and painful affections incidental to this climate. Life to thousands is made miserable through its agency, and as it affects the nerves, only the most powerful and penetrating remedies can reach it. Nerviline has created wonder in the minds of those who have uselessly tried other remedies, since its action seems magical. To all suffering from any kind of nerve pain, internal or external, we suggest a trial of Nerviline. Sold by all dealers in medicine, 10 and 25 cents a bottle.

The following officers of the Deseronto band are: Jas. Stokes, president; Jas. Butler, vice president; S. Cronk, secretary; T. Moyse, financial secretary; Jas. Gammon, treasurer; A. B. Leggett, W. Bowen, and E. Hull, property committee.

A Fatal Attack. A fatal attack of croup is a frequent occurrence among children. Every household should be guarded by keeping Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam at hand. It breaks up colds, coughs, croup, asthma and bronchitis in a remarkable manner.

Are You Going to the Ball. Not unless I get a tube of Dyer's Cucumber and Rose Jelly for my poor hands. Look how they are chapped. It will cure them at once. You shall have it sure. Druggists keep it. Wm. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal.

Miss Ventress, Trenton, who went with a sleighing party of young people to Brighton, to a dance, was taken suddenly ill while dancing. A physician being called pronounced it an attack of inflammation, which proved so severe that she had to be left behind.

B. B. B. Stood the Test. "I tried every known remedy I could think of for rheumatism, without giving me relief, until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters, which remedy I can highly recommend to all afflicted as I was." Henry Smith, Milvelton, Ont.

Very Valuable. "Having used B.B.B. for biliousness and torpid liver, with the very best results I would recommend it to all thus troubled. The medicine is worth its weight in gold." Tillie White, Manitowaning, Ont.

Things one would rather have left unsaid. "You can't go home when its raining like this. You'd better stay and have dinner with us!" "Oh, its not quite so bad as that!"

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

Good Form in Invitations for a Variety of Occasions.

For afternoon teas, receptions and musical parties, many ladies use their own visiting cards, writing in the day and hour, as: Mrs. James Thompson, At Home, Thursday, December seventh, Music at five o'clock, 132 Beacon Street, or Mrs. Thomas Gifford Brooks, Friday, February sixth, Tea at five o'clock, 46 Quincy Street.

The above two formulas, from invitations written on visiting cards, are given by Good Housekeeping, which adds: Some ladies prefer to have the entire card engraved, especially for large and handsome receptions, but it is not necessary to do so. For evening receptions it is convenient to have large "at home" cards printed, with a space left for the date and hour. These are also used for dancing parties and balls at private houses:

Mrs. Grenville At Home, Wednesday, December fifth, At nine o'clock, 137 Fifth Avenue, Cotillon.

The above form was used for a large ball which took place at Newport during the past summer.

Device for a Letty Seal. If a writer possesseth not a crest—that is to say, if he or she is too indifferent or penurious to indulge in so inexpensive a luxury—why, the best device for use in stamping the seal is either one large, heavy initial or an intaglio ring, with some fine, deeply cut antique figure upon it.

Bits of Social Wisdom. It is the duty of a young person to recognize an elderly one first.

In writing a note a young man should never be careless or familiar. He must make no ellipses or contractions, but fill out every word and line as if the duty were a pleasant one.

Indiscriminate kissing between ladies on the street and in public places is ridiculous and fast growing into disrepute among ladies of refinement. Kiss your friend, if you will, at parting, but not all of her friends who may be with her.

A black satin tie and a low hat is the proper thing with the new sack dress coat.

Never use nicknames or abbreviations on visiting cards.

Polite persons have an influence that is not due to their position or possessions, to their learning or their wit.

End of the Revolutionary War. Peace between the United States and Great Britain, which brought the war for independence to a close, was declared in September, 1783. No battle, however, was fought after the surrender of Cornwallis in October, 1781.

Fruit in England. England, says The Toronto Globe, pays $40,000,000 a year for foreign fruit. At the same time English fruit is believed to be so much better than foreign that Canadian and American apples are sold marked as "best English," and bring double prices when so marked. The landlord question lies at the root of the decline of English fruit growing. The planting of young trees which will not be of much value for five or six years is not a speculation that commends itself to either landlord or tenant.

He Had to Face It. "In which of his battles did Gen. Bly get that scar on his face?" inquired Mr. Snyder.

"He got that in a duel," replied Merritt, who thought she was taking an unusual interest in the old warrior. "You see that was the only one of his battles where he could not remain in shelter."—New York Evening Sun.
