REMINDERS.

MONDAY

General meeting of Mr. Gildersleeve's Committee at 7 p.m.

TUESDAY

Polls open at 9 a.m. Work and vote for good Government by electing Gildersleeve.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1878.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Stand by your rights—Vote for Gildersleeve.

PROBS.—Fresh to strong westerly to north westerly winds, very fine weather with lower temperature.

WANTED TO WITHDRAW.—A Tory who put up $20 on Messrs. McLellis and Wilmot a week ago has been making frantic efforts to have the money withdrawn

BROKE AWAY.—Yesterday morning the horses in a car at the Grand Trunk Station, tower depot, broke out. There were six animals, en route to Toronto. They were secured last evening in various parts of the city.

LIBERAL COLLECTION.—The collection in St. Mary's Cathedral for the erection of confessionals yesterday was quite liberal. The receipts were between $400 and $450. The work will be proceeded with at once.

UNGARDEN ICE HOUSE.—A bill has been introduced in Parliament making it a misdemeanour to leave unprotected hole openings or apertures in the ice of any navigable waters. The bill should pass, as it is a timely measure.

LOTS OF ICE.—It is hardly probable that ice will be cut here this Spring for transport to the West. All the lakes and rivers are frozen over so that the supply in the West will be good. The ice houses at Collingby contains about 8,000 tons.

FROZE TO DEATH.—A correspondent at Fort Walsh, N. W. T., writes to us "John McMillan, formerly of Prescott, and J. R. Hoyt, formerly of Hamilton, while going from Maple Creek to attend a dance at Fort Walsh on the 1st inst., were frozen to death about two miles from Walsh."

DEFENCE HIMSELF.—"Lord" Cantyre is determined to fight the matter to the bitter end and has retained J. C. Judd, of Brockville, to watch his interests. There is no truth in the statement that Judge Sankler, of Perth, endorsed Cantyre's note for £208. He never got a cent either from or through Judge Sankler.

A CONDUCTOR'S LOVE.—"Hank" Roadhouse is a well known passenger express conductor on the Grand Trunk between Toronto and Kingston. About a month ago he invested $10 in the Louisville Lottery, with very little expectation that it would yield him anything. Friday word was sent him that he was the man entitled to the $20,000 prize

Work against the man who votes away Ontario's rights.

OPERA HOUSE MEETING.—Last evening the Opera House was crowded and a very interesting meeting was held. Short and effective addresses were given by Mr. John Hay and Lieut. Donaldson. The latter gentleman took for his theme "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve." The closing service occurs next Sabbath evening. The services have been conducted at an expense of $10 per night. The classes that Rev. Mr. McKay and others endeavored to reach now attend the meetings of the Salvation Army.

Vote for Gildersleeve and against those who call workingmen ignorant.

POLICE COURT.

Mayor Livingston again occupied the bench. He had three cases to deal with. A man with a family had acted disorderly at the Salvation Army's meeting while drunk. He was reprimanded and dismissed, the charge, however, to stand against him for future consideration.

Charles Priest, whose life has been very recklessly spent, was charged with vagrancy. Charles has been for many years in prison. He has only been out of the Central a few weeks. He goes to gaol for one month.

Thomas Fenton, another vagrant, has been placed in gaol for two months. He begged hard to be sent up.

Vote for Gildersleeve and against the party who designates Liberals as assassins and murderers.

AN EXCITED VILLAGE.

Gananoque has been greatly excited over the sale of intoxicants. At a recent meeting of the Council three petitions were presented. George Gillies headed in one signed by 300 electors, asking that the number of licenses be limited. E. E. Abbott presented a second, signed by 320 persons, asking that the sale of liquors be separated from that of groceries and other merchandise. Mrs. W. J. Gage presented a third, signed by 400 women, asking that action be taken to restrain the traffic. Mrs. Gage said that if the laws were carried out the village would be a Paradise compared with what it now is. The Council, after due consideration, passed a by-law fixing the fees for taverns at $150 and shops at $100.

Vote for Gildersleeve who has devoted his life and money to help the city.

Dr. Dupuis had the misfortune the other day of stepping down a cellar hurriedly and dislocating his wrist.

