People on both sides of the Atlantic laugh outright at the boast of O'Donovan Rossa that he directed the recent explosions in the London underground railways, that within a week all London would be in ashes! That the disaster was hatched in America, that American hands made and set the explosives there is not much room for doubt, but the blatant exile and dynamite fiend had as much to do with the event as the man in the moon. Those whom constantly abuse the Government and all things English must be extremely grateful, however, for any occurrence which keeps the skirmishing fund before the people and elicits from them a generous contribution. Rossa has been one of the biggest frauds of the 19th century. His reputation ought to be known everywhere, and that he still finds people to bamboozle is simply amazing.

TRUTH COMING OUT.

The Mail is making much ado about a certain letter which was circulated in the Algoma election and aimed at creating class prejudices. The document is in not such as should be introduced into any contest, and its appearance indicated a feeling of despair in some quarters. But it is denied that the circular was printed and distributed in the interest of Mr. Lyon, the member-elect; on the contrary it is said that some of his opponents designed it and spread copies of it in the hope of alienating the Orangemen who were true to the Province, and, in supporting the Ministerial candidate, manifested their hostility to him influence.

It doesn't become the Tories to raise the cry of bigotry when they did what they could to affect the vote religiously in Algoma. Capt. Kirwin was there to speak to and instruct his clio-regionists, and Bro. Clarke raced over the constituency personally counselling the Orangemen to oppose the Local Government. All the while these worthies posed as patriots and as the representatives of non-political parties.

And by the way Mr. Lyon has given an insight into some of the methods which were unaccountably adopted to defeat him. In addressing a meeting in Toronto on Thursday afternoon he said

"Mr. Wilkinson, of whom you have all heard, said at a meeting on St. Joseph's Island, 'This is a fight between the Dominion Government and the Provincial Government. We have more money than you have, and if we can't win one way we can another. If need be we can buy up the voters on this island at from $2.50 to $3 a head.' That is an insult to the people of St. Joseph's Island. They are intelligent men, solid farmers most of them, who understand their profession, read the newspapers, and are fully competent to judge of the issues before the country. Four years ago I passed through places on St. Joseph and Manitoulin Islands where not a tree had been cut. During this canvass I found there farms with as many as sixty acres of grain quickly ripening. I fought a hard fight and won. If a protest is brought against my election I shall see it through, and should there be a flaw in that election, and another made necessary, I will fight the battle over again on the three questions of the Boundary Award, Provincial Rights and public improvements in Algoma."

Mr. Lyon has right upon his side, and he need not fear the onslaught which the Tories threaten. They indulge in a deal of senseless bluster and would succeed in every case if wind were the one thing needful. It did not have a telling effect in Algoma. The whiskey, no doubt, operated more effectually, so far as the manufacture of bogus votes was concerned, but until Mr. Meredith has the manipulation of the electoral machinery spurious ballots count for nothing.

A COLLISION PROBABLE.

The difficulty between France and China has passed almost beyond the bounds of diplomacy. The breach has gradually widened until now it seems there is no healing it without a resort to the cannon and rifle. Some far-seeing politicians already picture the horrors of war, the prospect of peace without the arbitrament of the sword being exceedingly small. The outlook would be less ominous were it probable that but the disputing nations would suffer by a conflict. The European Council will have something to say about a struggle so largely affecting the world's commercial relations, and in the cablegrams we have hints of the delicacy of England's position.

Lord Hartington assured us the other day that the peace of Europe is safe, and that Great Britain has not been complicated in the Eastern squabble. This calming announcement has scarcely reached us, however, than one of the French Ministry impetuously declares that England is favoring China and giving the Government of that country encouragement to insist upon the conditions which its astute ambassador, Count Tseng, has been unsuccessfully urging at court. France must fight. It has gone too far now to compromise creditably; it invites a quarrel with a nation whose resources, in means and men, are extensive, whose diplomats have a good European training, whose pluck has been underestimated, and to whom aid so many skilled warriors are sure to gravitate.

Months have passed since the war cloud was first visible, a mere speck, in the political horizon. Diplomacy played its part, but failed to effect the objects aimed at. While with the pen was men conducted peace negotiations, the War Departments actively prepared for the worst. In the light of present events the work of the statesmen seems to have been but a means to an end—and that end the delay of battle until the armies had been organized for action. France, whose wounded pride can only be satisfied with war, has got much sympathy in her new mission of conquest. As a writer recently observed:

"French influence has been practically effaced in Europe by Jear Tunis extinction, but contract with respect to Egypt and her strained relations with Italy, England and Spain. * * In France, since the great Revolution, Governments which fail in war perish, and we doubt whether the present French ministry could stand the shock of a single defeat."

