"And ve shall be witnesses unto Me. both in Jerusalem and in all Judea and the earth

The speaker said it would be seen by the text that these marching orders were given to the disciples at the very begin ning of the Christian era and were to be continued for all time, and applied us and to our time as well as then-in fact more so because of the advantages now possessed for extending God's king-He contended that missions were essential to a living church. We should not be satisfied with our own gretification merely, but should seek the good o others who do not possess comfortable churches and who seldom have an oppor tunity of having the gospel preached Christ. He quoted some of the psalms to show that they, as well as the new testament and the Lord's prayer, were full of direction to GO INTO THE VINEYARD. The speaker confined himself on this occasion chiefly to home mission work. He intended shortly to deal with foreign missions. The Apostles, he said, were the first home missionaries who at first | High Park railway accident. occupied the fields mentioned in the text, and the seventy were the first to commence foreign work. He said we would be untrue to our fathers unless we followed their example faithfully, as the injunction to "go forth" was as ap plicable to-day as when it was given, and as binding, and in order to that they must be liberal in men and means.