A. M. Brown, of Winnipeg, is erecting five warehouses to cost $17,000. They will be ready for the Autumn trade.

On Friday night the I.O.O.F. lodge of this city have an open meeting in their hall. The programme will be interesting.

Within a week Duncan C. Ross has twice defeated Thibaud Bauer in Graeco-Roman wrestling matches at Jacksonville, Fla.

Rev. Mr. McQuaig, last evening, in his sermon, spoke against lotteries and and the spirit of speculation which they encouraged.

Mr. Tait left for Toronto yesterday morning. He was one of the most popular political speakers Kingstonians have heard.

Liberals! Kingston expects every man to do his duty to-morrow. Let every vote be recorded for Gildersleeve and Good Government.

An explosion occurred in Dr. Bain's house on Saturday. The stove was thrown over and wrecked, owing to the frozen water in the back part of the boiler.

The Tory meeting at Portsmouth on Saturday evening was a magnificent failure. About 75 of the electors came to town to hear Mr. Tait, and they were not sorry.

Liberal collections were yesterday taken in St. Mary's Cathedral for the new confessional boxes. They will be in keeping with the improved appearance of the edifice.

At the Methodist Episcopal Church tea meeting in Gananoque about $180 was netted. The Reporter said Rev. J. L. Wilson's lecture on "Building up Character" was of a high order.

Mr. Robinson's majority over Mr. McCammon in 1873 was 143; Mr. McLellis's over Mr. Robinson was 189 in 1879. In 1879 the vote in the County stood: Carnarvon 740, Dawson 514, Strachan 144 and Tankerton 196.

The lottery arrangement in connection with St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa, has been abandoned. Action is talked of against those who are selling tickets for another lottery scheme in which our people are somewhat interested.

Mr. O'Beirne, editor of the Napanee Express, was arrested on Saturday at the instance of Mr. Ross, for printing a pamphlet which contained a sketch of his life and infidel opinions. Then Mr. Ross didn't want to go on with the case. He feared disclosures.

Votes are being canvassed by the friends of Mr. Rourk on the ground that if the gets them "it will be all the same for the Reform party." Such is a mistake. Every Liberal who votes for Mr. Rourk washes Mr. Gildersleeve, and as the latter is the party's choice he should have a solid support.

Vote for Gildersleeve and advance Kingston's interests.

A GREAT DAY.

From 8 o'clock on Saturday morning until 11 o'clock at night the establishment of F. X. Cousineau, on Princess St., was crowded with people. It was the opening of the sale of the bankrupt stock of J. Guest & Co., Toronto, purchased by the enterprising Kingston house. Mr. Cousineau has voted his recent purchase a success, for, says he, "I never had such a day since I commenced business in Kingston. This is the dullest time in the year, yet my store was jammed from early morn until nearly midnight. The people filled the space between the counter so that the clerks had hard work to squeeze through them. I never took in so much money. The purchasers were simply all citizens. The country people are expected this week." Mr. Cousineau is a judicious advertiser and to make known his recent great purchase he spent a large amount in printer's ink. The sale will continue for some time. We hope this enterprising merchant will receive the support and patronage he deserves. He is truly "the friend of all who buy."

DOMINION ARTILLERY ASSOCIATION.

It was decided to leave the prizes the same as last year for field batteries, cadets of the Royal Military College, the Royal School of Gunnery and garrison batteries in the same proportion as last year.

It was also decided that if the Commandant of the Royal Military College had no objection a special prize equal to the value of the present prize of cross shirts, be given to the Gentlemen Cadets for competition in shifting ordnance, between the Right and Left Wing of the College, the details of shifting not to be known until the time of competition, and to be chosen and umpired by the Commandant of the Royal School of Gunnery, Kingston.

VENNOR'S WEATHER BULLETIN.

Mr. Vennor's Weather Bulletin for March says: The 17th (St. Patrick's Day) will give a great snow storm in Canada. Railroads will in all likelihood be again badly blocked on both 17th and 18th dates. The week commencing Sunday the 23rd will be full of storm, wind, snow, sleet and rain, according to locality. The 30th and 31st are again dates of storm, and either one of these or the 29th is likely to give the great storm of the month.

