The Scott Act Commendably Mentioned-The Needs of the Hour-Temperance Work Should be Kept Out of Party Politics-The Other Reports.

The spring session of the Kingston presbytery began in Cooke's church on Mouday afternoon. The moderator, Rev. Mr. Laird, presided. There were present Revs. Principal Grant, Dr. Williamson, Prof. Mowat, Gracey, G. Porteous, Young, Craig, Houston, Williams, George, Gallagher, Mackie, Maclean, W. Smith and W. Allen. Elders, Messrs. W. Guthrie, Fowler and A. G. Northrup.

The invitation of Mrs. Ross to the members of the presbytery, asking them to meet at the residence on Monday evening, was accepted.

Messrs. J. J. Wright, B.A., D. Fleming, B.A., J. McKinnon, B.A., and C. J. Cameron,"M. A., sent in applications for licenses. The report of the clerk regarding the translation of Rev. D. Kelso to Wallacetown was read. It is as follows: "That in agreeing to the translation of Rev. D. Kelso from the congregation of Roslin and Tnurlow the presbytery hereby record their esteem for him as a faithful minister of the gospel, as a member of the court, and in connection with its work within the bounds, and their earnest prayer to the God of all grace that the blessing of Christ and his spirit may of labour in which he is now settled in Wallacetown.

The session records of St. John's church, Pittsburg; Cooke's and Chalmers' churches, Kingston, were examined and found cor-

Reports were received from Revs. Messrs. Mackie, Macgillivray, Houston, Craig and Young respecting the supplemented congregations of Lanadowne, Pittsburg, Amherst Island, Camded Eighth and Tamworth, Camden and Newburg. Rev. M. Macgillivray read the report of the committee on temperance. Fourteen sessions replied that the evils of intemperance prevail in their midst to a very small extent. All the sessions report that there is much more drinking in the community than desirable, and that there is a gratifying improvement on the former condition of things. Wherever the Scott act is in force, within the bonds of the presbytery it is commendably mentioned. Whereever temperance organizations exist they render an invaluable aid. One session reported that it did not believe in prohibition. All the other sessions report that the people are faithfully warned against the spirit of intemperance. From the reports it appeared that the sessions of the presbytery are not an appreciable force in the great work of the church. Eight sessions report that license law prevails in their districts, and the remaining eight local option. Of the latter five sessions report that the law is now well enforced, the other that it is badly enforced. The causes of pa tial failure are stated to be the reluctance of officials to press second and third charges, the hostility of municipal authorities, public indifference, professed Christians pationizing and using strong drink, and in some cases the moral cowardice of the community. Six sessions answer that the people are not ready for prohibition, and seven answer in the affirmative. As far as the prevailing sentiment can be ascertained prohibition views are slightly advanced in the course of the year. A strenuous enforcement of the present liquor laws, license and local option, a constant and tireless agitation in favour of better laws, and a vigorous cultivation of temperance views in the Sunday and public schools will surely and speedily yield gracious fruits. If eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, eternal agitation and work must be the price paid for the reform of the liquor evils. There is no room for doubt on which side the victory will remain. The sessions urge that the temperance cause be kept free from the evils of party strife. The partial failure of existing laws is manifestly due to the unprincipled venality of poli ticians and their appointees; that the life and success of the work depend in keeping it out of the party aren. Five sessions advocate the appointment of license commissioners directly by the people. Party is so rampart in the law, and so centralizing in its tendency, that every possible means is used to serve its own ends, which often prove sorded ends indeed. Other sessions

He said the greatest evil in his district with respect to Sabbath observance was that on this day a good many people dine out at pleasure and gossipped at each other's houses. Report adopted.

tricts. In a few cases the voice is lifted in support of the Scott act and against repeal.

No session that has had experience of local option recommends a return to license law.

Rev. Mr. Young presented a report respecting the Sunday schools, and it stated there were 485 teachers and officers engaged in Sabbath school work. There are 3,764 scholars on the rolls. The average attendance was 2,672. Forty-five elders are en gaged in Sunday school work. Iwentynine bible classes are reported, and the average number of scholars which have attended church is estimated at 1,631. Communicants from the schools, . The sum of 2,299.07 was collected; $1,537.56 was expended upon the schools; $356.18 were given to missions; $217.44 were given to other objects; and congregational contributions amounted to $289.38.

The Evening Sederunt.

