Their Dignity Touched.

The dignity of Kingston's "Big Four" (so named by this paper on the day after their election) has been assailed. The Toronto papers are calling the conspirators the "Big Four." We trust the Pollywog Club will give the subject attention and see that the patent rights of Kingston's Aldermen are respected.

Mc Mahon in a body: A special meeting will also be held to-morow evening, when a by-law relating to license fees will be discussed. The regular meet ing of the School Board occurs to morrow evening.

The Strike Ended.

The strike on the Bedford branch of the K. & P. RR. has now ended. The navvies, with eight or ten exceptions, have resumed work at the old rate of wages. Several of the disaffected ones have, in Kingston, enjoyed a glorious drunk. They have squandered their money and applied to the railway company for passes to the works.

A Little Too Fresh.

The Brockville papers are howling greatly about Kingston being on Lake Ontario, while the Oddfellows demonstration was named to be on the River St. Lawrence. Humph! If Kingston isn't on the river we'd like to know it: and we are nearer the islands than Brockville, and can, with greater ease, handle and accommodate excursionists. If the demonstration must be held on the River St. Lawrence Montreal should put in its claim.

Through the Locomotive Works, On our visit to the Locomotive Works resterday we found dozens of machines months ago in active operation, standing idle. Some of the buildings have a deserted appearance. The works, however, could not be better equipped, and if business were brisk the Company could turn out six locomotives monthly. Several fine milling machines, a four spindled drill, and a new plate planer have recently been added to the works. but they are not yet set up. During the winter additions were made to the boiler shop. Already about half an acre of For Cough, Colds, Croup, Asthma water front has been filled in, and as the ground becomes solid buildings will be erected.
