Today's Probabilities. Lakes: south and east winds, fair warmer weather.

Death in Belleville. A telegraphic despatch announces the death in Belleville of Mrs. J. W. Johnson, wife of the Principal of the Belleville Business College. The funeral occurs to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

Plenty of Coal Yards. There are seven coal yards in full blast in Kingston, three more than there are in Toronto. One yard there handles more coal in a year than the combined Kingston yards do.

Sold His Yacht. Some days ago Col. Hance, of Cape Vincent, sold his steam yacht Lancelot to Mr. Emery, of New York, for $5,000. Since then the Colonel has purchased another fast sailing craft, the Anna Laura. The Lancelot called at Swift's wharf last night.

Distinguished Arrivals. The yacht Minnie was in port to-day with W. C. Kingsley, President of the Brooklyn Bridge Co.; Henry Kingsley, jr., and W. B. Davenport on board. They registered at the British American Hotel and went to the Brothers on a fishing expedition.

A Close Call. Mr. James Bulger had a narrow escape from being drowned at Portsmouth on Monday last. He was in the act of stopping from one of the elevators to a boat near by when he missed his footing and fell in the water. He was pulled out by W. Porter.

Sale of a Steamer. This morning the str. Conqueror was sold by auction at Hulsehouse's rooms. The craft was purchased by James Stewart of the Kingston & Montreal Forwarding Company for $5,000. John O'Shea bid $2,000. The vessel has been probably secured by her original owner, Mr. R. S. of Quebec.

Gone To Work in Lennox. The vote is being taken in Lennox to-day for a member to represent the electorate in the Local Legislature. This morning a large number of Kingstonians went to various places in the constituency to help along the work for Hawley. We doubt not that they will return satisfied.

Death of the Park. Yesterday Mr. Ely, aged about 60, died at the Thousand Island Park from cholera morbus. He was the first Superintendent of Works on the Island, and held the position for years. He was quite wealthy and possessed of considerable property. The funeral occurred to-day at his demise.

A Naughty Cow. A cow with a crumpled horn has been roaming on Montreal street for some time. It has attacked several children. A few evenings ago it met a little girl belonging to S. McCormack, policeman, and tossed her around. The child might have been given to death had not some parties driven the bovine away.

Hunt Competition. W. Carey was in Bowmanville yesterday, a judge in a hunt tournament. The decision was as follows: Waterloo band, first prize, $200; Preston band, second prize, $100; Peterboro band, third prize, $50. The Waterloo band also took a special prize of a drum for the best marching. The Okeas, of Belleville, were defeated in a game of lacrosse.

Have Some Pride. The people of Williamsville should take more pride in their surroundings. Not only do dead trees line the streets and disfigure many lots, but burdocks and thistles are colonizing the sides of the streets and front yards. There are also dilapidated fences and houses that a few boards and nails would improve vastly, no part of the city is susceptible of improvement as this section; let the good work be done before the fair and race weeks.

And She Wasn't Doing Her Best. Respecting the speed of the steamer St. Lawrence a Brockville gentleman gives some interesting figures. The boat left Brockville at 9:02 a.m., and her time for a trip is given as follows: To Cole's Light, 5 miles, 35 min.; to Dark Island, 12 miles, 1:11; to Sister Light, 16 miles, 1:39; to Alexandria Bay, 22 miles, 2:08; return trip, Thousand Island Park to Alexandria Bay, 7 miles, 53 min.; to Dark Island, 10 miles, 48; to Brockville from Alexandria Bay, 1:45.

Who is to Blame? The President of the women's union says that the captain of the schr. Spry came to the union sailors' room and told him that he had four non-union men working on board his vessel, and if they could be driven off he would hire four union men. The President advised the men not to meddle with the non-union sailors. The union sailors were surprised when they learned that the captain of the Spry had applied for police protection.

JOSEPH GREEN DROWNED.

