RED SUNSETS. Scientific Theorizing as to Their Cause 1 Very Great Difference in Men's Opinions.

In an elaborate letter to the London Times Mr. Norman Lockyer, the Eng. ously ill. lish astronomer, attempts to account for the extraordinary "sky glows" which have since September attracted so much attention in Canada as in the United States and Enrope. Mr. Lockyer argues that they are due to the presence of large quantities of dust and ashes ejected during the August eruption in Java, and transported thence by the trade wind currents into the high northern latitudes. This hypothesis, says the New York Herald, is beset with difficul ties which Mr. Lockyer does not remove. tions, has been witnessed in the East and West Indies, North Brazil, Canada and the United States, England, France and Germany, the displays of red sunsets having continued at one or more places over three months.
