REMINDERS.

THIS DAY.

A meeting called for purchase five shares in the Hockey Co.

Annual union Meeting of Good Samaritans at Mission Hall at 8 p.m.

Daily British Whig.

The Dominion Churchman says: "We cannot but feel grateful to Principal Grant, of Queen's College, Kingston, for protesting in the name of that University, and of Trinity and Victoria Universities also, against the employment of Provincial funds for assisting University College at the expense of the public who are supporting and are more interested in other Colleges. When Dr. Grant attends Trinity Convention, as he intimates his intention of doing, he will learn that the Churchmen, while staunch in their principles and free from the maudlin sentimentality which is an insult to every man who holds a definite belief and knows the grounds of his convictions are courteous and chivalrous and sympathetic towards those from whom they differ, and especially entertain towards men of high culture and high enthusiasm for education, and high principles as religious teachers, and high devotion to their country's best interests, the sincerest respect." Such are indeed encouraging words.

BANK CIRCULATION.

A bank issues its notes as money on the basis of its assets. This privilege has been granted on the ground of expediency. Many years will elapse before the increase of national wealth will render its continuance undesirable. Through this agency thirty millions of capital, created by the skill of the paper maker and engraver, has been placed in the hands of the deserving bankers of this country. To a poor nation the issue of a well secured paper money is a blessing. The profits on its issue enable banks to open branches in small towns. Under its helpful influence natural resources are developed, factories established and trade increased. The available capital of the nation is largely supplemented at small cost. Loans are more easily obtained, the rate of interest is lowered and cash payments are encouraged. On the other hand it would prove a tremendous evil in a rich country. The value of actual money would be depreciated and luxurious and extravating habits of living would spread among the people.

A chartered bank may issue notes of the denomination of five and multiples of five to an amount not exceeding its paid up capital. The bank notes in circulation approximate to 30 per cent. of the amount authorized. The Government issue of notes (legal tenders) amounts to $13,000,000, two-thirds of which is held by the banks as a reserve. It reserves to itself the right to issue notes of denominations under $5, and also by law authorizes a person to demand from a bank $50 of a payment in legal tender. In spite of this the Government circulation in the hands of the people only equals one-sixth of the aggregate bank issues outstanding.

A bank note is payable in legal tender at the head office of the bank which issues it. It is at a bank's opinion whether such payment be made at a branch or not. Redemption goes on unceasingly. The daily amount retired is about 8 per cent. of the entire circulation. The public will not hold more than their necessities require. The average time during which a note remains in circulation is constantly decreasing. The popularity of Savings' Banks, the increase of cash payments, the growing disposition to keep a banking account, and the ever widening facilities of communication are combining to shorten the journeys of a bank bill.

The expenses connected with the system are not slight. Fees to engravers and express companies, salaries to additional cashiers and interest on additional reserve funds, make substantial inroads on the profits of circulation. The holder of a Canadian Bank note is undoubtedly well secured. In the event of a failure Government deposits are a first charge on the assets and then provision is made for outstanding circulation. If the assets are not sufficient to pay claims persons who held the bank's stock within the 30 days previous to its suspension are liable for the shortage to the extent of the par value of the shares held. The Canadian banks, which have failed, have ultimately retired every note presented for redemption. The delay, however, in redeeming such notes, is the cause of loud complaint. The public imitate the banks and refuse to receive them. The unlucky holders, therefore, are often constrained to discount them. Vexatious loss and inconvenience have been thus occasioned. If the banks would agree to honor them, or the Government undertake to accept and hold them for redemption, the one great objection to the system would be removed. Interest could very properly be allowed on the amount thus held. The security would be ample, as we have pointed out. As a result no bank's notes would be dishonored, and the system would grow in popular favor.

There are not a few to advocate the suppression of bank currency. Will those who economists suggest how we could replace the thirty millions of capital thus destroyed? We cannot obtain legal tenders without paying for them dollar for dollar. As the wealth of the nation increases the usefulness of bank circulation will decline, and finally, Government notes will be the sole paper money in use. Even now a reduction in the authorized proportion of circulation to capital might be wise. Banks in Toronto and Montreal are fostering the national evil of stock gambling. The law, thus openly violated, is founded on sound principles, but is open to misuse as other good laws.

