

ESTIMATES PREPARED.

THE STREETS COMMITTEE TELL WHAT MONEY IS NEEDED.

The Amount Required in Each Ward to Fix Up a Bit With—The Actual Amounts Expended Last Year—General Streets' Appropriation.

The committee on streets met last evening. There were present Alds. Gaskin, C. Robinson, Wilson and Hiscock. A communication was read from Hugh Crumley, asking, as the city enjoyed the waterway through his property, on the south side of Union street, for over thirty years without any compensation, that in opening a drain to connect with the Union street sewer he should not be charged frontage. Another communication was read from B. Harris, claiming damages for injuries received on April 22nd by a blast on Ontario street. Two petitions were read for local improvement trains, one on Catarqui street from Rideau street to the water's edge, the other on Colborne street from Bagot to Chapman street. All these communications were given to the engineer to report upon. The usual accounts were passed.

Ald. Hiscock drew the attention of the engineer to the bad condition of Arch street. Builders had neglected to remove stone and rubbish after they had finished building.

The estimates for the year were then considered. The appropriations to be asked for each ward is as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Ward Name and Amount. Includes Sydenham ward ($1,799.40), Ontario ward ($1,571.00), St. Lawrence ward ($66.00), etc.

The following table shows what was asked for last year and the amount actually spent:

Table with 3 columns: Ward Name, Asked, Spent. Includes Ontario ward ($2,287.25), St. Lawrence ward ($1,625.00), etc.

This year $3,000 is asked for general streets. Besides the ward appropriations the following amounts are asked for particular streets:

Table with 2 columns: Street Name and Amount. Includes Princess street ($600), King street ($300), etc.

Last year $3,000 was asked for general streets, but only $2,828 was spent. This year the total for general streets is $4,500. The sum of $500 was put down to repair the park walk; also $350 for repairing the steam roller.

The following boardwalks are to be built this summer, (the money for them was given last year, but on account of Alfred street being made to the fair grounds they were not built): From the House of Industry to the Grand Trunk depot; on Princess street from Frontenac street to Regent street; Division street to St. Mary's cemetery.

Ald. C. Robinson moved that the estimates be adopted, and that the streets committee earnestly request the finance committee to adopt it also.—Carried.

A motion was passed that a first-class walk be placed in front of St. George's cathedral.

The chairman, at the close of the meeting, said it was the quietest he was ever at when the estimates were under consideration.

PERSONAL MENTION.

People Whose Movements, Sayings and Doings Attract Attention.

P. McCallum, Pittsburg, has been very ill but is recovering.

THE DIPLOMATS IN BERLIN.

A Portrait of the Representative of the British Government.

SIR EDWARD BALDWIN MALET.

Malet is an illustrious member of a family skilled in diplomacy for generations. He was born at The Hague in October, 1837. His preparatory studies were carried on in Germany, at Geneva and Eton public school, whence he proceeded to the university of Cambridge. He began his diplomatic career under his father at Frankfurt, Germany, in 1854, after a clerkship in the foreign office, London. After four years at Frankfurt he served continuously as a secretary of legation at Brussels, Parma, Rio Janeiro, Washington, Lisbon, Constantinople, Paris and Pekin. He was sent as plenipotentiary to Turkey, in 1875, to Egypt, the following year. In 1881 he was knighted by Queen Victoria. He was made minister to Brussels in 1883, and to Berlin, 1884. Sir Edward is a son-in-law of the Duke of Bedford.

A VERY SAD AFFLICTION.

Death of Dr. Thomas Scates, an Old Kingstonian—A Graduate of Queen's.

A few months ago Mrs. T. Scates was called on to mourn the death of her youngest daughter, Mrs. Raitt, whose remains are still in the vault at Catarqui cemetery. To-day she mourns the demise of her only son, Thomas, graduate in both arts and medicine of Queen's university. The disease of which he died assumed a serious form a couple of months ago, when he became confined to his bed in Gananoque, where he was practicing. From there he was removed to this city. Though he knew the deep hold the disease had upon him he cheerfully anticipated temporary recovery, but the progress of the disease proved greater than he thought, and, notwithstanding skilful medical attention, he passed away last evening. His illness was unknown to many, and great was the shock when they learned to day of his death.

