THE ETERNAL GOODNESS.

I know not what the future hath
Of marvel or surprise,
Assured alone that life and death
His mercy underlies.

And so beside the silent sea
I wait the muffled oar;
No harm from Him can come to me
On ocean or on shore.

I know not where His islands lift
Their fronded palms in air;
I only know I cannot drift
Beyond His love and care.

ENGLAND'S "LAME DUCKS."

The New Men of War Built by England Great Naval Works—Total Tonnage.

(Montreal Herald)

Says the Chicago Tribune:—

The French, too, have not been content with the improvements already made. They employ 23,000 men in their dockyards, not in the repairs of the old hulks, but in the construction of new ones. The English dockyards have but 18,000 men employed, principally in repairing the "lame ducks" of their navy. The writer of the above brilliant paragraph is evidently not aware that many of the English ships are built in private dock yards, and not, as in France, solely in the Government yards. To show the kind of "lame ducks" that are now engaging the attention of the English workmen we give below a list of the the new ironclads now building in England, with their tonnage and armament:

Colossus, 9,150 tons, 6,000 horse power, with steel-faced armour from 14 to 18 inches thick, and carrying four 43 ton and four 4 ton guns.

Edinburgh, sister ship to Colossus, with the same tonnage and armament.

Collingwood, 9,150 tons, 7,000 horse power, carrying four 43 ton and six 4 ton guns.

Rodney, 9,683 tons 7,500 horse power, steel faced armour, carrying four 63 ton and six 4 ton guns.

Howe, sister ship to Rodney.

Camperdown, 10,300 tons, 7,500 horse power, steel faced armour 14 to 18 inches thick, carrying four 63 ton and six four ton guns.

Benbow, sister ship to Camperdown.

Conqueror, 6,200 tons, 4,500 horse power, steel faced armour 11 to 12 inches thick, and carrying two 45 ton and four 4 ton guns.

Impregnable, 7,390 tons, 8,000 horse power, steel faced armour 8 to 10 inches thick, carrying four 18 ton and six 4 ton guns.

Warspite, sister ship to Imperieuse.

Here we have ten new and powerful ironclads doubling the weakest of which could sink the whole of the United States navy, measuring 87,000 tons carrying twelve 60 ton, fourteen 43 ton, eight 18 ton and fifty four 4 ton guns. This is a tolerably good showing for "lame ducks."

SUNDAY LETTER WRITING.

The writing of letters on Sunday is condemned by some of the clerical associations, and a movement has been begun in Kingston by the Sabbath Reformation Society to put a stop to it. This it proposes doing by preventing letters from being collected on Sundays, or mail matter from being sorted in the post offices. It is said that many business men put off until Sunday the writing of letters which should be written on Saturday, or even earlier in the week. It may be that they continue to do this even if the letters should not be written on Saturday, or even earlier in the week. It may be that they will continue to do this even if the letters should not be despatched on Sunday, as however desirous the Sabbath Reformation Society may be of putting an end to the writing of letters on Sunday it does not possess the power to invade men's dwellings and take the pen from the hand of the Sabbath breaker. In a great many families Sunday is letter day. The writing of letters is not a task calling for the exercise of physical labour. To thousands it is a recreation and many a heart is gladdened by the receipt of a letter from home or from an absent one, notwithstanding that it has been penned on the Sabbath day, and which if not written on that day would in all likelihood not have been written at all. If people never committed a greater act of wickedness than Sunday correspondence the world be infinitely better than it is. It is not even pretended that the writing of letters on Sunday leads to something worse. No one will argue that it does. To the general principle that as little work as possible of any kind should be left for Sundays, most people will subscribe. The day should be kept for what it was designed to be, a day of rest. But as we have said, the writing of letters, except when it is made a matter of business, is to many people a recreation and a mental enjoyment and does not come under the head of work at all. We very much doubt that every person who writes a letter on the Lord's Day will be consigned to the Abode of Evil.—Toronto Telegram.

A clergyman had just concluded his long discourse, the benediction had been pronounced, and the congregation were dispersing. About half the congregation had their watches out most of the time I was talking."

Mary Tichnor, of Alleghany, Pa., should have the monument of a heroine. She was a nurse girl, and a child of the family in which she was employed ran upon a railroad track. Just then a train came thundering along. Mary ran for the child, and succeeded in pushing it into a ditch, but she was killed, the engine and two cars passing over her body.

A wedding was to have occurred not long ago in county Londonderry, and the expectant bride and bridegroom were walking to church, when suddenly an exuberant parson discharged a gun in honor of the occasion, and brought down both the man and the lady, each being struck in the face and neck and severely injured. The wedding was, of course, postponed.

CAREY LIVING IN NEWGATE.

It is said that James Carey is at present living in Newgate gaol under Government protection. It is certain that Farrell, another of the Phœnix Park informers, is living in that gaol under protection. He got $1,000 from the Government for his services. He came to London, he thought, in perfect disguise and went for a time unguarded. He soon found that he was being tracked by invincibles and became so alarmed that after two days of liberty in London he appealed to the police for protection, stating that he was being shadowed by the avengers of Fenian Lodges. The police sent him to Newgate, where he will stay until some arrangement is perfected for getting him out of the country by stealth. James Carey claims from the Government £5,000 as his share of the reward to the informers. He claims the right to a written pardon and right to constant Government protection wherever he may choose to reside. The Government disputes Carey's claims, says he is entitled to but a small reward and to no pardon, and further insists that if he desires constant Government protection he can get it by taking work in a convict prison.

