CITY AND VICINITY.

PROBS.—Moderate to fresh easterly to southerly winds, fair to cloudy weather with local rain, followed by westerly wind clearing weather and higher temperature.

POLICE RECRUITS.—This morning four strapping fellows appeared before the Police Commissioners as applicants for the vacancy in the force. They were inspected and questioned, a choice will be reached this afternoon. One of the applicants was over 6 ft. 6 in. in height.

BRINGING BACK THE BONES.—During the summer Kingston ships a great deal of meat to the camp ground. Yesterday the Princess Louise brought back a large quantity of newly picked bones, the only remains of the roasts that have been attacked by the tourists.

POLICE COURT.—A farmer was fined $2 for drunkenness. Catharine Catmer, a vagrant, was remanded for a few days. A charge against Jeremiah Meagher, for allowing a nuisance to remain on his premises, was adjourned, as was also a forestalling case against James Daly.

FINDING FINE ORE.—At the bottom of the Lizzie mine, Robertsville, another vein of ore has been struck some 16 feet deep. The shaft is down 230 feet. Other fine beds of ore have been found, and there is a prospect that all will turn out well. The staff of workmen will be largely increased.

WAGES ADVANCED.—The Sailors' Union have sent the mariners' wages up to $2 per day on the lakes. The advance is in keeping with the increased rate of freight. The fall weather is also setting in and the sailors do not care to undergo great risks for small pay.

A COUNTRY FIRE.—The residence of Mrs. Francis Bell, Sharpton, was burned on Thursday. The fire was caused by sparks falling on the roof from the chimney. The wind was in a favorable quarter to save the barn and sheds by the aid of a number of neighbors, plenty of water and wet sheets. Loss $1,200; insurance $400.

FLOATING AT HALF MAST.—This morning Consul Twitchell received a circular announcing the death of Jeremiah S. Black, ex-Secretary of State and ex-Attorney General for the United States. The American flag was run up half mast, and for ten days the Consul will manifest the usual symbols of public mourning.

DEATH OF MR. LEMON.—Last night, shortly before 10 o'clock, William Lemon, who was injured some days ago while attempting to saddle an untamed horse, died from the wounds inflicted by the animal. He was 62 years of age and had been connected with the Fire Department since the purchase of the Merryweather steamer. His death is regretted.

WHAT THEY ARE LIKE.—The barge Montreal has arrived in port, having been raised by the operation of a single pump. The barge was struck amidships and settled upon a rock, with about two feet of water under her at each end. The barge does not appear to be strained in the least. Americans were surprised to find that Canadian barges made of stuff and to stand such a test.

CONFERENCE MEETING.—The General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada opens in Belleville to-morrow. It will be composed of 200 members. Those from this section are: Revs. H. F. Bland, S. Bond, A. B. Chambers, J. Elliott, W. Galbraith, W. Hansford, L. Hooker, M. L. Pearson, W. I. Shaw and R. Whiting. Dr. Lavell is one of the laymen who will attend.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.—A grand display was made last night by an auctioning peddler over cheap jewellery, said to be part of a bankrupt stock from Montreal, and selling at 25c. each piece or in pairs. People who looked about could, however, see precisely similar goods three doors above, in the Seven Cent Store window, offering at 14c. A penny saved is a penny earned.

MIDLAND CENTRAL FAIR.—This Fair is to be held in the first week in October and will certainly excel that of former occasions in the exhibition of live stock. The large number of thoroughbred animals purchased here from exhibitions at the last year's Dominion Exhibition cannot fail to produce a marked improvement. Breeders have become alive to the fact that in order to command ready sales at remunerative prices the degenerate stock of the country must be improved, and it is pleasing to note so decided a step in the advance movement in this important branch of agricultural industry.

HERE AND THERE.

Laconic Arrangement of Items of Local and General Interest—Gossip that is Readable.

The camp at Lemoine's Point is visited by a good many.

Barrie has been bombarded by the Salvation Army.

The last sensation—the shooting of a seal at Howe Island.

Clouds of dust swept through the city to-day. No watering carts were out.

Several candidates in the intermediate examination failed in history.

Belleville regatta to-morrow. The Garfield and Victoria will represent Kingston.

The sidewalk on Clarence Street should be at once renewed. It is very dilapidated.

The schooner W. I. Preston brings 19,000 bushels of rye from Chicago to Kingston at 7c per bushel.

Mr. Dean, bicyclist, on Sunday made the run from Belleville to Kingston in four hours and forty minutes.