Falls off the Steamer St. Lawrence While Drawing the Gang Plank—Struggling for Life. When the steamer St. Lawrence went on her route between Cape Vincent and Alexandria Bay several Kingstonians hired as deck hands. Among them was Joseph Green, a respectable and hard-working fellow. He thought he would like to sail on the boat and wear the blue striped uniform. He never sailed before, therefore was an inexperienced hand. He soon became accustomed to the work and before long was counted as very useful. His sailor life, however, was not all sunshine. A week ago last Friday he was helping to load trunks when he fell into the water. He would have been drowned but for the timely assistance of the mate. His friends were notified of his misfortune and were glad to learn that he had been saved. It would seem that HIS FATE WAS FORE-ORDAINED. His sister dreamt a few evenings ago that her brother was drowned, and related her experience to the family. At 12 o'clock yesterday a telegram came here stating that Joseph had been drowned. Particulars of the drowning could not be secured, and it was thought the report was untrue. At 6 o'clock a second despatch came to the same effect. His friends thought that the story might be so, but were not satisfied until full information was received on the arrival of the Cape boat in the evening. Green's friends waited on the ferry wharf until the pierpont came in at 9:30 o'clock. Capt. Miller said the report was true. The St. Lawrence yesterday morning received an excursion party at Cape Vincent numbering 800 persons. When all were on board she started and made GREAT SPEED DOWN THE RIVER. After she had gone a short distance on her route Green, whose duty was the handling of the gang plank, thinking that the steamer was near Millin's Bay, a stopping place, lifted out the shutter that protected the gangway and began to make ready to get out the planks. He was too soon in his operations for the boat was then about two miles from the dock. Green, however, got hold of the gang plank and began to walk backwards. He misjudged the distance from where the plank was to the opening and walked off into the water. He was seen as he went in and the cry went forth "man overboard." The passengers were excited. They ran to the sides of the boat and peered anxiously into the blue water. They saw Green swimming for dear life. The St. Lawrence was stopped as soon as possible, though she had run a long distance from the drowning man. A boat was lowered but before it could reach Green HE HUNG TO RISE NO MORE. When the steamer reached the spot where he was supposed to have gone down no trace of him could be found, and the steamer, with her terrified crew, proceeded on her journey. Mr. Barker, one of the owners of the St. Lawrence, sent men from Clayton in a small boat to grapple for the body of the unfortunate man, but it was not found. The water where Green sank is 75 feet deep. Young Green never used liquor, and was always considered an exemplary man. He was a main support of his parents. He was a member of the Young Irishman's Catholic Benevolent Association, and was much respected amongst them, and he was also a member of the Sodality of the Holy Family. His parents reside on Sydenham street. A Clayton despatch says: As soon as Green went overboard the engine was reversed, life preservers thrown overboard, and a boat lowered, and although the man was a fair swimmer, he sank before reaching a life preserver, and before a boat could reach him. Had Green not become excited and lost his presence of mind, there is no doubt but that he would have been saved.

He said that milkmen would not be disturbed, but live men must cease letting out horses on Sunday. The animals required rest the same as man. If the keepers of the stables did not stop action would be taken to make them. The laws of the country will be enforced.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

Little Things that Engage the People's Attention—Noted by Our Local Corps. Did you see your cat? The heated term is again approaching. The cat market was brisk in Lennox to-day.

The Dominion Express Co. is handling large quantities of fruit. The postponed third class yacht race will take place on Saturday. The G.T.R. will run cheap excursions to Montreal during the exhibition week. Mr. Robertson caught 200 fish in the vicinity of the Brothers in an afternoon. McMahon Bros., while fishing at the Brothers yesterday caught a six pound bass.

New twill black plush velveteens, all shades, just opened at Hardy & Murray's. Cape Vincent will not have a fair this year. The grounds cannot be put in shape in time. Take in the Maul's cheap trip to-morrow down the river, advertised in another column.

Remember the moonlight excursion on the Maul this evening. The sail will be very pleasant. The steamer St. Lawrence carries an excursion to Belleville next Thursday from Cape Vincent.

By the Maul's advertisement in another column it is probable that her usual Friday trip will be the last this season. The St. Paul's Sabbath school scholars had a big time yesterday. The boat did not reach port with the party until 9:30 o'clock.

The band of "B" Battery will play in the city park to-morrow night. Mr. Tremblay has prepared a select programme for the occasion. To-morrow afternoon the Maul gives another cheap excursion by her special Friday attractive trip. James Saunders, butcher, found a copy of the British Whig of 1853 in a yard in the rear of the Odessa House. The sheet cannot be destroyed.

Please remember the exhibition drill and concert at the drill shed on Thursday, Sept. 4th, in aid of the House of Industry. The 14th band have kindly given their services for the occasion. Thomas Kelly, Portsmouth, asks that his name be struck out of the list of Portsmouth committee men for the Reform demonstration. He is not a Reformer. The request will be acceded to.

The Canada Medical Association have elected their officers. Dr. Osier, of Montreal, is President. Dr. Saunders, Kingston, is a member of the committee on medicine. Dr. Oliver on therapeutics, and Dr. McCann on one of the auditors. The musical kazoo will hereafter be manufactured in Rochester. The inventor, Mr. Frost, has removed from Cleveland. A factory will be opened, and if the inventor's life is spared, he will manufacture kazooes by the thousand.