The French people have approved of an increased vote of credit, the members of the Chinese legation have asked for passports, and we may expect any day to hear of the declaration of hostilities. France occupied the position of an interested spectator all through the Egyptian campaign. We hope England will be similarly placed in the clash of arms which must soon occur if China and France pursue their present policies.

BURNS VS. KINGSTON.

Case Called This Afternoon—Points of Plaintiff and Defendants—Postponement This Afternoon.

The case of Burns vs. The City was commenced at the Court of Assize this afternoon. It is an action brought by Robert Burns, father of the late Margaret Ann Burns, to recover from the corporation $2,000, representing the loss which the plaintiff says he suffered by the death of his daughter. It will be remembered that on the 10th of March a child was left at the door of a west end citizen, and that he had it conveyed as soon as possible to the police station. A couple of police officers were sent out to look up the mother, and they had not much difficulty in their mission. It was ascertained that the child was the offspring of Margaret Ann Burns, and that it had been abandoned by its grandmother. This fact is not disputed. Miss Burns was taken to the station—opinion differs as to whether she made the trip voluntarily or by compulsion, and opinion differs also as to whether she was confined forcibly in the cell or stayed there by choice. She was in the prison ward, at any rate, from Saturday night until Monday morning. After being released she became quite ill and three weeks later, or on April 4th, died, aged 18.

WHAT THE PLAINTIFF CONTENDS.

That he is the administrator of the personal estate and effects of the deceased.

That the defendants have a police office and station maintained and regulated and used for locking up and detaining all persons arrested or charged with offences.

That in the early part of March deceased was arrested, charged with an offence, and that she was detained in a cell from Saturday night until Monday morning.

That during this time she was kept in a dark damp cell, unventilated, unhealthy, noxious, verminous and unfit for habitation, and by reason of such improper sufferance she became sick and died.

That in consequence of her death plaintiff claims the damages above stated.

POINTS IN THE DEFENCE.

The leading features in the defence are set forth in the particulars and to this effect:

That the police station and police force, were at the time of the happening of the alleged grievances, not under the exclusive management and control of the defendants but of the Board of Commissioners of Police, which Board also appoints the police force, and the Board never complained to the defendants that the police station was in an unhealthy state, and the defendants had no knowledge of the same as alleged by the plaintiff.

That under the provisions of the Municipal Act the police force was established exclusively for the imprisonment of persons sentenced for not more than 10 days under any by-law of the Council, or of persons detained for examination or charged with committing an offence, or of persons detained for transmission to the gaol or penitentiary.

That the deceased, at the time of the alleged grievances, did not belong to any of the above classes of persons, and defendant did not procure her arrest and did not detain her in a cell.

That deceased went to and remained at the station voluntarily, to take charge of the illegitimate child of hers which had been left there, that she was allowed to remain at the station at her own request after refusing to leave.

That she did not become sick and die by reason of any of the alleged grievances mentioned in the statement of claim.

Mr. T. L. Snook conducted the case for the plaintiff; Mr. B. M. Britton, Q.C., held a brief from the city, and had associated with him Mr. J. Agnew, City Solicitor.

Held Over Until Next Court.

The case of Burns v. the City—action for damages for alleged death of plaintiff's daughter in consequence of her incarceration in the cells—was this afternoon argued to be held over until the next Assizes.

Christ Church, Montreal.

Canon Carmichael has been mentioned as the successor of Dean Baldwin, Christ Church, Montreal, but the change would not be advantageous in a financial point of view. The Mail's correspondent writes: "With respect to the rectory, the Rev. Dr. Wilson, of the Kingston Cathedral, is well spoken of here. The celebrity he has received in the press lately through his independent stand in favour of the Salvation Army has rather made him favourably thought of. His evangelical teaching and sound doctrine coming after the present Dean would undoubtedly make him popular with the crowds of parishioners who worship in the Cathedral. The Rev. Dr. has arrived in Montreal, and will introduce himself in the pulpit of the Cathedral by the favour of the Rector and Bishop-elect of Huron to the congregation on Sunday morning."

LOOSE REIN OF LICENSES.

New York, Nov. 3.—The Grand Jury made a presentment yesterday calling attention to the practice of granting licenses to the notorious thieves and criminals. They censured the Excise Commissioners and recommend that such licenses be revoked.

A SYNDICATE'S PURCHASE.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 3.—It is reported that Hamilton Disston, of Philadelphia, has sold four million acres of Florida land to an English Syndicate at $1.25 an acre.

