THE EARLY NEWSPAPERS.

The Business Man Full of Ability—The Editor Wrote Touching Things. Bill Nyé in New York World.

The Arrow was the first Omaha newspaper. It started on July 28, 1854. It was devoted to the arts, sciences, letters, climate, resources, agriculture, men, temperance and politics.

His wonderful versatility in matters of business was obtained by driving a bob-tail car on Forty-second street, New York, while quite young, during which time he had to drive a skittish horse, make change with his teeth, whip the newsboys off the rear platform, and shove snow off the track at the same time.

Mr. Pattison was the editor. He was also a successful obstetrician and undertaker, which frequently gave him a scoop over his rivals in Chicago.

Well, strangers, friends, patrons and the good people generally, wherever in the wide world your lot may be cast, and in whatever clime this Arrow may reach you: here we are upon Nebraska soil, seated upon the stump of an ancient oak, which serves as an editorial chair.

Pattison was of romantic mould, and was married under a large tree during a heavy thunderstorm. I do not know why he did this.

He wrote some real touching things, one of which was called "A Night in Our Sanctum." It went on to state that there was more joy in one moment of the glad, free, unfettered life in the prairie than a thousand years in the boom of civilization.

But how changed! Where once the loud cry of the contending warriors, the ever warring clans of the Sioux and the Omaha, clove the air, well-dressed men, between the acts, come in and clove the air.

MISCELLANY.

A devil fish became entangled in the hawser of a forty foot pile at Naples the other day and towed it several miles before he got loose.

Grover Cleveland and Thomas Hendricks are the two twin sons of John Crowley, of Union Springs, Ga. They are so nearly alike that their only distinguishing feature is the fact that Thomas Hendricks invariably has a bad cold, while Grover Cleveland's, of course, exempts him from all such afflictions.

There still remains on the English statute book an act of parliament passed in the reign of Henry VIII, which provides that no person or persons who use the Welsh speech or language shall have or enjoy any office or fees unless he or they use and exercise the English language.

A benefit performance on behalf of a murderer is of rare occurrence in our theatrical annals. One such performance was given recently at the Vittorio Emanuele theatre in Rome.

A recent circular issued by the treasury department proposing to ship, free of charge, to persons desiring them, nickels and pennies in certain quantities, on receipt of the face value, has suggested some inquiries in regard to the cost of these coins to the United States.

According to an old English authority, the custom of making fools on the 1st of April originated from the mistake of Noah in sending the dove out of the ark before the water abated, on the first day of the month among the Hebrews, which answers to the 1st of April, and to perpetuate the memory of this deliverance it was thought proper, whoever forgot so remarkable a circumstance, to punish by sending him upon some senseless errand similar to that ineffectual message upon which the bird was sent by the patriarch.

Fishermen and miners in Nova Scotia, mechanics and farmers in Ontario and Quebec, hunters and trappers in the Territories, and gold miners in British Columbia, use and praise Hagar's Yellow Oil, the great internal and external remedy for all pain.

From Oceans to Oceans. Fishermen and miners in Nova Scotia, mechanics and farmers in Ontario and Quebec, hunters and trappers in the Territories, and gold miners in British Columbia, use and praise Hagar's Yellow Oil, the great internal and external remedy for all pain.

The simple application of "Swain's Ointment" without any internal medicine, will cure any case of tetter, salt rheum, ringworm, piles, itch, sores, pimples, scabs, all scaly, itchy skin eruptions, no matter how obstinate or long standing. It is potent, effective, and costs but a trifle.