Up to Saturday last $7,300 worth of lots at the Thousand Island Park have been sold this season.

Old Sam has now gone west upon secret service, and to-morrow he will be followed by Jack on the Green.

The vessel men are taking things quietly. The forwarders are discharging their craft as rapidly as possible.

One hundred and forty-five went down the river on the Maud this morning. They composed Raymond's party.

The Princess Louise leaves Alexandria Bay every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7 a.m. for Kingston.

If we are to be visited by the Princess on the 10th prox it is about time arrangements were being made to receive her.

Dr. Lafferty has built a very fine residence in Regina. It will compare favorably with anything that side of Winnipeg.

Jas. Bruster, Courtney's former backer says he will now put up $1,000 even money that Wallace Ross can beat Chas. E. Courtney.

One year ago yesterday the Maple Leafs of Kingston were defeated by the Oaks of Bellerville. We expect better things to-day.

Last evening there was a race in the park between Garry Elmer and W. Macdonald, 100 yards, for $25. Elmer won by several feet.

There was a heavy frost yesterday morning, but especially on the low grounds. Frost at this season of the year is very remarkable.

A son of W. Tharlow, who lives in West Nissouri, has a muscle the size and strength of that of a man. Although but 7 years old he weighs 100 lbs.

Ald. Creeggan went to Sand Lake, Rideau Canal, on Saturday, and had great fishing. He caught about 40 of the finest black bass we have seen this season.

Mr. Carmichael, of Bellerville, has purchased a double seated tryocle. He is bound to save a big livery bill. The girls will, no doubt, hanker after Mr. Carmichael. He can take them out driving every night.

There has been only one attempt at firing the property of Mrs. Bowen, burned yesterday, and that occurred six years ago. The fire yesterday broke out in the house and was accidental beyond a doubt.

Two soldiers are now suffering from fractured limbs. Staff Sergt. Worth's is a renewal of the injury received some time ago, and Driver McLeod was hurt by Col. Montmambert's horse rolling upon him.

THREE SCENES.

At an auction sale yesterday, before a piano was offered, the runner for a city seller of instruments went about the crowd declaring that it was a bass wood affair and no good anyway. The auctioneer at last heard him and quietly stepped down and walked him out with a firm grip on the collar. The runner returned in a few minutes and the auctioneer repeated the suppressive operation. Then the victim stood on the sidewalk and declared that the auctioneer would not handle him that way outside. So the auctioneer removed his coat and stepping out to the walk asked the bounced gentleman what satisfaction he pined after. The reply was that he did not, as a fact, sigh after any, that he would never fight on the street, and had, in fact, nothing to say. It was a cruel backdown to force upon a piano critic.

INTERMENT OF A SISTER.

This morning the remains of the late Sister Superior of the Home of Providence were interred in a vault beneath St. Mary's Cathedral. At 6:30 o'clock Father Twohey said first mass, which occurred in the chapel with which the deceased was so long connected. The floral display was very fine. After the sisters had taken a long last look at the placid features of the dear departed—the face betokening the peace which reigned in the soul before its dissolution from the body—the funeral procession occurred, the following acting as pallbearers: Messrs. Joseph Swift, S. and T. O'Connor, F. Cicolari, B. Lahey and T. Gardiner. At the church the body was received by the clergy, now in retreat, and Father Hogan sang mass. The Libera was rendered by Bishop Cleary, at the conclusion of which the coffin was conveyed to the tomb beneath the Cathedral.

POLICE INVESTIGATION.

Yesterday afternoon the Police Commissioners' met and catechised each policeman in regard to his relations on the force. They were asked if they were satisfied with the present condition of affairs. From what we can gather from outside sources the men were also questioned as to statements made in the daily press. Chief Hervey acted as examiner. He is putting the men's statements into shape, and says that the results of the Commissioners' deliberations will be made public as soon as they are complete. Whether the statements of the police will be given to the world we cannot say. The Police Commissioners were again in session this morning.

CAPT. COFFIN CALLS.

A Talk about Army Requirements—He Usually Accommodates Himself to Circumstances.