SALVATION ARMY.

The Revival Proceeds—Victoria Barracks Too Small—The Converts' Experiences.

The Salvation Army has been in Kingston about one month and they have carried on a great revival. Victoria Barracks is too small to contain the people who crush in nightly, and many who want to the meetings out of curiosity now figure upon the platform as converts. The singing is curiously enlivening. Last night the melody captivated a large number. The experiences told are short and we believe earnest. Conversions who have attended the hall regularly for the past few nights say that they have never seen such religious work done. The fashions of the sinners place, however, when the people are crowded in the building, have been fairly expressed by one of the Salvationists when he said that they were regularly treated to a Turkish bath. Ventilation should be had if possible.

Since the Army began their work the police report less drunking and less disorder upon the streets. A young man who early in the movement was converted and stood a good deal of jeering, reports to say that the chief of his tormentors is now in the army.

Another one was scoffed at for joining in the parade of the army and speaking on the Market Square, but he said the last occasion in which he passed over the square he was in the hands of a policeman and bound for the cells. Which was the better position to be in? Such experiences could be multiplied. They are told every evening by the converts.

Capt. Abbie Thompson has been a sufferer for the past week. Her strength has failed her but yet she says she cannot keep away from the meetings. She cannot remain idle. At the meetings she is like a magnet, her words soothe or stray the assemblage, and her voice rings out the loudest in song. In everything she is leader and from her the audiences take the cue. In her absence Lieut. Maxwell leads. As tambourine players the Lieutenants are successful. A band is practising for future appearances.

All vote and work for Mowat and Gildersleeve.

FUTURE SILVER WEDDING.

In 1868 three young men, Messrs. Wm. Allen, T. Conley and R. H. Horsey, at that time prominent members of the Kingston Union Lodge of Oddfellows, M.U., all resolved that in one sense of the word they would not remain odd any longer. So twenty-five years ago yesterday, each took to himself a partner in life. Mr. Horsey's bride was a niece of the late Mr. Richard Scobell. Mr. Allen's a sister of Mr. T. Conley and Mr. Conley's a daughter of the late Mr. Richard Tossell. They were all married at about the same hour in the evening, the officiating clergyman tying in Mr. Allen's case, the late Rev. Dr. Mackay (Presbyterian); in Mr. Conley's, Rev. Dr. Evans (Methodist); and in Mr. Horsey's Rev. Canon Mulock, now of Brockville, (Episcopal). Mr. Allen has had born to him a family of six sons and four daughters. Mr. Conley three sons and six daughters, and Mr. Horsey five sons and four daughters, in all twenty-eight children for the three families, viz., fourteen boys and fourteen girls, the first-born of each family being a girl. Ever since their marriage all three of the gentlemen have been residents of the old limestone city and have taken an active interest in its affairs. Messieurs Conley and Allen have been members of the City Council. All three have been members of the Public School Board, of which Messrs. Allen and Horsey have been Chairman and are still in the Board. All are members of the Masonic craft and are numbered among our well-to-do citizens. The past twenty-five years may possibly have been a chequered one in some respects, but they have all much for which to thank an overruling Providence, as both parents and children are all living to-day and enjoying the blessings of health. May they all long enjoy life, and may happiness ever be their lot.

Vote for Gildersleeve and Ontario's rights.

THE MANITOBA RETURNS.

The expense of receiving these messages to reserve will again fall upon the newspaper offices, and at an increased rate, owing to more extended arrangements for their collection by the company. No returns whatever will be delivered at the telegraph office here, and only those citizens who arrange for private messages will be supplied with the information by the Company. We shall make proper arrangements to supply the public with the news up to a reasonable hour at night.

"The man who made you." Mr. Tait returned, and the vast assemblage laughed until their sides ached.

Just as a calm was resumed some one in the gallery chirped out, "Come again!" and the laughter was renewed.

A CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION.

