INTERESTING SKETCHES FOR OUR BOYS AND SIRLS.

The Song the Old Mill Wheel Sings as It Goes Round and Round from Morn Until Night and the Waters from It Splash.

Round and round the wheel goes, From early morn till night: The mill stream turns it as it flows, And then runs out of sight. But there the old mill wheel remains, And lets the mill stream run; And if it shines, or if it rains, It sings, at set of sun:

Drip, drip, drip, drip, drip, drip, drip, Many a wave from off me will bear a gallant

Drip, drip, drip, drip, drip, drip, drip, But for me the miller in the tavern could not

THE OLD MILL WHEEL. Round and round I cannot go

When the bleak winter comes, And wind and snow do bravely blow; But when the brown bee hums, I hear the children laugh and play. I hear the crackling corn, And merrily, all through the day. The gay wind blows his horn:

Turn, turn, turn, turn, turn, turn, turn, I make the fires in the cots upon the hillside

Turn, turn, turn, turn, turn, turn, turn, When man is older than the world he need not live to learn!

> Round and round I gayly turn From spring till autumn flies; My humble role I do not spurn, Nor pass my life in sighs. I do the very best I can

And try to be content; And, since my modest life began, I've sung, when day was spent:

I clothe the goodwives' children, and I fill the goodwives' dish! Swish, swish, swish, swish, swish, swish, The correl crack pays for the goodwives' meat

Swish, swish, swish, swish, swish, swish,

A Story for Little People.

A jolly old beast to ride is a donkey. Maria, whose picture is here given along with that of her son William, is, according to Little Men and Women, a peculiarly entertaining

MARIA ATT WILLIAM.

"You see how Maria sticks up her long ears, and looks as bright and knowing as canbe. But if you should get on her back or barness her up, down they would go, and she would look just as meek and pretend she was town Acta, a male just walk slow

"Dealeys are great humbugs, but they are knowing. And they are strong, too. They can draw big bads.

"But their bray is garful. Heeshaw! hees haw! is the way they go. My Unels John sa; . it sounds just like scraping a lot of old brass kettles together. "It's great fan to ride Maria backwards, with your back to her back. Then she sticks up her ears and goes! She likes the fun, I "In some countries they dress up their donkeys with little tinkling bells and bits of silver on their bridles, and blue and scarlet ribbons. "I think Maria would like this."

Prescriptions for Fits.

Though no doctor, I have by me some excellent prescriptions, and as I charge you nothing for them, you cannot grumble at the price. We are most of us subject to fits, and I am visited with them myself, and I dare say that you are also. Now, then, for my prescriptions. For a fit of passion, walk out in the open air. You may speak your mind to the wind without hurting any one, or proclaiming yourself to be a simpleton.

For a fit of idleness count the tickings of a clock. Do this for one hour, and you will be glad to pull off your coat the next and work like a negro.

For a fit of extravagance and folly, go to the workhouse, or speak with the ragged and wretched inmates of a jail, and you will be convinced-

Who maketh his bed of briar and thorn. Must be content to lie forlorn.

For a fit of ambition, go into the churchyard, and read the gravestones. They will tell you the end of ambition.

For a fit of repining, look about for the halt and the blind, and visit the bed ridden and afflicted, and they will make you ashamed of complaining of your lighter afflictions. For a fit of despondency, look on the good things which have been given you in this world. He who goes into his garden to look for cobwebs and spiders will find them, while he who looks for a flower may return into his house with one blooming in his button

A Problem in Threes.

How many kits would there be?

If three little houses stood in a row, With never a fence to divide, And if each little house had three little maids At play in the garden wide, And if each little maid had three little cats (Three times three times three), And if each little cat had three little kits,

And if each little maid had three little friends With whom she loved to play. And if each little friend had three little dolls In dresses and ribbons gay,

And if friends and dolls and cats and kits Were all invited to tea. And if none of them all should send regrets, How many guests would there be?

Mental Overwork.

