Daily British Whig.

If the city attempts a reception of the Princess and Marquis it should be a loyal and hearty one, no mere formal attempt. Kingston has once shewn them the warmest of welcomes and as this is semi-private a repetition of the demonstration may not be expected. But if it be attempted it should not be dwarfish by comparison. An illumination to be general requires a notice of more than one or two days.

The Guelph lottery scheme is in a sickly condition despite the desire of the Police Magistrate and others to sustain it. Three of the Trustees, Col. Higginbotham, Geo. A. Onward and ex-Mayor Harris have published a card announcing their withdrawal as Trustees. Why do the law officers of the Crown tolerate such a dubious concern? Papers which insert advertisements should be prosecuted also, or all lottery advertisements should be permitted.

If there is any strength in the projected movement here of the "Good Samaritans," it will give fresh cause for jealousy among church people. The care of the sick and distressed, and the teaching of the duty of man to God and of man to his neighbor, is the peculiar work of the churches. The potent defence of the Salvation Army is that it goes down to the level of the worst offender and brings him to his senses in a way that no church will do, the eccentricities so abhorrent to some being cultivated simply as a means almost necessary to that end. The good Samaritans to be successful must choose a work that churches cannot do, or at least do not efficiently perform.

PROPOSED CHANGE.

Should the negotiations of the C. P. R., for an almost perpetual lease of the K. & P. R. R., be successful, Kingston will lose one of its own peculiar institutions. Some times it has been felt that the K. & P. Company were receiving favors that were inimicial to the interests of the corporation and citizens at large, but yet it was felt that after all, its patronage in the way of shops and improvements would be devoted to Kingston. Now that its privileges, and they are extraordinarily large in Kingston, are in danger of going to a company which has less interest in this city than in fifty other places, there is much anxiety as to the result.

THE POLICE FORCE.

Two dismissals and one resignation out of a force of thirteen is such an evident endorsation of the call made for a thorough investigation of the doings of the force that the public will be thankful to ex-constable Hoyle and to the press for their outspoken opinions. Were the evidence obtainable we believe we would be in a still better position to point out the great urgency for enquiry. That such a rotten state of affairs should grow up under the very nose of a Sergeant Major placed over the force for an immediate supervision, without a report from him let alone an occasional checking, is the best possible evidence that could be afforded as to his inefficiency and the usefulness of the office. It is a great pity, for the sake of the city, that the Commissioners do not appreciate the lesson.

SANITARY ASSOCIATION.

The importance of this Association cannot be too highly estimated; it deserves, therefore, the support of the community. It is not more than fifty years since the first movement for sanitary organization was made in England, and the immense reduction in the death rate of cities and towns hereon not a doubt of the great success that has followed it. But independent of the moral influence upon the industrial classes of cleanliness, of comfortable dwellings in lieu of hovels, and of the filthy and unventilated tenements in which mechanics and laborers were formerly forced to live, there is another important value to be attached to them, the saving of human life. The sanitary education of the people is wealth to a country, particularly to Canada, which spending large sums of money and given grants of land in order to encourage to it the emigration of men far inferior to the sons of our soil. How frequently we hear of some eminent clergyman, physician, scientist or, public character being carried off by disease which had its birth in an undrained locality and was multiplied and nursed in an overcrowded and unventilated dwelling. To Mr. F. N. Boxer, Chief Engineer of Montreal, is largely due this sanitary movement, and the organization of the Association, and surprise has been expressed at the action of the physicians who somewhat risked the formation of the Association. It is a great mistake to suppose that a Sanitary Association can be made a success by having its Executive Department placed entirely in the hands of physicians, and Mr. Boxer was perfectly right in insisting that one-half of the members of the Executive Committee should be formed of gentlemen who were not of this class. It was also somewhat annoying to hear the speeches of some men and note their evident political intent. The suggestion that the Confederation Act be changed so as to have sanitation made a Dominion instead of a Provincial question completely failed. The Ontario Government has not been unmindful of the suggestions of the people, and it has promoted various schemes which affect the welfare of the masses, particularly the welfare of the workingmen. When the functions of the Dominion and Provincial Governments become fully recognized the recommendations of Dr. Larocque were rejected and his report very wisely laid upon the table. We hope it will stay there.

LEASING THE LINE.

A Rumor That is Startling Afloat—There Must be Some Negotiations—Railway Matters.

