Of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver, and Kidneys, Ayer's Pills are taken with excellent results. Leing purely vegetable, they leave no iil effects, and may be safely administered to any one, old or young, in need of an aperient and cathartic. Physicians, all over the country, prescribe Ayer's Pills and recommend them as a good Family Medicine.

"If people would use Ayer's Pills," says Col. D. W. Bozeman, of Franklin, Texas, "in course, as you direct; very many of the serious ailments that come from torpidity or derangement of the liver and from malarful infections would to avoided. I have used these pills , boye a quarter of a century and know v hereof I attirm."

Herman Bringhoff, jewelry engraver, Newark, N. J., writes: "Costiveness, induced by my sedentary habits of life, became chronic. Aver's Pills afforded me speedy relief. Their occasional use has since kept me all right."

FARM AND GARDEN.

SUBJECTS RELATING TO FIELD AND GARDEN CROPS.

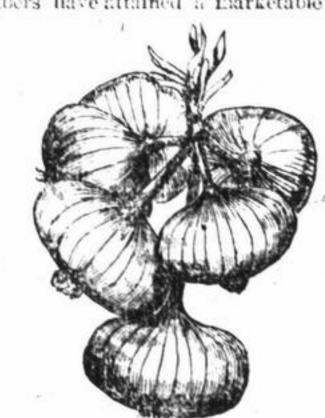

Novelties in Vegetables That Are Attracting Attention A Promising New and Early Potato-A New Early Onion and a Fine Bush Bean.

The catalogues of nurserymen, florists and seedsmen abound in novelties, for which many merits are claimed. While it is a sensible rule for the average EARLY MARKET POTATO. farmer to-plant, for his leading crops, such varieties as have been well tried and have furthermore succeeded in his own special locality, any enterprising man is willing to test each season, in a small way, one or more of the most promising new things offered. In the accompanying cut is illustrated a novelty in the way of potatoes for early market, which as trustworthy authority as Vick, of Rochester, N. Y., indorses.

He claims that in the "Early Market" has been gained a valuable addition to the "Ohio" class of potatoes. Early Market, while having the peculiar markings of the "Early Ohio," is quite distinct from that variety, the tubers being more clongated. As the name implies, this variety is especially recommended to grow for early marketing, as, according to the authority quoted, it is unsurpassed in quality by any potato in the early stages of growth or unripe condition, cooking dry and mealy as soon as the tubers have attained a marketable size.

WHITE PARLETTA ONION.

This point will be highly appreciated by market gardeners and others who grow potatoes for early market, and also by these who have their own little garden patch for early use. The tubers are medium to large, light pink or flesh color, with the specks peculiar to the "Ohio" class, oval oblong, very uniform in size, eyes flush with the surface; both stem and seed ends are round and full. It is a good keeper, retaining its excellent quality from the time of harvesting until the next planting season. Catalogued for the first time by James H. Gregory, Marblehead, Mass., is the White Barletta onion, which Mr. Gregery says is the earliest of all varieties of the onion family. It is of a fine white color, and bulbs raised from the seed sown will mature about as early as those raised from sets.

The leading seedsmen appear to be unanimous concerning the merits of L'enderson's new bush lima bean, which matures two weeks in advance of the common lima bean, and may be grown without poles. Most seedsmen send catalogues free of cost to any address on written application. As many of these catalogues are valuable guides, not only in the selection of varieties, but in directions given for cultivating the various crops, readers are advised to give such as are suited to their locality some at-

Agricultural Notes.

Vegetable seeds of most kinds are still good at the end of the second year.

Seed and plant catalogues are suggestive reading at this season.

A wrench and one or two tools for making repairs are easily carried in the farm wagon and come very handy at times.

Small potatoes boiled and mixed into the warm mash given in morning will help poultry along through the next two months.

A little charcoal occasionally is considered good for both swine and poultry. After washing a horse's feet and legs they should be thoroughly dried, otherwise cracked heels, etc., are invited. Ventilation should exist in well regulated stables, but draughts should be unknown.