Dr. Scates received his education in the schools here, and, matriculating at Queen's, passed through a successful course there, winning prizes and the degree of B.A. in 1878. He taught in various high schools, finishing his teaching career in the high school at Smithville, of which he was head master. He then returned to Kingston and took medical studies at the Royal. There he proved himself a diligent student. After graduating he began to practice at Gananoque, where he resided until his last illness. He was quiet and retiring in disposition, and of sterling character.

A Lady Doctor from Kingston.

Miss Elizabeth Simpson Mitchell, just licensed to practise as a doctor by the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the Province of Quebec, is not only the first lady doctor in Montreal, but has brought with her first class proofs of the good results of her course of study in Great Britain. She holds certificates as a Licentiate of the Society of Apothecaries, London; of the Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh; and of the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons, Glasgow. She graduated from the Women's Medical College, Kingston.

Strike at the Dry Dock.

Yesterday three men, employed as laborers at the dry dock, struck because they did not receive their pay every week. Mr. Connolly stated this morning that the contractors made a rule always to pay wages and accounts on the 15th of each month. It was also rumored that the contractors were going to bring men from Quebec to do the work. The contractors said they had no intention to bring men to Kingston if they can get men here to suit them. The wages they pay men here are higher than what they would pay men if they brought them from the lower province.

The Fire at Clyde Forks.

The destruction of W. C. Caldwell's mills at Clyde Forks caused a heavy loss. They were valued at $50,000 and insured for $15,000. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark from some smoker's pipe, or incendiary. It is said that Mr. Caldwell will rebuild a mill, though some what smaller. It was only by dint of hard labor that the store of Mr. McDonald was saved. The engineer, Mr. Warner, and one of the foremen, lost all their tools.

Mining Men in the City.

Charles L. Burt, largely interested in the Lake Superior iron interests, has returned from inspecting the iron deposits of North Hastings. He was in the city to day looking for a suitable place at which to locate smelting works. He is favorably impressed with the mineral advantages of Frontenac. T. W. Webster, Lynn, Mass., also interested in the mining business, is in the city.

Royal Military College.

There will likely be a keen competition in the Royal military college this year, as twenty-four cadets graduate this spring, leaving that number of vacancies to be filled. The examination for cadetships takes place on June 11th at the headquarters of the different military districts, and the applications for permission to write already far exceed the number of vacancies.

Rev. J. W. Sparling, D.D.

Rev. J. W. Sparling, pastor of Sydenham street Methodist church, is a subject of congratulation, as yesterday the degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on him by the Garrett biblical institute, Evanston, Ill., the theological department of the North-Western university. Rev. Dr. Sparling received the degree of B.D. from this university in 1871.

It is surprising the quantity of flour Fisher is handling. He has teams hauling all day. He is handling large quantities and selling at low prices. Telephone 167.

BOUND FOR THE TELUGUS

REV. MR. WALKER AND WIFE WILL LEAVE US.

The Circumstances that Led Him to Offer Himself for Missionary Work—Mrs. Walker Enthusiastic Over the Call—They Leave in September.

The Baptist foreign missionary society, of Ontario and Quebec, has appointed Rev. James A. K. Walker, a missionary to the Telugus, India. The appointment has been accepted and Mr. Walker's resignation of the pastorate of the Kingston church has been presented to the board of managers.

At an interview this morning Mr. Walker furnished a reporter with interesting information respecting the country to which he is going as a missionary.

Telugu, in India, is from 400 to 600 miles long, and is triangular in shape. It is situated in the southern part of India, on the western shore of the Bay of Bengal, is within the Madras presidency, and consequently under British rule. The population of Telugu is 17,000,000, — three and a half times larger than Canada, and contains one-twentieth of the entire population of Hindostan. Physically, mentally and morally, the Telugus are far in advance of other tribes in India. Dr. Caldwell says, that in point of euphonic sweetness their language justly claims first place. The natives are, of course, very superstitious, their principal religion is Brahminism. They have numberless gods, and will worship even a trail on the earth.