WOMEN OF THE HOUR.

JULIA WARD HOWE.

AMERICA'S LEADING WOMAN JOURNALIST.

Julia Ward Howe, the most famous woman journalist in America, was born in New York city in 1819. Her father was a man of wealth and culture who gave his daughter a very liberal education. She was an unusually brilliant girl who took especial delight in the study of music, philosophy and the languages. She possessed a true scholastic spirit and formed an idea concerning all subjects which was peculiarly her own. It is said that until 20 years of age. That year her father and brother died and she felt the truth of the gospel dictum which she had hitherto failed to see. At the age of 23 she was married to Mr. Samuel G. Howe, of Boston, and some years subsequent to that event were spent with her husband in Europe. Her journalistic career began in 1851, when Mr. Howe became editor of "The Commonwealth," to the columns of which she contributed some very readable articles. Her first book, called "Passion Flowers," written about this time, was quite favorably received. "A Trip to Cuba," was published soon after return from in 1859. Her sympathy with the Federal cause during the civil war and her efforts in its behalf, have probably contributed most to the fame of Julia Ward Howe. Her "Marching On," sung to the stirring chorus of John Brown, became the battle hymn of the Republic. Since the war she has lived in Boston, and contributed extensively to various newspapers, notably the Woman's Journal. She accepts the philosophy of Wendell Phillips to a considerable extent, and is especially devoted to the cause of woman's suffrage.

A Satisfactory Telegram.

Mr. John Carruthers this morning received a telegram from his son, W. C., which contains the most satisfactory information that has yet arrived in regard to the condition of J. B. Carruthers. The message, which was sent from the Highland farm by special messenger to Renfrew, says that the injured gentleman is feeling much better, and that the doctor says there is no danger. The latter wanting a consultation, Dr. Saunders was sent for. He left the city yesterday, however, before the summons came, in the company of Mrs. J. B. Carruthers, Miss Carruthers and Mr. Gibson. They will meet the sufferer and his attendants about half way between the Highland farm and Renfrew, having telegraphed that they started this morning en route homeward.

A YOUNG WIFE'S CRIME.

Wichita, Nov. 3.—Nellie C. Bailey, charged with the murder of Clement Bothemly, in Indian territory, was held to-day for trial. She is handsome and well educated. The charge is that she met Bothemly, a member of the British Association at St. Louis, and arranged with him to go to Texas and start a sheep ranche. She got the deed for his lands, valued at $30,000, and while en route to Texas shot him through the head, took his trunk containing diamonds and jewelery worth $7,000, together with his outfit consisting of sheep and stock worth $10,000. She then buried the body at Skeleton ranche and started south, but was arrested nine miles from the scene of the murder.

DOUBLE TEAM RECORD.

Providence, Nov. 3.—The double team race between the horses H. B. Winship and Hiram Bruce and Frank and John May took place to-day. Winship and his mate had the race easily throughout, winning in three straight heats and lowering the record. The race was for a purse of $2,000. Time—First heat 2½, 1.03, 1.04, 2.10. Second heat, 2½, 1.03, 1.02, 2.10½. Third heat, 2½, 1.03, 1.03, 2.11½.

RAILWAY CO'S OFFENCE.

Fargo, Dak., Nov. 3.—A summons has been issued on behalf of the Territory, on behalf of the Attorney-General, to show cause why the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba RR. should not be deprived of its charter in Dakota for refusing to deliver freight to Parade Southern upon tender charges, thereby violating its contract as a common carrier.

BISMARCK IN DANGER.

Dantzic, Nov. 3.—A man named Protowski has been arrested at Dirschau who was charged with and confessed to having been sent by Nihilists to murder Bismarck. Protowski claims to be a Russian actor. He says the Nihilists provided him with money to travel. An instrument for injecting morphia was found upon him, also a Nihilist poem.

CLAIM CASE NOT POPULAR.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Adjutant General reports that the negroes are dissatisfied with exclusive cars for their accommodation. He says the trainmen on the Texas Central, where the system has just been inaugurated, have been compelled to take the colored people out of cars assigned to whites.

A MURDERER REMOVED.

Edgefield, Nov. 3.—Bird Ellis, a negro, who murdered Mrs. Logan and nearly killed her husband, was shot dead in gaol on Thursday night by a mob, who threw the body in the river.

MARINE NEWS.

A New Steamer Being Built for the Bay—Another Seizure—Wreck of the Conqueror.