If the territory secured by Hon. Mr. Morait is such a "barren, unhabitable territory," as the London Free Press and other Tory sheets now wish to make it out, why did Sir John schemed around so much and protest that Ontario would never receive one stick of timber, one ton of ore or a foot of land? Was he lying about the estate?

A SURVIVOR'S STORY.

Corroborating the Facts of a "Whig" Editorial—Capt. Kenney Tells of Capt. Monck's Bravery.

Yesterday, the Whig editorially referred to Capt. Monck's bravery, having years ago rescued a crew from a water-logged vessel off South Bay Point. Capt. Joseph Kennedy, one of the survivors of the wreck, was met last evening and said he remembered the affair quite well. It occurred 17 years ago, the vessel was the Minerva, owned by Calvin & Brock. She left Grand Island in the fall and went to Toronto to load timber. Her skipper was Capt. Spencer and his assistants T. Longueur, mate; Joseph Kennedy, now Captain, S. McDonald, J. Springs, M. McCafferty, L. Julien, now Captain, and Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, sister of Captain Kennedy. The schooner left Toronto heavily laden. She was a craft not very safe in a gale. It blew very strong and when opposite the Highlands Capt. Spencer turned her around and ran into Toronto harbour again. Later a start was again made though the wind was blowing hard. The vessel was allowed to go ahead. Everything went well until 2 a.m. when they were opposite South Bay. The wind blew with great force dashing the waves against the vessel and washing clean over the deck and into the hatches. The boat rocked, the masts swayed, the wind whistled through the rigging, and at every fierce gust the crew expected to see the masts wrenched from their positions. At last the schooner settled and laid over on her side. The waves washed the crew overboard, but they came out safe and sound.

KLING TO THE BRIGGING AND STARS. Kennedy and Capt. Spencer took care of Miss Kennedy. Her brother lashed her to a spar but she was tossed around so that she could not stand the pressure of the rope around her body. She complained of it cutting her. She was also afraid that the breakers would dash the floating timber on top of her. She was released and drifted from the vessel. One of the men caught her and lifted her to the side of the vessel, but she could not hang on, her strength had left her. She floated to the other side of Spencer and her brother tried to reach her but he could not and she sank before his eyes. The night was very cold, and at last the crew climbed into the main rigging. At daylight, a crowd gathered on the beach but no one dared to venture in their boats, until Capt. Monck came limping along. He had been a sailor for a number of years, previously, and unobtrusively knew what it was to be wrecked. Capt. Monck was not in condition to render ASSISTANCE TO A DROWNING CREW for the day previous, he and his son were driving to Picton with a spirited horse and it ran away. Capt. Monck was hurled against a fence. His face was battered badly, and one of his ribs broken. However he hobbled to the shore and saw the white caps roll and knew that any fishing smack that would go out, would be shipwrecked. However, with his life in his hands, he went out, and took two men with him. The boat had only gone a short distance when she shipped water, and Monck's men cried to return. This was finally done, but Capt. Monck shipped two other men started out reached the wreck and saved Kennedy and two others. Another boat saved the other members of the crew, but who their rescuers were Capt. Kennedy did not know.

INQUEST AT PARHAM. The Evidence Touching the Death of Mrs. Dowling. Evidently Melancholy.

Yesterday Coroner John Shaw held an inquest in Parham on the body of Mrs. Dowling, who succumbed by taking Paris green. Henry Storms was the first witness, and said that Mrs. Dowling had lived with him five years. It was reported that she was a married woman and that her husband had left her. The witness and Mrs. Dowling lived together as man and wife. She was a sober woman. On several occasions she told witness that she had no notion to put an end to her life while living with her husband. Her death was caused by taking two ounces of Paris green on Monday last at three o'clock. She died at sundown. She was 47 years of age and was a member of the Church of England.

Nelson Storms told the following: On Monday Mrs. Dowling did not take dinner with us. She said she did not want any. Father got dinner ready for us and then went to the bedroom door and found it fastened. Father burst the door in and spoke to her and told her to get up. After a while she came out, sat in front of the stove and tried to smoke her pipe. She said she had taken Paris green to put an end to herself, and that she wished she had taken strychnine. It was not the first time she had tried to poison herself. Father gave her milk and vinegar and it made her vomit, then she said she was sorry she had taken the poison.

Mrs. Phoebe Wagar went to see Mrs. Dowling about sundown. She was in great distress. She said she could not see her, but that the only thing that troubled her was her baby. "I have heard her say she would put an end to herself if a cold." The testimony went to show that Mr. Storms and Mrs. Dowling lived agreeably together. The verdict was that her death was caused by Paris green administered by her own hand.