Mr. Tait, proceeding, claimed that the Stevens Bill was within the jurisdiction of the Legislature and that it would be a sorry day for Ontario when Sir John was permitted to supervise the laws affecting the Government of local affairs. If Kingston did right it would shout one to support Hon. O. Mowat and assist him in giving the death knell to tyranny now and forever. (Applause.) Mr. Tait passed on to review the Boundary Award and to call attention to the manner in which Mr. Metcalfe had wheeled about, demanding for two years the ratification of the Award and then voting in favour of its remission to the Privy Council at the bidding of the man who said that "not one stick of timber, not one acre of land, not one pound of mineral in the disputed territory should Ontario receive." (Applause.) He criticised Mr. Metcalfe's two hours' nomination speech, and said that if it was in keeping with one of ten minutes which he (Mr. Tait) had heard at Toronto it must have been very interesting. Mr. Metcalfe based his claim to consideration upon the ground that he had been a good teacher and that each morning he had read the Scripture to the boys and commented upon the finest passages. (Laughter.) If his talents ran towards teaching and morality he hoped the people on the 27th would vote that he should stay in Kingston and exercise them. (Applause.) Was the two hours effort remitted a recent incident in Bangor College. A venerable professor had been lecturing at great length upon Darwinism. Finally when every one was weary, he put the startling question "If we're the descendants of monkeys where's our tails?" And the student with one accord replied, "They've been cut off long they're all worn off." Loud laughter. This may have described the feeling of Mr. Metcalfe's audience. It is unnecessary to repeat Mr. Tait's views on

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.

We commented them when the gentleman spoke at Portsmouth. Suffice it to say that he proved conclusively that Sir John Macdonald was not always in favour of referring the matter to the Privy Council; that he favoured arbitration; that he had hoped the arbitrators would be satisfactory to the country as they were to him, and that he voted for the payment of their expenses. He did not go into the petty details as he had no desire to bear any one in the audience repeat the question put to Mr McIntyre on Wolfe Island after he had debated the question for three-quarters of an hour. "What are you talking about at all, at all?" (Laughter.) He had but a word to say to one of the legal gentlemen who, at the afternoon meeting, said that the Mackenzie Government moved so slow that one of the arbitrators got tired of waiting and died. The death of no man was a matter for jokes; it was not customary at any rate with the party to which he belonged to make merry over the graves of the departed ones. (Hear, hear and applause.) He was astonished, he said, at the statement of our Opponents—one looking for a Q.C. or a judgeship—that if the Mowat Government were sustained disturbance would be perpetuated, that if the Conservatives got into power all would go smoothly. This was not the workingman's position. They did not want peace at any price, with tears in their eyes and in a pathetic voice they were left going to say to Sir John Macdonald, "Take everything, take all we got, but let us live quietly." (Applause.) Workingmen were not more quarrelsome than others, they were not less desirous of peace than others, nor were they less gentlemanly though they had soiled hands and soiled clothes, but if some fellow came along and took the overcoat of one of them would it be natural for him to cry, "Oh, keep it, keep my garment, but give me peace!" If he was a man worthy of the name would he not knock the fellow down and take his own? (Loud applause.) The land refused to Ontario is valuable, the timber upon it has been assessed at $128,000,000, and if the people do right they will elect men who will demand what belongs to them. (Cheers.)

THE PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

Mr. Tait touched upon the Mowat Government's maintenance of the public institutions. Some of these, he admitted, had been erected by John Sandfield Macdonald,—the man whom the Tory orators "spoke of with trembling voice, whom they worship in death yet crucified when alive, cheers,)—but some nineteen had been erected by the Administration now in power. The deaf and dumb and blind and afflicted otherwise were cared for, cherished, looked after as were the unfortunate of no other province, state or country in the world, and this fact even Dr. Sullivan had admitted. He concluded by picturing the management of Penetanguishene Reformatory and the pathetic scene assembly presented when Mr. Mowat, in his walk through the corridors, puts his hands upon the shoulders of the boy offenders and breathes in their ears words which encourage them, which nerve them to shun the associations that make the uncontrol, which cause them to seek the paths of virtue and piety and merit the gratitude of many a mother. He hoped that on Tuesday the people would show their approval of good Government, that at the Central Committee rooms, Toronto, he would hear it announced that Kingston was loyal to Reform, and that G. F. Gildersleeve was elected. (Loud Cheers.)

A CERTAIN ANSWER.