Were the Finance Minister to threaten the banking fraternity with a curtailment of the privilege of issuing notes, if stock speculation be not discouraged forthwith, bankers might speedily be brought to consider the danger to themselves and the public as well as realize the impropriety of such speculations.

Manipulations of Stock.

The Montreal Star says that for some time a good deal of the manipulation of the stock of the Royal Canadian Insurance Company has been in progress. For two years one gentleman has been assiduously buying up shares at reduced values, until he holds a controlling interest. He wishes to place his Company in liquidation in order to realize on his shares, but the balance of the directors strenuously object and have been deliberating over plans with which to block the game of the speculative shareholder. As the matter stands at present this shareholder owns 6,800 shares against 8,800 held by the directors and their interest. Should any heavy loss happen to the Company, necessitating a call upon the stock, the gentleman with the plethora of shares would not be able to respond, and would consequently force the other shareholders to pay up for him. One of the "block" schemes broached by the directors, although not fully discussed, is to apply for an Act of Parliament to reduce the capital stock to $500,000, paid up. With the stock paid up they would not care who held the shares. Then it has been suggested that making a test call of five per cent. upon the stock would effectually "corner" the shareholder in question, who would in consequence be unable to pay up. Other means have been devised as well, the directors being determined not to liquidate, as the Company are, they declare, now in a first-class condition. The outcome of this case will interest many in Kingston.

The Ubiquitous Kid.

A young man in Portland, Me., claims to be Charlie Ross. He says he is about 18 years old, good looking, and came from Boston four weeks ago. He says he intends to save money to take him to Philadelphia, where he will call on C. K. Ross. He remembers living in a large house, of being taken away by two men in a carriage, put aboard a vessel and carried to Winterport, Maine, where he was kept in a dark room occasionally. He was abused. There were other children in the house, but he rarely saw them. After staying in Winterport several years he was carried to Brazil. On the voyage he learned that he was stolen by Jesse James, the Daviscon and Pinkton. After reaching Brazil he got away from James and returned to this country, working his passage on a ship. Since then he has been to sea most of the time, serving as cook. He can read a little, but can not write.

Grand Opening.

The great Metropolitan Opera House, New York, was opened on Monday night to an audience of nearly 3,000. The aggregate amount of wealth represented by the occupants of the 122 boxes was $200,000,000. The opera was Faust interpreted by Campanini as Faust, Christine Nilsson as Marguerite, Scalchi as Siebel and Novara as Mephistopheles. The orchestra, 110 pieces, was led by Signor Vianesi. Speculators on the pavement sold seats in the parquet readily for $40 and $40 each. The opera was a most brilliant affair, and the greatest social event of the season.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the Mayor and Aldermen of Ottawa presented the Governor-General with an address.

MARINE NEWS.

Settling the Claim—Held by the Government—Cutting a Captain's Throat Badly.

The steam barge Bolinaco has arrived from Charlotte with 297 tons coal.

The schr. Annandale has cleared with lumber and telegraph poles for Oswego.

The schr. Emerald is on St. Catharines dry dock. She sprung a leak on her downward trip.

It is said that there are about a quarter of a million bushels of grain on the lakes en route to Kingston.

The tug Purew has cleared for Montreal with five barges having 2,400 tons of coal and 14,000 bush. of grain.

The schr. Huron has turned up all right. She is now at St. Catharines with white wood from Lake Superior. She, too, will lay up.

The drill scow Torpedo, in the Galops, is to be moved 300 feet down stream to the head of the lower bar. The steam tug remains in her present station. River pilots will do well to paste this in their hats.

The schr. Sylvester Neelon is at Bay City, where she will lay up. She went there after a load of cubic timber, but as she could not reach Collins' Bay in time to catch the raft being made up for Quebec, her owner decided to stop over for the winter and avoid the expense incurred by sailors' wages, $4 per day.

Capt. Saxie Brooks, of the Cornia of Port Dalhousie, had a dispute with Miller, the mate, at Port Arthur. Miller slashed the Captain's throat, making a gash of three inches and a half. Brooks was about to shoot when the two were separated. The Captain will recover.