A Collision this Morning. This morning when the Hero reached Massena Point, at 4:15 o'clock, the captain sighted the steam barge Saxon coming up, and he whistled for her to take her own side, but her captain steamed straight ahead, and the steamers collided. The Hero struck the Saxon on the starboard side, and broke her stern. The captain of the Hero does not know whether the Saxon is injured. By the collision passengers were thrown out of their berths. The owners of the Hero will sue Messrs. Phippen & Graham, of Belleville, for damages.

DOWN THE MIGHTY RIVER.

The Way Anglers Meddling with Canadian Fishermen Were Received. Gov. Alford and James Cheney and family have closed up their summer cottage on Governor's Island and left for home. The weather was evidently too cool.

Mr. Hill, of Chicago, is making a fine improvement on his island, Wan-winet, near Warner's island. He is putting a stone wall around the island, building a fine dock, and will build a boat-house to put his yacht in during the winter.

President Kinney states that only two-thirds of the $5,300 expended in the erection of the Thousand Island Park tabernacle has been subscribed and that the association will lose about $500 on the series of entertainments given during the season.

The Anglers' Association is doing a good work in the destruction of nets and the prosecution of the offenders. H. R. Clark and E. H. Britton for the association in one day captured and burned four nets. One was found a trap net, off Gordon Island, having a wing sixty feet long and containing 500 large fish, mostly bass and pickerel, which were liberated. A gill net was found south of Sugar Island and 200 pickerel set free. Another was found in Halstead's Bay and a fourth near Leek Island.

Canadian fishermen have continued to net the fish in the river with impunity. The other night some anglers thought it would be a good scheme to make a raid on fish nets in Canadian waters. A party, among them one or two Canadian sportsmen, was made up and started out. When about to pull up some nets they were met with pistols, and one angler received a slight wound in the arm. Another got a bullet through his hat. An information has been laid in a Canadian court against the parties who did the shooting.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE. What is Occupying the Attention of People Interested in Vessels.

The schr. King is unloading timber at Garden Island. The schr. Elgin arrived to-day with 200 tons of coal for Swift. The rate on grain from Chicago to Kingston is 4 cents free of canal tolls. The tug McArthur left for Toronto to-day with cargo. Jessie Drummond.

The schr. F. Wells, Charlotte, is in port with 162 tons of coal for Crawford. Swift's arrivals: Prop. Armenia, Montreal; str. Corsican, Montreal, and Corinthian, Toronto. The Oswego Manufacturing Co. has purchased 7,000,000 feet of pine lumber at Ottawa. The Rathburn Co. will tranship it.

The schr. Crosswhite, the largest vessel in port for two years, is at Portsmouth. She comes from Chicago, and has a cargo of 48,000 bush of corn. M. T. Co.—Arrivals: Tug Active, Gaskin and Glenora, Charlotte, 1,000 tons coal. Departures: Tug Active, Montreal and six barges, 120,000 bush. grain and two barges with deals.

The work of deepening the Welland Canal to a uniform depth of fourteen feet will be proceeded with at once. The whole work of increasing the depth from 12 to 14 feet will cost about $1,000,000. $750,000 will be asked for at the next session of Parliament. It is believed that the work can be completed in two years.

Hereafter all persons in the States applying for licenses as engineers or pilots on the lakes will be required to furnish proof to the steamboat inspectors of their being American citizens. Inspectors will now refuse a license to persons not giving satisfactory proof of being American citizens, either by birth or naturalization. This will throw about 500 men out of employment until they be made citizens.

CONCERT AT ODessa. Not such a Success as the Programme Merited—Showered with Bouquets. A very satisfactory and enjoyable entertainment was held by the Rev. C. A. McWilliams, Drill Shed, Odessa, last evening. The programme, which was varied and lengthy, was rendered by a party of ladies and gentlemen from the city, who did themselves credit. There was a considerable number of people present, but not what was expected nor what the programme merited. However, after all expenses are paid, there will be something to go, though it is by no means what it ought to be, as Father McWilliams is well known, and deserved more at the hands of the residents of Odessa and surroundings. After the entertainment closed the space was cleared of benches, and the company "tripped the light fantastic" to the splendid music of Spjaley's Quadrille Band. When the Kingston contingent left, about 1:30 o'clock, the dancing was still being pushed forward vigorously, and was no doubt kept up until an early hour. Miss Burton, who accompanied the singers, received a perfect shower of bouquets on her rendition of "Beautiful Girl of Kildare."