There was a rumor in the city last evening that the Kingston & Pembroke RR. had been leased to the Canada Pacific RR. Company for 99 years. The latter Company having completed their line from Perth to Sharbot Lake desired an opening to the Lake and this was, it was said, secured by leasing our local line. The members of the K. & P. RR. Company were interviewed on the subject but they were extremely reticent about giving information. While they seemed not desirous of positively stating that negotiations were closed yet they would not deny that negotiations were pending for the securing of the end. It is also reported that the Grand Trunk are anxious to secure the line. Of the two we are sure the public would prefer the C.P.R. to have it as it would give Kingston competition both east and west. When navigation closes Kingston is always at the mercy of the G.T.R. and so an advance in rates follows. The leasing of the K. & P. RR. would give the G.T.R. a competitor and the rivalry could be carried out more effectively by a great company than by the company now owning the line.

It is probable that as soon as the track is graded from Sharbot Lake to Perth that through trains will be run from Kingston to Ottawa. The distance is as short by this route from here as by way of Brockville, and the scenery is grander. Then more advantageous trains will be run. People will not be required to spend a whole day in coming from Ottawa here. We hope the K. & P. RR. will not be leased, but that arrangements will be made by which the two lines can do business together, to the advantage of both.

The Brockville Recorder says the railroad to Westport will proceed; that all necessary steps towards securing a charter have been made. The K. & P. RR. line to Westport will also go through. The people in the rear would much rather have connection with the largest place and best market. The cost to them will be less also.

PERSONAL MENTION

Judge Dowsy, General Adjuster of the Watertown Agricultural Fire Insurance Company, was here yesterday settling claims.

W. E. Whelan, of Sharbot Lake, has removed to Westport.

Hon. J. Costigan and a party of friends from Ottawa were at Newboro last week fishing and boating. Hon Costigan sang a solo at an entertainment given under the auspices of St. Mary's (Anglican) Church.

Major-General Laird will inspect the Cobourg camp on Thursday, Sept. 20th.

Hon. John Carling, Postmaster-General, is on a brief visit to the capital. He will remain for a few days, notwithstanding the pressure of his own business in connection with his brewery.

Robt. W. Monk, managing editor of the Times, and A. Lanigan, left yesterday on a trip to New York and Philadelphia.

Rev. J. M. Hagar went West to Welland yesterday, after spending a number of pleasant days in Kingston.

William Martin, sr., writes from London, Eng., that he is much improved in health. The numbness caused by paralysis has all left his arm.

The recent visit of W. J. Robertson, of Thorold, was but a preliminary to his nuptials. We wish him a pleasant journey on the marital sea.

The little daughter of James Spearman, of the Inland Revenue Department, was buried at his old home, London. The sympathy of a host of Kingstonians followed him on the sad journey.

Rev. R. McKay, of Kingston, occupied the chair at William Forbes' able lecture at Montreal. The Regina Leader attacks the former for his frank description of that place. You cannot tell a plain unvarnished tale of that spot and be forgiven.

DROWNED OUT WEST.

On Wednesday last Luther Washburn, a little son of Mr. and Mrs. Washburn (the latter a sister of Capt. Hurley, of this city) of Bay Mills, near Sault Ste. Marie, was drowned. The lad was playing on the lake shore near his home and while dabbling in the water got on a plank that was floating about. The wind was off the shore and the child was carried outward until the rough water was reached, and he was drowned. An alarm was at once raised and a party set out to find the remains, but up to the time of the intelligence being sent East the body had not been recovered. Mr. Washburn was away at the time and the sad news came with terrible force upon him. The boy, aged 3 years, was a bright eyed, loving child and the idol of his parents.

BARRY OUTLOOK.—R. J. Kilbeck, while in Owego, visited every commission merchant and found that the outlook for barley was the dullest for many years. The merchants had no orders for barley. The maltsters had much old grain on hand and had no desire to purchase new grain until they needed it. The barley harvest will open at from 40c to 60c per bushel.

BUYING A TOM CAT.

Investigating the Charges Against A. H. Roe—Buying a Tom Cat for $2—Not Taken Away.

At the Lennox election trial yesterday before trying the charges (evidence printed yesterday) Mr. Blackstock, for the respondent, admitted that agency had been established between Roe and Sharma. Mr. Kerr argued that being so, Mr. Sharma was already guilty of a corrupt practice in bringing and giving liquor to voters on election day in the blacksmith shop near the poll in Wilton; that it was a violation of sections 132 and 159 of the Election Act.

The Judges reserved their decision.

