THE FLANNEL SHIRT.

Its Triumph is Complete—Styles for Next Summer.

Five or six years ago the flannel shirt was an article of either the color of sunsets in northern climes or of the deep blue hue of a sailor's trousers.

1. Mountain favorite. 2. Seaside negligee. 3. For cyclists. 4. Cotton body and linen bosom. 5. Hunting and fishing shirt. 6. A large check.

THE POPULAR FLANNEL SHIRT. Development of the upper half of his body. Probably the men of the upper strata envied him. The shirt made the man look so thoroughly comfortable.

It was not a frenzied, uncontrollable revolt, and there was no going to extremes. They based their case on an intense appreciation of their inalienable rights.

At the dinner table, at the seaside, in the country, flannel shirts everywhere. And the fiat has gone forth that the flannel shirt is to rule the coming summer.

The flannel shirts this year are to be beautiful in design and color, and the varieties adapted to men of different classes and ages are almost numberless.

About a month ago, Thos. Halliday, Horton, found a gold ring lying on the floor of the stable. He is of the opinion that it must have been picked up somewhere on the roads in the ball of the foot of one of the horses, and then loosened, or thawed out in the stable.

"After a varied experience with many so-called cathartic remedies, I am convinced that Ayer's Pills give the most satisfactory results. I rely exclusively on these Pills for the cure of liver and stomach complaints."—John B. Bell, sr., Abilene, Texas.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Late Rev. G. Bryan, of England.

A lengthy clipping is to hand from the Lincoln, Rutland and Stamford, Eng., Mercury, giving a sketch of the life and labors of the late Rev. G. Bryan, a relative of Miss Bryan, of this city. His memory will remain fragrant for many years, in the hearts, not only of his flock, but throughout the neighborhood. He was 89 years of age. In 1824, he became perpetual curate of Mumby St. Leonard's, where he commenced afresh the services of the church, which had remained dormant for 140 years. In 1833 he was appointed to the vicarage and removed to Ailford where he died Feb. 16th, 1889. He was in labors abundant, schools and churches now standing as monuments of his energy and zeal. The deceased clergyman was also a poet, and numerous hymns from his pen are in use. He was an earnest advocate and generous supporter of the British and foreign bible society, the church missionary society, the London society for promoting christianity among the Jews, and other evangelical and charitable societies. He was steadfastly opposed to the innovations of "ritualistic caprice" in public worship, and to the multiplication of vain ceremonies in religion, and frequently expressed his abhorrence of them. The person of the Rev. George Bryan is lost to sight, but his work remains; he has left good and lasting marks of his life where he lived.

Norman Hamilton, Deseronto, nine years old, left holding a horse, had a lively experience. The animal ran away but the lad held to the lines. A fence was met, the wheels torn off and Norman flew over the dashboard but was not injured. The horse tore itself from the rig.