The schr. Flora Howard has been towed into Charlotte harbor. She had been caught in the storm while en route from Wellington to Oswego. She had her jibboom and forward sails carried away, and was pounding badly when rescued. Seamen say that Lake Ontario was never rougher than on Saturday and Sunday.

The Chicago Times says a sensational item has been published to the effect that the Canadian schooner Bangalore, when placed in the dry dock, was found to have been bored with an auger, with an alleged intention of sinking her. The Captain of the Bangalore was at the Custom House yesterday and denounced the report as a ridiculous statement, without the slightest shadow of truth.

CLAIM AGAINST THE PRUSSIA.

The claim held against the prop. Prussia by the Dominion Wrecking and Salvage Company has been adjusted. The Insurance Pool has telegraphed the Captain to draw on them. The propeller has been detained here by the Customs authorities for not reporting her repairs. The circumstances have been made known to the Department at Ottawa. There was a rumor afloat that a fine of $200 had been imposed. We asked a Customs official:

"Do you think the Captain will be fined?"

"Yes I do, but probably not such a sum as has been mentioned."

"What did the repairs at Oswego cost?"

"I don't know, but an authority says $2,000."

Peter Mitchell says he was prepared to pull the Prussia out here but the insurers would not accept his terms. He could have dry docked the boat.

The Salvation Army vs. The Churches.

To the Editor, British Whig.

SIR,—In a letter to the Daily News last night "Observer" assails the Salvation Army in general and Capt. Abbie in particular, and broadly hints at antagonism of the Army to the churches by stating that "to become a S. A. convert means that the convert has to sever his connection with the church of his forefathers." What other consequence, possibly he may mean that to become a member of the Army the convert has to sever his connection with his church. But even then he is mistaken, for no such condition is required, and, as a matter of fact, several active members of the Army are regular attendants at, and in full communion with, their churches. Capt. Abbie has frequently told her bearers at the Army meetings that when the members of the churches awake from their lethargy and do the noble work that the Salvation Army is doing, the Army's mission will be at an end.

It may enlighten "Observer" somewhat when I inform him that Captain Abbie, her full staff of officers and upwards of sixty Salvation Soldiers, marched from their seven o'clock knee-drill to St. George's Cathedral on the Sunday before last, and there united with about a dozen of the Cathedral congregation at the 8 o'clock celebration of Holy Communion. That does not look much like antagonism to the Church.

It may be asked, where were the rest of the members of the Cathedral congregation? Well—in bed, probably.

TANNING HUMAN HIDES.

Revelations by a Workman—What He Has Seen in Connection with His Business.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 24.—Citizen T. Chason, of Somerville, a currier, testified this afternoon before the Senate Committee on Education and Labor that he had had a prominent part in organizing the Curriers' Union, and was blacklisted, so he had great difficulty in finding work. His reputation for veracity is unimpeachable. He was asked by Senator Blair if he had anything else to say. "Well, sir, said he, "the men complain some about this human hide business—the tanning of human hides."

"Why, you do not mean to say," asked Senator Blair, "that this has been done to any great extent?"

"Yes, sir; I do, and of my own personal knowledge I saw hides myself as much as five or six years ago; heard of them eleven years ago, and know men who heard of them eighteen years ago. Three or four months ago it was stopped. I have seen several whole hides of women that had been tanned. They were perfect, and looked as natural as life. I have seen them at Muller's tannery in Cambridge, the last one about a year ago."

"Do you know anyone else who saw these hides?"

"Yes, Dan McDermott, of Somerville, saw one; also a man named Worster, of Somerville. McDermott cut a small piece off and carried it in his pocket for two years. It is also done in Woburn. There are plenty of men who could tell all about this, but they don't dare to."

In fact I am a new man in every respect, and those who saw me 3 months ago and see me now, can hardly believe that I am the same person. The above are facts and believing that ingratitude is one of the unpardonable sins, I feel it a duty to tell you of what, under a kind Providence, your preparation has done for me. Wishing you every success etc., etc.,
