HONEYMOON IN THE CELLS.

An Anarchist and His Bride Parted-Was Not a Good One After All.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 26. -Gustav Lehman, anarchist, for some time under arrest at the time of the Haymarket riot, has occupied his old cell at the Chicago avenue police station Lehman called at police headquarters and said he was no longer an anarchist, and to prove his fidelity to the laws desired that an officer be detailed as best man at his wedding, about to come off. Officer Nordrum volunteered his services and it was he who gave the blushing bride, Mrs. Emma Schleffler, away.

The happy pair started off and proceeded to celebrate their wedding by imbibing many glasses of beer. When they arrived at John Hartwig's saloon they were in a badly muddled condition, and refused to leave when ordered to do so.

"My husband is an anarchist," shouted Mrs. Lehman, "and if you interfere with him he will throw that bomb which he carries in his pocket." Lehman made a motion as though to produce a bomb, and the frightened saloon keeper rushed out and yelled for the police. The bride and groom were arrested, and though no bomb was found, the police discovered a huge revolver in Lehman's pocket. When the case was called by Justice

Kersten Acting Captain Schuettler asked for a continuance, as he had another and more serious charge which he wished to investigate.

THE SCAMP PIGOTT OFF.

HE COULDN'T STAND THE GREAT SCORCHING ANY MORE.

The Confusion Into Which the Case Has Been Thrown - A Warrant Out for l'iggett's Arrest-Davitt Thinks the Government and the "Times" Paid

Him to Clear Out. LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Parnell commission resumed its sitting this morning. After the opening of the court Sir Charles Russell arose and stated that on Saturday Richard Pigott went to the residence of Henry Labouchere, and in the presence of George Augustus Sala signed a confession, stating that the letters upon which the Times based its charge against the Irish members of the house of commons were forgeries.

Sir Charles Russell applied for a warrant for the arrest of Pigott. Presiding Justice Hannen said a warrant would be ready in an hour. Attorney General Webster, for the Times, said no other witness was ready, and that he would have to consider what course to pursue. He would also have to decide whether or not he would resume any part of the case. When Pigott was called to again take the stand he did not appear. After the court had waited for sometime the counsel for the Times stated to the judges that Pigott had left the hotel at which he was stopping at Il o'clock last night, and that the counsel were ignorant of his whereabouts. This statement caused a sensation. The court took a recess for half an hour at the expiration of which time if Pigott does not appear his papers at the hotel will probably be seized.

Points From the Confession.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Pigett, in his confes sion to Mr. Labouchere on Saturday, said he forged all the letters secured by the Times, which purported to have been written by Messrs. Egan, Parnell, Davitt and O'Kelly. He also admitted that he had been guilty of perjury in his evidence given before the commission.

Mr. Soames, solicitor for the Times, emphatically denies doing anything directly or indirectly to assist Pigott to make his Attorney General Webster said that yesterday morning Mr. Shannon received a letter from Pigott, and he would call Mr. Shannon to prove it.

Sir Charles Russell said he regretted that he had not heard of the letter earlier. He desired to put in evidence a letter from Mr. Egan to Mr. Labouchere. Attorney General Webster objected to the introduction of the letter. Sir Charles Russell said that owing to the Attorney General's objection he would not read the letter, but as the letter, with other documents, bore upon Pigott's disappear ance he claimed that in the interests of justice he should make a statement.

Jussice Hannen said that evidence must be called in support of the statement. Sir Charles acquiesced in this decision. He added thas the letter and documents showed the means of which he had fixed upon Pigott as the forger. Pigott confessed to Mr. Lewis, Mr. Parnell's solicitor, that he was the forger. Messrs. Labouchere and Parnell who were present when that confession was made would corroborate this statement, On Saturday Pigott, without invitation, called upon Mr. Labouchere, and stated that he desired to make a confession. Mr. Labouchere declined to listen to him unless witnesses were present, whereupon George Augustus Sala was summoned, and Pigott made the confession.

Sir Charles Russell also said that whatever course was adopted by Attorney General Webster he should pursue his own course, and should insist that the whole matter be thoroughly investigated because it was de Houston there had been a foul conspiracy He asked the court to impound the documents which arrived at Andertons, addressed to Pigott, in care of Houston.

Sir Charles added that Pigott had made his escape, assisted by a bodyguard consisting of an Irish constable and two Scotland yard detectives. Mr. Labouchere, Sir Charles said, had received a letter from Egan in July, 1888, in consequence of which a number of documents were handed to Mr. Labouchers. Sir Charles asked permission to call witness to testify to the information which the court ought to have.

Sir Charles Russell further said that Pigott, in the presence of George Augustus Sala, signed a confession that the documents he had produced were forgeries, and that he was the forger. This confession was sent to Mr. Lewis, who yesterday returned it to Pigott, saying Mr. Parnell refused to have anything to do with him.

Message to Chicago. CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—The following was re

ceived here this morning :

"ALEX. SULLIVAN, Chicago. "LONDON, Feb. 26. +Pigott has bolted. It is the general feeling here that the Times and the government have paid him to clear "DAVITT."

