"HOMEWARD." Song for Baritone or Contralto. Music by Oscar F. Telgmann. 30 cents.

This Song has been favorably spoken of by Local Critics. We append the words: FIRST VERSE.

The long, fierce storm has ended. The weary day has passed, And now beneath the fading light

We are homeward bound at las: See, where the last glow lingers, Off there neath the western skiss, Is home, and rest, and loved ones,
For there the harbor lies.
Oh, list to the music stealing
The darkling waters o'er,

'Tis the welcome home they're singng As they wait upon the shore. Come home, come home, beside the sea, We wait, we wait to welcome thee

To home and rest beside the sea, We wait to welcome thee. Yo-ho, yo-ho, then row, boys, row, See how we skim the waters free, We soon shall cross the harbor bar

And rest beside the sea. SECOND VERSE. To many a home-bound mar'ner. Life's weary storm is o'er, He bears the water breaking

Upon the heavenly shore. He sees the radiant harbor Beneath the setting sun Where he shall drop the anchor, All the weary voyage done, There's home, and rest, and loved ones, Who've only gone before, and a welcome home they're singing As they wait upon the shore. We wait, we wait to welcome thee ome home, come home, beside the sea, To home and rest beside the sea We wait to welcome thee. We come, we come to "home, sweet home." We stretch our eager hands before, No more to fear the biflows roll But rest upon the chore.

COD-LIVER OIL, &c., for a number of years, and have found it a remedy of great use in many forms of disease, especially in Pulmonary Complaints, Scroinia, Anæmia, and in fact in any state of the system showing a DEPRAVED CONDITION OF THE BLOOD, with LACE OF TONE and deterioration of vital forces. I have also used it, with very much satisfaction, Wasting Diseases of Children, and some other complaints incidental to childhood. R. A. DAKIN. Pugwash, Nov. 12th, 1884.