A representative of the Canadian Baptist Church was sent to Telugu as early as 1868, but prior to this date the American Baptists had missionaries in the field. In alluding to the Canadian Baptist missionary work in this place, Rev. Mr. Walker said that the church was represented by about 2,500 native converts, including native preachers and bible women.

There are eight Baptist missionaries in the field. Revs. A. V. Tympany and G. F. Curry, who labored there for years, have died within the last four years. Rev. Mr. McLaren, Woodstock, working now in the interests of foreign missions among the Canadian churches, is a returned missionary from Telugu. The missionaries in this heathen district now are Rev. J. R. Stillwell, Principal of Samuelcotta seminary, Rev. H. F. Lafamme, J. G. Davis, J. Craig, Rufus Sandford, E. Churchill and J. C. Archibald. In the seminary natives are educated as preachers, taking a four years course.

Among the women missionaries are: Misses S. I. Hatch, Simpson, Baskerville, Stovel, Gibson and Briggs.

"What has led you to accept the call to Telugu?"

"I have had some idea of undertaking foreign mission work for the past few years. When I was in Woodstock college I was very much interested by a lecture delivered by Rev. J. W. Stewart, entitled 'Aloniram Judson,' the first missionary sent from America to Burmah. The history of this brave and good man caused me to think more deeply of foreign mission work. Since that time I have studied the question earnestly, and have lectured several times on 'Judson.'"

"While at Renfrew I came in contact with Rev. J. R. Stillwell, and we had some interesting discussions respecting foreign mission work. Shortly after this Mr. Stillwell was sent as a missionary to India.

"The circumstances of the death of Rev. Mr. Currie in India caused me to think more seriously than ever of foreign mission work. I admired the devotion of the deceased man. He was in Canada enjoying a furlough when he heard of the sudden death of Rev. Mr. Tympany, a missionary. He then hurried back to India to take up the deceased man's work and died also.

"I had some correspondence about three years ago with the board of foreign missions on the subject of my going as a missionary to India. Nothing definite resulted. I merely suggested my willingness to go to India.

"When Rev. Mr. McLaren was here in March he asked me how I felt with regard to foreign missionary work. I told him that I had not thought much of the question recently, and had almost dismissed the idea of going to India from my mind. Mr. McLaren, presented in a forcible way, the urgent need of the work and asked Mrs. Walker and I to leave ourselves open to consider a call to India if it should come from the Lord. We promised to do this.

"I did not expect at the time that anything further would result from the conversation. But my name was suggested by Mr. McLaren to the foreign missionary board when it met. They unanimously authorized the executive board to appoint me as a missionary to the Telugus, provided I expressed myself as willing to go, and was able to pass a good medical examination. I consented to accept the call, and was examined by three medical men, who pronounced me fit for service. I will first be located in Cocanada, and will study there until I am master of the Telugu language. This I will likely accomplish in less than two years."

Rev. Mr. Walker was born in Glasgow, Scotland. His father is the Rev. W. S. Walker, pastor of the Baptist church, Mount Forest. Rev. W. M. Walker, pastor of the Barrie church, is a brother of the subject of this sketch. The Walkers came to Canada in 1862. After qualifying for a teacher's certificate Mr. Walker entered a dry goods firm, and in less than three years was advanced to the position of book-keeper in the firm of Messrs. Woods & Taylor, Galt. For over two years, while he held this position, and until he went to Woodstock college he was president of the Galt Y.M.C.A., at the same time preaching occasionally as opportunity permitted. During his pastorate in Renfrew the first church edifice, owned by the Baptists of that place, was built, and about forty were added to the membership. About the same time he was instrumental in gathering in and organizing a church of 36 members in the village of Daere, where a church edifice was also erected. Subsequently he left this field to pursue his studies in Morgan Park seminary, Chicago, and was afterwards called to the pastorate of the Baptist church in Almonte. About forty five were added to the membership of this church there, and considerable improvements made in the church building. He left Almonte at the call of the Kingston Baptist church.