Mr. Barry was called for and made a few remarks to the effect that Mr. Tait was a pretty good specimen of an ignorant man, and that it was well his challenge to Mr. Tait's services had not been accepted or they would have been sculped and skinned, metaphorically speaking, to be half predicted. (Applause.) He observed that Mr. McIntyre said that he was going to get a good many Reform supporters. (Laughter.) He would like to see them men, to know why the party should not be as united now as in June last, or in Sept., 1878, or in June, 1879? (Hear, hear.) If ever there was a time when the Liberals should be true it was now, when not only the Government but provincial rights were threatened. (Cheers.) Mr. Metcalfe based a great deal of hope up on his "Good Day" and "Good Morning," but they would not do; they would not capture the Liberals; and if they did, if men abandoned their principles for a little stuff the Reform party was well rid of them. (Cheers.) He referred to the recent great Liberal Convention in Toronto, to the fact that already four Reformers had been returned by acclamation to one Conservative, to what the Liberal Government had done for Kingston, and to what the party owed to Mr. Gildersleeve. On Tuesday morning every man should be in his place and should not rest until the close of the poll. If each one did his duty success was certain, and they would have the pleasure of congratulating Mr. Gildersleeve as the member elect for Kingston. (Deafening cheers.) He moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Tait for his eloquent address.

ANOTHER WORKINGMAN SPEAKS.

Mr. McKelvey was warmly received. With a long pull and a strong pull and a pull altogether the election would be won and Mr. Gildersleeve would be elected. (Cheers.) He corrected some misstatements of the Jews respecting him, and declared that he had been persistently attacked by that paper since the day he had entered public life. The time for talk was past the time for hard work had arrived. He looked to the workingmen to be astirre in this election, to vote and work as they ought to do, and then C. F. Gildersleeve would represent them in the Legislature for the next four years. (Cheers.) He seconded the motion of thanks.

The Mayor put the motion to the meeting and the vast audience rose and cheered lustily.

THE CHAIRMAN TAKES THE.

Mr. Tait was applauded as he rose to leave room within our experience in Kingston as he rose to reply. He accepted the motion gratefully, and then proceeded to speak of the manner in which the Reformers were supporting the Labour candidate in Toronto while a straight laced Conservative opposed him. He was about to retire when requested to speak of the excursion trip, and the audience cried "Go on, go on." He smilingly did so, showing that the only objection to Lieut. Governor Macdonald's expenses was the purchase of a few cut-screws; that the liquor was paid for by His Honor; that in the discussion of the subject the Times omitted to speak of Carling's carcase which cost several thousand dollars and the accounts connected with which were buried under those for dusters, red ink, stationery and coronation roads. (Laughter.)

Ald. Whiting made a welcome speech in the course of which he pointed out that at this time every elector should endorse the position of Mr. Mowat that at this crisis in the history of the Province none should be for party but all be for the State.

A LAST WORD.

Mr. Dawson gave a cheering account of the campaign in Addington and Frontenac. He also alluded to a personal matter. He had been called a liar and a blackguard by the News. He had proved by documentary evidence who was the liar, and he would leave the public to judge whether he or the News man were the immoral one. (Loud cheers.) He reminded them of their motto, "Work Won." He hoped they would act upon it.

A SPLENDID SUBJECT.

The Mayor asked all in favor of Mr. Gildersleeve's election to stand up and there was a great uprising. We question if there were 50 Tories in the house.

The meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic political event that has ever taken place in Kingston, and if it means anything it is that C. F. Gildersleeve will be returned to-morrow night.

Vote for Gildersleeve, a large employer of labor.

DR. AUSTIN'S

Phosphatine!

Cures all Nervous Diseases.

Sackville, March 21, 1878

Messrs. LAWRENCE & CO., Toronto.

Gentlemen,—I have taken your Phosphatine of the Age, which I purchased from Dr. Smith, of this place, and have received great benefit from it. I believe that other tablets that are now before the public have a tendency to destroy the nervous system instead of curing it, as I can testify from experience, having taken one of them myself. I would not have it on the place were I to get it for nothing.

Yours truly, J. E. WETHERILL, D.D.S.

Sackville.