A Change of Base. Mr. Shannon, the Dublin solicitor, who is assisting the Times, was then called as a witness. He testified that on Sunday night Pigott gave him a written statement, denying the statement made to Mr. Labouchere that he had forged all the letters. Pigott said he believed that the first batch were genuine. In the second batch two of the Parnell letters were forged by himself and Casey. The third batch, consisting of let ters from Davitt and O'Kelly, were also forged by himself and Casey. Pigott added in his statement that having now stated the truth and confessed before the world the Times should deal leniently with him. Under the cross examination Mr. Shannon said he had taken no steps to prevent Pigott from bolting. He expected him to appear in court.

Sir Charles Russell demanded that the court summon the constable and detectives who were with Pigott in order that they might explain how he succeeded in getting away. Mr. Houston testified that Pigott had not taken his baggage with him. He produced the letters left for Pigott at Anterton's, but they contained nothing of importance. He also produced a letter Pigott had addressed to him on Saturday asking for a balance of £33 which Pigott said he had been often promised. Pigott, in the letter, said he was told that he would be prosecuted for perjury, and he wanted the money to send to his poor children.

Mr. Soames was called and produced letters Pigott had written to him. In one letter, dated November, 1888, Pigott complained that Houston, after informing him | better.

that the Times had agreed to pay him £5,-000, refused to make such a promise. Pigott claimed that according to agreement his name was to not be called, and he said that if called as a witness he would refuse to testify. He enclosed a letter from Mr. Macdonald in which the latter guaranteed that Pigott's name should not be given in any court. Pigott wrate that if he were compelled to appear in court he would consider it unfair treatment. He said he was convinced that the cross-examination would discredit his evidence. (Laughter.) He offered to make an affi davit, but hoped he would be allowed to leave the country. Mr. Soames replied that the agreement as to secrecy had been removed as Pigott's visits to Mr. Labouchere and others rendered full disclosures neces sary. The Times would see that Pigott was not harmed, as he confirmed in court the evidence he had given Mr. Soames and afterwards verified under oath. Mr. Soames was unable to sanction giving Pigott money to enable him to leave the country, but he consented to pay his expenses.

SLANDER KILLED HER-

The Sad Story of an Injured Woman's Suicide in Denver, Colorado.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 26. -A sad case came to light here. For several weeks slanderous stories have been in circulation regarding a Mrs. Nellie Carr. It was not until Thursday that her husband heard of the matter. and when he did he immediately turned his young wife out of doors, notwithstanding her protestations of innocence. She took a room at an hotel and her dead body found by a chambermaid next day. The unfortunate woman had taken poison. Among her effects was found this letter:

"Beloved Husband-Now that my miserable life is at an end, forget the past. I do not want you to grieve for me, for I know your love is all gone; nothing to hold us but the boys. I would not take them from you, and cannot live without you. Forget our quarrels and remember only the few happy hours we spent. Then do, for God's sake, for my sake, and for the little ones, stay with the children evenings until they are asleep. Oh, don't leave them at night. freely forgive you for every wrong you have done, as I hope to be forgiven for my many shortcomings. Bury me quietly; lay me be-side my sister. Let there be no crape worn for me. God knows I have never neglected them one hour wilfully. Oh, my little ones, how can I leave them! Educate my boys and teach them that their erring mother loved; but, Ben, let me say my last words: There was never a word of truth in the letters people wrote you. Think kindly of me, for my babies' sake.

"YOUR WIFE." (Signed,)

Another letter read : "My Darling Boys -I must say good bye forever. This is truly the hardest task of my life. Your little faces have been before me all day. Try to forget me as soon as possible, and don't forget that I died for love of you. Remember what I have taught you, that politeness, education and honesty make a man. My babies, if I were writing this with my heart's blood, it could not be harder to do. Oh, babies, try to make good men of yourselves. Do not grieve for me. It is best that I am gone. Really, I am so near crazy I cannot express my thoughts. Boys, remember one thing I tell you—that is, always sympathize with and respect a woman, no me er who she is, or in what position of life you find her. Good-bye, babies. Try to live as our broken-hearted mother would have.

MR. BARCLAY'S SAD MISTAKE.

A Secret Just Out-Haste Does Not Pay at all Times as One Knows.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—All Washington is splitting its sides over a story of social romance and misadventure which has just leaked out. Mr. G. Barclay of the British Legation, has of late been sufficiently epris of Miss Leiter, the beautiful western heiress, who has turned all Washington heads this winter. Mr. Barclay is the attractive young gentleman who won fame and money at the Knickerbocker club in New York by backing himself to drive to the Brunswick hotel, dress for dinner and return inside of ten minutes. He did actually accomplish this feat in seven minutes. It is undoubtedly owing to this nervous haste, abnormally developed in an otherwise rather slow nature, that Mr. Barclay has now to accept his present mortification. It seems that on Wednesday night Mr. Barclay felt the approach of the cold wave and purchased some of those warm woollen garments which sticks closer than a brother to a cold man's legs. The same afternoon he ordered a box of roses to be sent to his lodgings. Late for dinner as usual, he rushed home, dashed off a pretty note to Miss Leiter, saying: "Wear these this evening for my sake," and handed the note and the box containing the woolen goods to his servant, who duly delivered them, while the box of roses remained upon Mr. Barclay's table. Although perhaps not quite so grevious an international affront as Lord Sackville put upon us, the views of the British foreign office upon this latest misfit in diplomacy are awaited with some amusement and anxiety. As for Mr. Barclay's personal explanations, they are, of course,