Peter Davis knew Mr. Roe. On the day of the election at Robbin he came to him and asked him to vote for him; witness replied that he did not think he would; Mr. Roe heard him what was the reason when witness replied that it was because he (Roe) had been bail the time he done business for him in reference to his place; Mr. Roe asked him if that was all he had against him; he (witness) replied that was about all, when Mr. Roe offered to leave the matter to two men to decide. Witness said he would not vote for him on that understanding, whereupon he (Mr. Roe) asked him how much he calculated he had taken out of him, and said for him (the witness) to go in and vote for him, and whatever he claimed that was taken out of him he would give to him; witness said upon that understanding he voted for Roe.

Jefferson Davis said his brother had said that it was mostly in consequence of what Mr. Roe had said to him that he voted, and that Mr. Roe said if he voted for him he would make it all right with him.

Alex. Hall for the respondent, had a conversation on election day with Peter Davis in reference to the mortgage transaction. Davis did not appear satisfied as to the accounts. He told Davis that if there was anything wrong it would be made right; that he would do this irrespective of the election.

Their Lordships in giving judgment as to this decided to take the version of Mr. Roe in opposition to that of Mr. Davis and dismissed the charge.

James Taylor said John Lowry asked him not to vote until he saw him next day. Early next day Lowry visited him at his (witness') house, and Lowry seeing witness cat lying by the fire said he wanted to buy it. Witness, who is an old coloured man, replied that the cat was all the housekeeper he had, and he couldn't very well spare her. Lowry then offered him $2 for the cat, saying that he would come for her on a certain day. Witness took the $2 and still had the cat. Lowry had never come after it. Lowry asked him to vote for Mr. Roe. Since the charge had been brought Lowry had asked him what he was going to do about it. Witness replied that he was going to tell the truth if it killed or cured.

A number of charges relating to treating electors by the respondent and his agents were then taken up and fully gone into. Their Lordship deferred judgment as to them until the morning.

John J. Johnson, of Bath, testified that three or four days before the election A. H. Roe treated at Bath in Ferris's Hotel.

Isaac Johnson said Mr. Roe treated on one occasion at Ferris's hotel. On that occasion Mr. Roe said, "Gentlemen, come and have something."

John Macpherson said Mr. Roe treated in Bath.

A. H. Roe deemed treating after he began his campaign.

CHARGED WITH ARSON.

This morning James Jamieson appeared in the police dock after a week's visit to the goal. He was charged with firing the barn of the Wilder Bros. on Princess street about a week ago. B. M. Britton, Q. C., prosecuted. The first witness was Joseph Langwith, of Kingston Township, who related the circumstances of the arrest and punishment of Jamieson ten years ago for firing witness's and Mr. Leatherland's barns. Much damage ensued from the burning of Mr. Langwith's barn, for the fire spread to the fields and woods. At that time Jamieson confessed but said the fire was accidental. He was smoking in the barn and it caught from the pipe.

William Stickney saw prisoner loitering around Wilder's barn on August 23rd, when the first barn was burned. He was not seen afterwards.

James Wilder said that he met Jamieson about the barn on August 22nd. The first barn was burned on the 23rd. None of the family had been near the barn on the day before the fire.

Henry Wilder made a statement but nothing criminatory was brought out. Suspicion was placed on Jamieson because he had been in the vicinity and had served previous terms in the Penitentiary for similar offences.

The case was adjourned for a week and the prisoner sent to goal.

YOUNG WIFE'S CRIME.

Stanbrooke, P.Q., Sept. 11.—The coroner's jury in the case of Simeon E. Coates of Bolton, Eastern Township, adjourned to obtain an analysis of the contents of the stomach of the deceased, continued its sittings yesterday. The evidence showed that Emma J. Rogers, the wife of the deceased, had been on terms of intimacy with a young man named Oscar Laborce, of Easton, that a few days before her husband's death she obtained his permission to visit some friends in this city. While absent she met Laborce. They drove to Coaticook and stayed there in a hotel over night. While there he went to a drug store and purchased chloroform and perfumery and they drove back to Stanbrooke. It also appeared that she went to a druggist here under the fictitious name of Fred. King, alleged under purporting to be signed by Dr. Flanagan, of Great Falls, N.B., for fifty cents of strychnine to kill foxes and which was to be sent, and was sent by mail. The jury found a verdict of "death from poisoning administered by Emma Rogers." The woman is in prison awaiting trial.

When the orgie was high the lamp was knocked down, and in the darkness the melee became general. The door was locked; each man for himself.