Mrs. Walker, an amiable and cheerful young lady, was born in Renfrew, attended the high school there and a private one in Montreal. She is very enthusiastic in mission work, and has consented to accompany her husband to India because she thinks it is God's will she should do so.

Mr. Walker said that a demand had been made upon the Canadian Baptists for fifty missionaries for India this year, but it was expected that only four or five at present could be secured. He and his wife will leave Canada in September.

Go to Cape Vincent.

J. E. Smith, who boarded for several weeks at the Dublin house disappeared the other day. After he had gone a coat and hat were missed. He left two notes. Both stated that he had gone to Cape Vincent and would pay his board and return the hat and coat when he got work. The police have the matter in hand.

ELOPED TO KINGSTON.

WHILE THE FATHER WAS AWAY THE BRIDE SKIPPED.

Married Near Oswego and Now on a Visit to Friends at Adolphustown—The Young Man Has Gone Back to Interview the Parent and Reconcile Matters.

On May 10th Thomas Corfield and wife reached Kingston and at once proceeded to Adolphustown, where the young man had relatives. While he was away the father of the bride, Charles Forbes, of Cato, N.Y., was turning matters upside down looking for his twenty year old girl.

On Wednesday Mr. Corfield reached Oswego and was surprised over the alarming statements as to his elopement. He left Mrs. Corfield in Adolphustown and was going back to settle matters with his father-in-law. Otherwise he will remain in Lennox county. Corfield moved with his father to Cato, N.Y., several years ago. He is a most worthy young man, and formerly boarded in the Forbes family and attended school. While there he fell in love with his landlord's pretty daughter, and she reciprocated his affections. The parents of Miss Forbes were opposed to their daughter's union with the Canadian, and he was sent away and the daughter was forbidden to communicate with him. The neighbors who knew of the situation sympathized with the young couple and through them the lovers exchanged communications at regular intervals. Sensational accounts of the affair have been published in which it was stated that the lovers exchanged letters by putting them in a hollow rail. This is not so. One day the father of Miss Forbes was summoned as a grand juror to Auburn and the lovers took advantage of his absence to carry out their plans. At night the young man drove to his sweetheart's home and she, having tied up a bundle of clothing, speedily joined him. They then drove to Baldwinville, took the early train for Oswego, went to New Haven, where the young man had previously arranged with the Rev. Mr. Nesbitt, of the Baptist church, to perform the ceremony. Then they came across to Kingston. Much interest will centre in the future movements of the sharp pair.

GRAND PREMISES.

J. S. Henderson to Open His Elegant Stores To-Morrow.

Nowhere in Canada will you see finer stores than those just completed by J. S. Henderson, Brock street. They are a credit to the city. Mr. Henderson may well feel proud of them. The changes made in the grocery department gives a perfect store 25x 132 feet. He has ample room to stow away and also display the large stock and assortment of fine groceries, provisions, fruits, etc., which he constantly keeps on hand. It is really time well spent to take a look through the premises, both up and down stairs, and behold the vast assortment of goods on hand. Next door adjoining (in the old grocery premises) he has transferred his wine and liquor department, making a neat and well arranged store with large cellars and storage room above. Mr. Henderson has such a high reputation for keeping only first-class goods that it is needless to enumerate the many fine brands of wines, etc., noted in stock. To-morrow he advertises his first opening of the new premises, and we advise everyone to call and see the brightest and finest stores of the kind in Canada as well as the endless variety of goods displayed.

An Official Visit.

Lieut.-Col. Lewis, brigade-major, arrived in the city last night on his half-yearly inspection of stores and armories. This morning he inspected the stores and armories of the Kingston field battery and the 14th P. W. O. Rifles. During the afternoon he inspected the company's stores of the 47th battalion at Portsmouth and Barriefield. He will finish the inspection of the 47th battalion on Monday. The colonel complimented Major Drennan and Quarter Master Briggs on the clean and efficient state of their stores and armories.

The remains of Gracie Prime, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Prime, were buried to-day. A special funeral service was held in All Saints' church.