Carey is, no doubt, getting crazy from constant terror. His mental state now alternates between fits of despondency and fits of frenzied bravado.

The "Myrtle Navy" brand of smoking tobacco has stood the test for over ten years, and during that time it has lost no friend and gained scores of them-selves. This lengthened experience shows that it is no mere passing fashion which has gained it the approval of the public, but its superiority in the essential qualities which make a first class tobacco.

ROMANTIC CAREER.

The Exploits of a Distinguished Woman—Thrilling Adventure and Narrow Escapes.

The Philadelphia Press gives a romantic account of a woman arrested at Port Jarvis as a vagrant. She had travelled from San Francisco, mostly on foot, and was on her way to New York. She was shabbily clad, about forty-three years of age, and gave her name as Elizabeth Benjamin. According to the Press she has had a most wonderful and romantic career. She was born near Merthyr Tydvil, in Wales, and was the daughter of Sir Edward Harcourt, at one time one of the most brilliant young English orators. Her mother was a variety actress, who lived in Wales to escape the persecutions of Sir Edward's family who opposed his mesalliance. When the babe was born she was christened Pauline Elizabeth Harcourt. She was given all the advantages of a superior education, and early in life evinced

GREAT POETICAL GENIUS.

some of her poems, composed when she was 14 years of age, having appeared in the leading magazines of Great Britain. Her mother was a direct descendant of Sir Philip Francis, who is believed to have been the author of the celebrated political essays which startled all England from 1769 to 1777, and which were signed Junius. She fled from a school in St. Andrew's, Scotland, to marry Walter P. Benjamin, a nephew of Judah P. Benjamin, who was visiting England, and whom she had met at a friend's in Swansea. Young Benjamin came to the United States at once upon hearing of the rebellion, enlisted in the Confederate navy, where he remained until the close of the war. He then speculated in cotton, made considerable money, and started by water for California, accompanied by his wife in 1870. They had one child, who died on the voyage to the Isthmus. They were delayed on leaving Aspinwall, and Pauline and her husband were both stricken with a terrible fever, which of Mr. Benjamin and left Mrs. Benjamin very weak. The husband was buried at sea, and Mrs. Benjamin was landed in San Francisco half crazed, and committed to the care of the authorities. For years she was kept in confinement but eventually made her escape. From that time onward her experiences were of the most extraordinary nature, including capture by the Indians, long tramps through the wild west, thrilling adventures and heartbreaking escapes, suffering from hunger and privation in many forms. She succeeded in evading the Port Jervis authorities, and was last heard of at Middletown. She had but sixty miles to tramp from Middletown to New York, where she hoped to catch a steamer for England. She had the key of a safe deposit vault in New York city, where she said her husband had a snug sum of money stowed away, enough to take her to home in Wales and keep her in comfort among the friends of her youth. If the woman's story be true, it quite eclipses anything in imaginary realism on the stage, not even excepting the lurid sensations of "Across the Continent."

A Certain Remedy for Corns.

This is the universal testimony and expressed by everyone who has used Putnam's Corn Extractor. Thousands in Canada have used it with gratifying results, and if you will take the trouble to ask any druggist he will give you the names of many persons of your acquaintance who have been radically cured of the worst kind of corns. Sold everywhere. Safe, sure, painless, and vegetable in composition. Try it. It never fails. Take no substitute. Many of them are positively dangerous. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

Why Be Bestead?

Pure Rain Evidence.

"Often unable to attend business, being subject to serious disorder of the kidneys. After a long siege of sickness, tried Burdock Blood Bitters and was relieved by half a bottle." Mr. S. Turner, of Rochester, N.Y., takes the pains to write.

Pure Squire's Acid Phosphates is a popular beverage and is useful at the same time for the stomach and nervous systems. It braces and invigorates the nerves, eases the stomach and is very good to say that are troubled with kidney troubles. Sold by W. J. Wilson "at the Pharmacy."

Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters tree the system of the poisonous humours that develops into Kidney and Urinary diseases, giving tone and vigor to the Stomach and purify the blood.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills try Carter's Little Pills and take none but them. A man can't stand everything.

Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters removes constipation, relieves dizziness, dispels sick headache, abolish biliousness, and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels.

Consumption.—A sure well known remedy with the Hale Brothers, which several grey heads in the natural color by a few weeks use. Sold at 50 cents a bottle by all druggists.

☞ The nave hits and bruises, also sores and other rich dark colors of the Triangle Dyes are so perfect as the bright shades. They never disappoint the users.

Oh, my Back!

Is there a miserable, weakening pain in the small of the back? Is urination painful? Do you have palpitation of the heart? Do strange, indescribable feelings creep up your back and sides? Does the least exertion weary you? Does your urine show brickdust or albuminous deposit? Does any sudden fright cause an intense, sharp pain in the small of your back? Do you have an aching in the groin? Is your memory impaired? Is your breath short? Are there shooting pains about your vitals? Are you becoming dropsical?

These are all symptoms of kidney diseases. Be on your guard against them. If let run it may end in Bright's Disease, which is sure death.

Your best course is to procure at once a bottle of Starkey & Palen's Iron Bitters containing only iron. It will cure any form of Kidney, Complaint, except Bright's Disease, it will relieve the symptoms and drive the evil day so far off that Starkey & Palen's Iron Bitters is a medicine as harmless as water. The world has not seen its equal as a cure for diseases which attack the kidneys and for the cure; diabetes to which females are also liable. It is of more value than any chemical compound known to the medical faculty.
