DIVORCE IN SCOTLAND.

A Former Resident of Brockville vorced from His Wife-His Deprayed Ways.

On the 21st December the Court Sessions, the highest Court in Scotland ranted a divorce at the instance Mrs. Whyte against her husband, the Rev. John Whyte, parish minister Queensferry, Scotland. The charge was adultery and the evidence was con clusive in respect to more than one instance and more than one individual. The Judge, in his decision, stated that | the case presented one of more than ordinary guilt, the indulgence of a de praved appetite and the cultivation uncleanly habits of mind. It seems that from the first the marriage was an unhappy one, and that the defendant was guilty of adultery both before and at clean weights, scientific points to