Capt. Coffin last evening explored the Wine sanctum and exchanged compliments with those who had, in deference to public opinion, enthroned his leadership of a recent meeting. He gave expression to a truth of which we were already conscious, that it is not natural for him to indulge in caprice; but he stated a fact which was quite new to us, that the extravagance in which he has indulged is sanctioned by the directors of the Army and was even suggested to him while in the city. He says he was long connected with the Army before he could cut up in an interesting way, and that he only accustomed himself to it as a means to an end, as an approved method of attracting those whose salvation the soldiers particularly sought. For a long time Capt. Coffin was an A. D. C. to Major Moore, and did office service at headquarters as well as duty as a staff officer. He gave up the post because he found the labours which it involved too much for his health. His place was taken by Capt. Thompson from England, and he was given a brief season for rest. He had not recovered his old time vigour when he returned from a trip across the ocean. He had the opportunity of taking another journey seaward, but declined and came to Canada. He was not under orders here, but was disposed to do what he could to help the Army along. Capt. Abbott's illness kept him longer than he purposed remaining. Thursday he goes to Toronto, where the conduct of the meetings has lately devolved upon Lieut. Kaser, both Captains Wass and Hall being under the physician's care. He regretted that he did not always please, but he thinks the responsibility has been placed upon him for disorders he did not occasion, an intoxicated woman on Tuesday evening causing a sensation which was felt upon the platform as well as in the body of the tent. He says his desire is to adapt himself to circumstances. In Toronto he found that the people liked something "loud" and so were his red guernsey while the women wore their red jackets; in Hamilton, at a meeting of workingmen, he led the service in his shirt sleeves, and only donned his coat when, on all seriousness and with becoming dignity, he invited the people to the penitent bench. here he found the public feeling quiet and reserved, and, excepting a couple of tunes, his actions were not at all extreme. He will meet Major Moore at Toronto on Monday—provided the Commissioner has returned from England—and may expect appointment to some station at an early date. He leaves Kingston at peace with everybody, accepts the criticism of the press in a kindly way, regards the journalists as his friends and hopes to see them again.

Last night he was at Batterson; to-night he will be at the tent; to-morrow evening at Seaboro, and then will be off to the Queen City.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Rev. R. S. Forneri has removed to his new parish—Adolphustown.

Dr. Lafferty has commenced a canvass for the mayoralty of Regina.

The Misses Fuller, of Cape Vincent, are in the city visiting friends.

John Strachan, of Toronto, is renewing early scenes here and renewing old acquaintanceships.

Attorney General Mowat, Sir Leonard Tilley and Lady Tilley were passengers from England by the Parisian.

Principal Dawson, of McGill University, has returned to Montreal from a visit to the North West coal fields.

J. H. Metcalfe, M.P.P., returned to the city to-day from Manitoba.

Capt. Singhrue is to return to Howe Island in November to live out the rest of his days. His old neighbors will welcome him.

Mr. Reed, Treasurer of the Intelligencer Printing Company, passed through the city this afternoon en route home, having spent his holidays in the east.

General Robert C. Schenck, formerly United States Minister to England, and his three daughters, left Alexandria Bay yesterday for Montreal.

A. H. Rae, M.P.P., Napanee; Chilian Jones, Brockville; J. Hackett, Peterboro; General Lloyd Aspinwall and Dr. Ayer, New York, are at the Burnett House.

It is said that M. Bosse, M.P. for Quebec Centre, will get a judgeship that Mr. Garneau will be raised to the Senate, and Mr. Desjardins enter the local cabinet.

A. M. Brown, of Winnipeg, and formerly of Kingston, along with two friends, had a narrow escape from drowning while sailing on the Lake of the Woods. Their small boat capsized, and the gentlemen had to cling to it for several hours until it drifted ashore.

R. J. Bowen left this morning to attend a large trade sale of fall and winter dry goods in Montreal on Wednesday. As goods will likely be sold very cheap he intends to purchase largely and his friends and customers may look out for bargains on his return here after visiting friends at Ottawa.

The delegates to St. George's Convention from Kingston, opening this evening at Toronto, are President Smythe, Vice-President Thurston and Mr. Palmer. The hon-ton shoemaker, Wm. Allen, left to-day for Toronto with the delegates, and it is reported that he is to run off as a good looking Englishman en route.

LOCAL EVIDENCE.

John Magill, of this city, came from that part of the old country in which the seat of the Marquis of Lansdowne, Bowood, is located, and he is surprised at the feeling of hostility shown to the incoming Governor General on the ground of ill-treatment of tenants. He knows the Marquis to have been most popular in the town of Calne, which he mostly owns, as well as throughout the whole district.

GRAND NATIONAL CONCERT.—The Maud on Friday will leave at 1 o'clock sharp and remain at the Park until after the grand concert. Tickets only 25c., good to return any day on the steamer Princess Louise.

A SELF-MADE MAN.

John White, M.P., in the City. A Talk About "Old Times" and the Orange Bills.