The period of cheapest growth in an animal is before the animal matures.

An ingenious farmer and his boys can put together a variety of simple tools and conveniences for farm use in these comparatively leisure days. Tincture of asafætida is said to keep rabbits from attacking trees. It may be mixed up with clay and water and applied with a brush.

When laying pullets are purchased they frequently cease to lay on account of the change of house, run and surround-

With care ducks will often lay well through the winter; give them hot foed as far as possible, also boiled corn the last thing at night, when it is cold weather. Do not forget the grit; they require it as much as fowls, but it should not be so large as that given to fowls.

Southern Cultivator thinks it advisable to avoid the mixing of lime (or ashes) with stable manure unless, there be used also a large proportion of acid phosphate, the gypsum of which will fix the ammonia. This is all the more important where the stable manure is decompused.

COUNTY ROADS.

Suggestions About Their Improvement That May Be Found Useful.

To carry out a good system of roads in the county the improvement should begin at a central point (usually the county seat), affirms The World, which furnishes the following suggestions: From that point one or more of the most important roads should be selected for a permanent amendment. These should be kept up year after year until the present unsatisfactory condition has been thoroughly changed, not only to the advantage of farmers in conveying their products to market, but in giving an increased value to their lands.

Not every road can at once be reconstructed or greatly improved, nor is it necessary. Quite often farmers living on byroads will leave, home with a fair load and get along much better than they will after striking the main and more traveled road that leads to town. Such main roads should, therefore, be the first to have attention. Whatever is done should be with a view to permanence and availability for future improvement if not thoroughly completed at the time. The roadbed should not be too wide and the road should be sufficiently/raised and rounded so as to cause the water that falls on it to run off quickly.

Where the material is near at hand or the necessary means can be had the most used portions should be macadamized and finished at once. In communities not wealthy or thickly settled, the dirt road must of necessity remain the most common form for a long time, and where properly graded, constructed and kept in repair, will serve the ordinary travel of average farming communities quite well. Screened gravel and furnace eindera furnish a good covering for roads and should be used wherever available. However much may be done the two prime requisites for a good road should always be observed. These are an easy grade and the quickest possible riddance of the water that falls on the road.

The Blending of Life,

And death is one of the mysterious functions of the human organism. They are constantly battling two rival elements; the one throwing off waste and effete matterdeath, the other to supply living atoms to build up and sustain-life. It is when the system grows sluggish, when the effete and dead particles, are not eliminated and remain to clog life's channels, that Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut render greatest service. They cleanse the system, restore the liver to a healthy action, correct morbid secretions, renew the springs of life by making digestion more perfect, and proved by use the most perfect family medicine in existence. Accept no substitute for Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. At druggists and dealers in medicine.

The melancholy attempts of the Revs Messrs, Crombie, Smith's Falls, and Mc-Laren, Arnprior, to fasten a charge of heresy upon the Presbyterian student, Walter Russell, was exploded on Tuesday last at Renfrew by the Presbytery of Lanark and Renfrew, and ended in a fiasco.

Common Croup

Partly Gave Up.

In the year 1885 I coughed for six months, and having unsuccessfully tried many remedies, I partly gave up, thinking I had consumption. At last I tried Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, less than one bottle of which cured me, leaving me as well as ever I was." Henry W. Carns, Wabash, Ont.

Nothing Like It.

"I was troubled with liver complaint for a good many years, but was cured by one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters. I have never found any medicine to help me like B.B.B., in fact one bottle made a complete cure." W. J. West, Parkhill, Ont.

W. Bragg, Tamworth, left for British Columbia on Wednesday. On Monday the business men, numbering thirty, gave him an oyster supper.

Health Failing Fast.

I was swollen from head to foot from dropsy of six months' standing, and my health was failing fast, but after taking one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, I am quite well, and think there is no medicine equal to B B.B., and to it I remain a true friend." Joseph Heric, Linwood, Ont.