At the evening session the commissioners to the general assembly were appointed. The members entitled by rotation to attend the assembly are . Revs James Gray, John Gallagher, E. N. R. Millard and J. H. George. Elected by ballot: Principal Grant, Revs. M. Young, Dr. Mowat and M. W. Maclean. Elders elected : G. Gillies, Dr. Bolter, Prof. Ross, A. G. Northrup, A. Urquhart, J. Duff, W. B. With reference to the observance of the Sabbath the report stated that in some districts there are disturbing elements and dangerous practices. One return stated "that there are spots in our Sabbath reputation such as frequented posterns to the drinking saloons; Salvation army street howlings that amuse some, annoy many, and benefit nobody; private reading of flashy novels and the huge Saturday editions of the leading newspapers, made specially spicy for Sabbath delectation. The court adjourned at 9:30 o'clock. KING MILAN'S SUCCESSOR.

A PROOF OF THE MUSE.

Tommy Green Demonstrates That He is a "Truly Great" Poet,

Dear Sir-Many people (and I believe you among the number) have been good enough to say that I am devoid of all senti ment or feeling, and am utterly incapable of writing anything but frothy, meaningless nonsense. I have always been averse to publishing any of the gems I have gleaned in the fields of romantic and heart-stirring poetry, but in the face of such an accusation, and in justice to my own heaven. born genius, I must now do so. From my unpublished manuscripts, which I have named "From Bad to Worse" I take a chaste decolette entitled "Dotherums." Dotherums is the Mesapotamean for our expressive "Day Dreams." This simple gleam of poesy will, I trust, be sufficient to convince my calumniators and detractors that my initials "T.G." might fitly stand for "truly great." Yours, &c., TOMMY GREEN.

P.S.—I enclose ten cents for you to get an eye opener, when you've read Dotherums If you don't spend it all (but I suppose you will) pass on the change, as Mr. M. might be thirsty, too.

Alas, Alack. The rivulet of ruby red Swept madly up the stairs, Entwining heaven's dulcet dew With hated heathen's prayers. The chastened wind like zephyr curst Was rudely rent in twain; The hand of fate destroyed the rose-Stained flower without a stain.

The Business of the Council-Congratulating the City on the Car Line Getting Into Capable Hands-Many Petitions for Drains and Improvements.

A special meeting of the city council occurred last evening. Present: Mayor Thompson; Alds. Adams, Carson, Creeggan, Drennan, Fenwick, Gaskin, Gilder-Pleeve, Hiscock, Minnes, Muckleston, Mc-Cammon, McIntyre, McLeod, Polson, Rees, C. Robinson, W. Robinson, Shannon, Swift and Wilson.

READING COMMUNICATIONS. From Fife Fowler, M. D., asking for the use of the city hall in connection with the medical council examinations beginning on April 9th.—Referred to city property committee.

From Charlton Lawrence, Toronto, offering samples of street numbers. R. S. Dobbs also asked that the street numbering be properly done, as a city directory will shortly be issued .- Referred to the city streets committee to report.

From R. S. Dobbs, asking that steps be taken to remedy confusion from streets in the northern and north eastern part of the city, being unnamed. He wanted names selected for them as well as for streets that need renaming. - Referred to the committee on streets. From Thomas Mills, secretary of the Cataraqui bridge company, asking for light and police protection at the entrance to the bridge. - Referred to fire, water and lightcommittee.

From George Thompson, collector, stating that the tax collections to date are $96,978.

From R. Meek, secretary of the Midland agricultural association, asking to have a committee of aldermen appointed to act in an advisory capacity, and to assist in makng the fair of 1889 a great success. — Deferred for a fortnight.

A summons from the division court was put in, Samuel F. Bridgen sueing for $40 damages caused by obstructions on the street. The city and Michael Grady are made defendants. -- Referred to the city solicitor.

THE LINE TO BE CHANGED. From Folger Bros., intimating that they had purchased the street railway, and asking permission to lay rails and run cars on the following streets, in addition to the streets now traversed: From Union to Princess street, along Alfred street; from King to Untario streets, on Brock street; on On tario street, from Brock to Johnson or William streets; on Johnson or William streets to King street, from Ontario street. They are anxious to commence work immediately and have the line in good running order as soon as the snow is gone from the streets.

It was moved that the prayer of the petition be granted, and that the city solicitor be asked to prepare a by law for submission to the council at its next meeting.

Ald. Swift was glad that the vexed question had been settled. He was sure the citizens were gratified to know that the well-known and enterprising firm had secured control of the line. The character of these men was a guarantee that the execration passed about the line was a thing of the past.

Ald. Wilson hoped the council and citizens would appreciate the line, as it would boom under new management. Lack of steam and metal had prevented the road from being properly run in the past. hoped the citizens would help the new concern, for he was sure any money made out of it would be used to Kingston's advancement. He hoped, that in future, cold water would not be thrown upon the enterprise.

Ald. Gildersleeve wanted the line taken down Ontario to William streets and then sent up to King street. He thought the city should grade up the street so that the cars could be easily run up it. The corporation should also be at the expense of raising the street.