Yesterday we announced the arrival at the Windsor Hotel of John White, M.P. He came to the city on a mission whose purport will transpire in due time, but apart from questions of a personal or political character his presence in the city was taken advantage of by many to pay him their respects. Mr. White is a typical Irishman, a man with an undying affection for the land of his birth, with the characteristically fiery spirit and flash of his countrymen, with a green spot in his memory for that "home, sweet home," beyond the sea, and a burning love of Canada. Like most of our public men his ascent to place and popularity has been by gradual stages. His glib tongue first received exercise in a deliberate assembly when he was a member of the Hastings County Council, and his activity and dogged perseverance then marked him as a man with a promising future. It is safe to say that he fairly understands the movements of the electoral machine, having passed through no less than thirteen municipal and some six or seven parliamentary campaigns. He has

and the alternation of these have certainly had their advantages, having on the one hand a tendency to make him bow to the line as closely as party interests would permit, to be mindful of the fluctuating character of public opinion and on the other to develope his combative power, his physical force and talent for debate. He has been best known as an out spoken Orangeman, as an honor bearer in the Order, as the member to whom was committed the custody of the Orange Bills at the last session of the House of Commons. He was asked last evening

"Will these Bills come up again?"

"I don't know," he responded. "The matter of incorporation has been referred to a Special Committee of the Grand Lodge, and if this Committee again apply for an Act and ask me to see to it, to move for it, I will be glad to serve them."

He seemed to think that the Orangemen should never cease their effort for incorporation, and that the agitation would gain in popularity. A bystander remarked that there was a in the speech made by the member on the first reading of the bill. He replied that he thought it exceedingly moderate under the circumstances. He said that on the Sunday before this reading occurred he saw some of the Quebecers in close conversation, knew that some of them visited the house of a French Canadian Minister, and supposed that an opposition was being organized. Next day he asked one of them what the game was and was given to understand that all would be plain sailing, that the opposition had become fearfully demoralized. He thereupon moved, at an early and fitting opportunity, the first reading of the bill, and was dumbfounded when Mr. Cournel attempted to give it a six months hoist. He was to be excused when he spoke heatedly and jubilated upon his subsequent success. He regretted that the Grits did not vote solidly with him on the second reading, and if they had he thought the Orange Order would have been effectually cleared of politics, at least their leaning would be different to what they had been. Of course he forgets that had the Grits been thus "solid" they would have been only helping Sir John out of a difficulty in which he desires to remain so long as his own friends do not come to the rescue.

CULTIVATION OF SUAVITY.

Mr. White has become quite a conversationalist and speaker, and has cultivated the suavity of the professional politician. Though a heavy weight (180 lbs.) it must not be supposed that he is a man of leisure. His hands are as busy as his head, and in East and North Hastings his various industries give proof of good management.

A BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

John White was born in Donegal, Ireland, and educated there. He married in Roslin, the village in which he now resides. He was first elected to Parliament in March, 1871, re-elected in 1872 and 1874. In 1878 he was defeated, but on a re-count was declared elected, but unseated on a petition. In the new election, 23rd of February, 1879, he was elected, and again so in June last.

FOUNTAIN LEARNS TO READ.

In publishing a memoir of the late James Fountain one noticeable fact escaped notice—that he went to school when over 30 years of age, in this city, and that he achieved the great ambition of his soul in learning to read. Paul Peterson taught him in the little frame school house which stood upon Bagot Street, on the site of Mrs. Orr's residence for many years. Fountain had as a companion one Elder, who, like himself, was far advanced in years and kept a confectionary store on the premises occupied by B. Monahan, opposite Folger's Exchange, on the corner of Clarence and Ontario Streets, a man remarkable in his day and the owner of some five cords of wood upon the Market Square for a bet. Fountain lived close to the school and was an outcast in his study. He did not hope to become a scholar and turn his education to financial account; he was deeply religious, anxious to feast upon Biblical truths and wanted to read them for himself. This accomplishment was to him a great consolation, and that he used it will be evidenced by his knowledge of the gospel. S. S. Pepgram, W. Johnston, George Walker, John Smith (son of the late Custom House officer) one of the Litsons and others went to Peterson's school when Fountain attended. The Baptist Church was then on Bagot Street.

☞ My skin, which has been covered with scaly sores, has become clean, smooth and soft as a baby's. My hands were covered with little sores. They have disappeared and I'm better than I have been for twenty years, using Dr. Benson's Skin cure.—S. M. Noble, Selma, N. C., July 7, 1883.

CONCERT BY THE LINCOLNS.