The English Authropological society has been culling from reports of schoolmasters' observations on the symptoms of mental-fa= tigue. The observations reveal that weariness of mind reveals itself under the aspects of irritability and incapacity. Children at school showed such signs of mental irritability as sleeplessness and nervous laughter, while those who were fatigued could neither sleep nor get up their task work. The flagging will showed itself by lolling, yawning and a languid manner. Headache also resulted from overstrain in study, when combined with defective ventilation. The Loudon Lancet, commenting on these observations, says that mental and bodily overwork is the most general and the least regarded form of illness in this age. Its treatment requires that due attention be paid to the two great essentials of timely rest and wholesome diet. A man, says the Lancet, may work on a liberal scale, provided he will interrupt its continuity by timely and adequate intervals of rest and will eat heartily of plain food. So long as appetite and sleep are unimpaired there is little danger of overwork, but the failure of either is nature's warning signal that the strain must be relieved.

Suicides.

The statistics of suicides show that the number of them does not greatly increase year by year. In New York, from 1870 to 1884, suicides did not increase as rapidly as the population. They averaged the first three years of this period of fifteen years, 118, in the next three years (covering '73, '74 and '75), 155, in the next three years 140, and in the next three years but 145. But in the last three years, 82, 85 and 84, all hard years, suicides rose to 1%; but even this is not 50 per cent, greater than the hard years, '73, '74 and '75, although population has risen to this

Before Mrs. Ward was married her name was Mary Augusta Arnold. She is the eldest daughter of Thomas Arnold, M. A., of Uni versity e diege, and fellow of the Royal university of Ireland. She is granddaughter of Dr. Arnold Rugby and niece of the late Matthew Arnold. She was born in Hobart, the chief town of Tasmania, 120 miles southeast of Australia. In 1872 she was married to Thomas Humphrey Ward, fellow of Brasenose college, Oxford. Her home is 61 Russell square, London. .

The Longest River.

If we take the Mississippi and Missouri together they probably form the longest river in the world. The Amazon by name is only a thousand rules long. It then becomes the Solomoens. Taking its longest waterway, it is not so long as the Mississippi-Missouri, but longer than what we call the Mississippi. The Nile is supposed to have the longest waterway of any river in the world, but we must wait a little before accepting all the surmises concerning it.

Twentieth Century Begins.

The Tweatieth century begins the instant after midnight, Dec. 31, 1900. The reason is this: The First century didn't end with the year 90, but with the year 100, the Second with the year 200, the Nineteenth with the year 1900-just as your first hundred dollars ends with number 100, and your second begins with 101 and ends with 200. Some people absolutely won't see this.

Marriage Contract.

Marriage in itself is a double contract: (1) between the man and woman; (2) between them and the state. They have absolute power or their own contract. They may live together or separately. But over the contract between themselves and the state they have no control. They cannot annul it without the consent of the state given by its Danish Journals in America.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

ADVICE TO INVALIDS—If you wish to obtain quiet, refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorating the nervous media, and regulating the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff) to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis and Asthman.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dy-CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache. Meningitis, &c. From Symnes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5, 1880. To J. T. portunity of congratulating you upon the wide spread reputation this justly esteemed medicine. Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and judging from their sale, we fancy that their sojeurn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhea and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Cholera Diarrhea and have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Cholera, Diarrhosa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Coliis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we oweto the profession and the mobile of the profession and the pr the public, as we are of the opinion that the substitution of of any other than Collis Browne's is a DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH ON THE PART OF THE CHEMIST, TO PRESCRIBER AND PATIENT ALIKE. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharmacy Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

The Blending of Life.

And death is one of the mysterious functions of the human organism. They are constantly battling two rival elements; the one throwing off waste and effete matterdeath, the other to supply living atoms to build up and sustain-life. It is when the system grows sluggish, when the effete and dead particles, are not eliminated and remain to clog life's channe's, that Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut render greatest service. They cleanse the system, restore the liver to a healthy action, correct morbid secretions, renew the springs of life by making digestion more perfect, and proved by use the most perfect family medicine in existence. Accept no substitute for Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. At druggists and dealers in medicine.