B. W. Folger said that if the grading was done he would prefer to go up William street and pass all the wharves. Ald. Wilson said it would cost $1,000 to

Ald. Polson favored the extension of the line to William street, but thought the grading should be done at the expense of the company. He wanted the opinion of the city engineer as to the probable cost of the work.

Ald. Robinson was glad that the road had would like to see the line sent lower down Ontario street. He, however, wanted the matter settled at once.

Ald. Gaskin said the old company had not succeeded because it had not carried out its agreements. He was glad the Folgers had the line, for they would run it for pub-

Ald. Fenwick thought the interests of the ing citizens had secured the line.

Ald. C. Robinson hoped the line would turn out a benefit to its purchasers. He wanted to know what accommodation they would give to the people of Williamsville In future a large revenue would be derived from travel on that end of the line. He was opposed to the city grading William street. No one had asked the city to do it, and it was time enough to consider the matter when the Folgers asked for it. B. W. Folger was willing to pay all the expense of grading the street above $500. The line would not go up William street unless the city improved the streets. During certain hours in the mornings and evenings the fare would be reduced to three cents. Williamsville would be fully accommodated. Possibly the line from Brock to Johnson or William streets, on King street, might be removed. Anyway cars would not be run on King street on market days. He would willingly grade William street for $500.

Ald. C. Robinson claimed that the agree ment regarding the running of cars to Williamsville had been broken by the old company, and possibly the Folgers would claim the privileges under it.

Ald. Wilson said that the agreement was as much intact to-day as when it was given. Cars had been run to Williamsville within six months. The council agreed to send the line down to William street, and granted the grayer of the petition. The city engineer was asked to submit an estimate of the cost of grading William PRESENTING PETITIONS. Ald. Gaskin-From the trustees of the collegiate institute, asking that the city surrender its right to lots 130 and 131 so that they could be sold to the heirs and assignees of the late John Shaw for $4.000, and interest at five per cent. since the expiring of the lease .-- Referred to the finance committee.

Ald. Gaskin-From John Reyner and others, asking for a drain on Union and Alfred streets, to be built under the local improvement act. - Referred to the streets committee.

Ald. McIntyre-From Isaac Simmons and others, asking for a drain on Victoria street, to be built under the local improvement act. -Referred to the streets committe.

Ald. McIntyre-From Edward Purdy and others, asking for a change in the plankwalk on Durham street, as it is now an obstruction. - Referred to the streets commit-

Ald. Fenwick-From the Y.W.C. association, asking for a remission of taxes. - Referred to the court of revision.

Funds were provided for burners and two incandescert lights for Ontario hall; also for repairs to engine house, and $1,009 for streets as requested at the first meeting of the council.

Water works-A. Gartshore, $472.90; pay list ending March 6th, $39.42; pay list, new wharf, $24.90; Eugineering Record, $4; arbitrators' fees, $150; city treasurer, payments, $4.05; M. Burke, softwood, $127.50; A. Simmens, tallow, $3.50.—Adopted.

THE OTHER REPORTS. Ald. Gaskiu presented the report of the committee on streets, recommending that $50 be paid to J. Brokenshire in settlement of his claims for damages; that $100 be paid to Mrs. McCutcheon, for damages caused by the flooding of her late husband's ashery; that a sewer be built on Division street when the water works pipes are laid, the charges to be assessed to the real estate owners under the Local Improvement act. -Adopted.

The court of revision presented the fol lowing recommendations: That the fair grounds, enclosed, be exempt from taxation as long as the association or company pays no dividend to stockholders; that the request of Mrs. Stoba for remission of taxes be granted; a rebate of one third for vacancy be allowed R. D. Anglin and John Waddell; that no action be taken on John McDonnell's request for a refund of taxes. -

Adopted. Ald. Polson presented the report of the committee on city property, asking leave to fully consider a scheme for the enlarging of the offices of the city clerk and treasurer, with additional vault accommodation; also medical council on the same terms as heretofore. - Adopted.

The council adjourned at 12:30 a.m.

Presbytery and the Scott Act. The report on temperance presented at Brockville presbytery recorded an important fact. The presbytery consists of congregations in Leeds, Grenville and Dundas. Leeds and Grenville are under the Scott act. The report sets forth that the returns from the congregations in Leeds and Grenville show a change for the better in the sentiments and habits of the people in the matter of temperance. In Dundas, where the act was repealed last May nearly all the congregations report a change for the worse in the habits of the people regarding temperance. The returns state that there is an increase of drinking among young and old; that there are special templations to allure himself in the hands of the council, as he | the young to drink; that there is an increase was satisfied it would deal fairly with the of Sabbath desecration, and that deplorcompany.