An Evening of Sacred Song. A Good Audience—Rev. LeRoy Hooker's Hearty Endorsation.

The Lincoln Family—father, mother and son—Americans, who are said to have sung in thirty-two States in the Union, gave a delightful concert in the Sydenham Street Church last evening. The programme was composed of songs which were both new and pleasing, in fact peculiarly those of the vocalists and only rendered by them. Perhaps the best selection of the evening was "Keep in the Middle of the Road," the words by Hayes, and the music by McCabe. This was a plantation melody, full of spirit and calculated to give prominence to the alto voice of Master Charles. A touching thing was, "When the Roses Come Again," which was prefaced by explanations, revived the incidents of Garfield's death, and especially remembrance of the present (a wreath of roses sent to Cleveland by the Queen. "Gathering Shells by the Sea Shore," was the only really comic number during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln indulged in a little dramatic, at least they united action to language, and so pointedly illustrated the characteristics of lovers that the audience could not refrain, in church though they were, from loudly applauding them. The Bucket Song, composed and rendered by Master Charles, was very interesting, and the same may be said of "The Sword of Bunker Hill," by Mr. Lincoln. The second best piece was "The Old Musician and his Harp," descriptive of an old man's love for his instrument at the portals of death. The recitation of Master Charles, "The Ship at Sea," was not remarkable but the "Rescue" which followed, by Mrs. Lincoln, in a rich soprano, was worthy of the highest commendation. "The Dream" concluded the entertainment. It was a composition by Philip Phillips, and was accompanied upon the very organ which the great praise songster used in Canada. Kingston is the first place visited by the Lincolns in Canada, and they were pleased to be greeted by so large an audience. Rev. LeRoy Hooker commended the entertainment to the support of the people in other places. He endorsed the Lincolns because they sang the songs of Jesus.

SINKING OF THE PROP. PRUSSIA.

The Brockville Recorder says the Prussia struck a sunken rock off Chippewa Point and started. She swims in her hull. She struck her bow sideboard and glanced off into deep water. The pumps were put at work. She began to fill rapidly and was accordingly run on the rocky shoal near Five Mile Light, where she went down. When it became evident that she could not reach shore, her passengers, some twenty five in number, were placed in the boats and safely rowed to shore. One or two ladies fainted through fright and excitement. The Celtic and Europe, the former going East and the latter West, happened along within an hour of the accident and took on the wrecked passengers. Some of them, who had return tickets for the round trip, went back by the Europe, while the through passengers took passage by the Celtic. None of them lost an article. The steamer went down bow first until about half her hull was submerged, when she rested on the rock. The stern sank in about 25 feet of water, which covered part of her rail, but caused no injury to the forward cabins. She listed slightly but for all was not in a bad position.

THE BETHESDA WATER acts immediately on the Liver, restoring it to a healthy action in a few days. Bethesda Water will cure Rheumatism in the form of it. The worst cases permanently cured in less than a month. Bethesda Water will clear the blood, remove all impurities from the blood, and will positively overcome the effects of the system. It separates the bile from the blood, allowing the blood to become pure and healthful. I have seen hundreds of these cases cured.

FOR DYSPEPSIA

With its formidable list of discomforts, brought on by indigestion we find that Bethesda Water the most effectual remedy ever used for it every time it is used. Try it.

WHAT WE CLAIM.

To all who desire to increase their flesh and strength in the shortest possible time, (especially those who are losing flesh daily) we unhesitatingly assert that the fat producing properties of PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND, combined with the Nerve Tonic properties of the best Nerve Tonic ever used, will more speedily and effectually accomplish these important results than any other combination ever used. For hundreds of years it has been known that Fish Soups are very valuable in the treatment of Consumption, and in the same way. In Pain's Celery Compound, the FAT-PRODUCING, BLOOD-MAKING and HEALING properties of Fish Soups are obtained in the most easily digested form and united with the purest curative principles ever discovered. Remember that Pain's Celery Compound is not a mere stimulant, even the most delicate invalid can take it, and at the same time be assured it contains just the curative elements required to make rich blood, and to build up a perfect and healthy system. Read the following testimonial:

Perth, Ont., Feb. 24th, 1883.

Messrs. Wells, Richardson & Co.,
Gentlemen,—Having bought many different kinds of medicines for my wife, I can say that Pain's Celery Compound is the best I have ever used. Yours &c., JAMES HOGAN.

For sale at Wade's drug store, corner King and Brock Streets, and the Pharmacy, W. J. Wilson, (successor to Health & Grant) 260 Princess Street.
