THE ACTING OF MY WIFE. It was a happy day for me, when I saw my wife again. She had been away for some time, but she had returned, and she was as well as ever.

I think that I had the best looking woman I ever saw. Her hair was of a rich, dark brown, and she had a pair of beautiful, deep blue eyes. Her nose was straight and her lips were of a natural pink.

"I don't know," I said, "but I think I have never seen you before." "I have never seen you before," she replied, "but I think I have never seen you before."

"I don't know," I said, "but I think I have never seen you before." "I have never seen you before," she replied, "but I think I have never seen you before."

"I don't know," I said, "but I think I have never seen you before." "I have never seen you before," she replied, "but I think I have never seen you before."

"I don't know," I said, "but I think I have never seen you before." "I have never seen you before," she replied, "but I think I have never seen you before."