Mr. Merryman, the wrecker, will raise the prop. Oneida, sunk near Alexandria Bay.

The schr. Sam Cook will be lowered to the bottom of the river and left there until spring.

The schr. Monitor, ore laden for Cleveland, is ashore near Manitoque and full of water.

The str. Athabasca has been handed over to Capt. John Donnelly, at Lachine, and the parts are now en route to Kingston.

The Government will build lock gate houses for the accommodation of the keepers and bridge men on the Welland Canal.

Capt. Cuthbert, of the yacht Atalanta, has left for Chicago to superintend the building of a new boat on an altogether new model.

Wm. Webster, engineer of the Chicora, is in Picton superintending the improvements to the machinery of the Empress of India, with a view to increasing her speed. Her speed will be 13 miles per hour.

The steam barge Kingsford, loaded with lumber at Trenton for Oswego, ran aground last night on a sunken pier in the river there and can't get off, unless lightened, in consequence of there being no tug in Trenton at the present time.

NEW STEAMER FOR THE BAY.

The boat now being built here by Mr. Davis for the river and Bay of Quinte route will be finished by the opening of navigation in the spring. She will carry between 300 and 400 passengers, and her dimensions will be 82 feet long, 17 feet beam, 6 feet depth of hold, 12x12 cylinder, steel boilers and 4½ ft. screw. She will draw 4½ feet of water, light. Messrs. Davidson & Duran are manufacturing the machinery. The steamer is expected to run from 14 to 15 miles an hour and make two trips per day from Napanee to Picton and Bay ports. The cost will be about $8,000.

SEIZURE OF THE SPARTAN.

The Detroit Dry-Dock Company have seized the steamer Spartan as payment for the extensive repairs done to her during the past summer. Early last spring the Spartan was wrecked on Lake Superior and was abandoned to the insurance companies by her owners. An expedition was fitted out and the steamer taken to Detroit. When she came out of the dry-dock the Insurance Companies refused to pay the duty on her repairs. The Spartan's repairs were so large that she can be turned into an American steamer. The claims against her for repairs amount to $31,000, and since her seizure Capt. S. B. Grommond has filed a claim against her amounting to $7,000 for services of the tug Winslow in releasing the steamer and towing her to Detroit.

CONQUEROR'S CREW ARRIVED.

Yesterday the engineers, pilots and crew of the Conqueror arrived here and reported the details in connection with the sinking of that steamer. Thursday night, they say, on the river was very dark, and off Clayton navigation became more difficult by a fall of snow. When off Johnson's Light, in the vicinity of Fisher's Landing, the tug, while under a full head of steam, struck a rock and began to make water rapidly. In half an hour she had filled and sunk about 200 yards from where she lay after the accident last summer. The men had time to save their clothing and bedding, which they carried to and deposited on the bow of the boat. She lies seven feet under water at the bow and thirty feet at the stern. What the condition of her bottom is no one can tell at present; it is believed that there is not only a bad hole in her iron hull but that her bottom is torn considerably by the jump over the obstruction after the concussion.

A TERRIFIED CIRCUS AUDIENCE.

Kingsland, Ark., Nov. 3.—Last night at New Edinburg, during the performance of Hunter's Consolidated Shows, some persons from outside fired a volley of shots into the main exhibition canvas. One person was killed. The tents were crowded and the bullets passed through all sections of the audience. Chelsea Duffenburg, a contortionist, was shot through the head and died in the ring.

A WIFE'S DISHONOR.

A Utica Lawyer Shot Dead by a Batavia Merchant—Lothario Falls Into a Death-Trap.

Batavia, Nov. 3.—The excitement over the terrible tragedy of last night is intense and nothing else is talked about. Johnson L. Lynch, lawyer of Utica, was the victim, and his slayer is E. N. Rowell, of this city. Lynch was infatuated with Rowell's young and beautiful wife, and although frequently warned that the boldness of his visits would surely expose him to danger, assumed the risks and met his death at the hands of a dishonored husband. They were formerly neighbors in Utica.

THE MURDERER COMPOSED.

Upon crossing the threshold Lynch lay dead upon the carpet in the hall, at the foot of the stairs. Rowell, his murderer, stood calmly at the side of his victim.

"What is the matter?" asked a neighbor.

"I found this man in my house and I shot him," answered Rowell. "He betrayed my wife and I caught him in the act."

Mrs. Rowell was pacing up and down the stairs, sobbing violently and wringing her hands.

"See what you have done," she said to her husband; "you will have to be hung."

"Well, I shall have to suffer, and not you," responded Rowell. "I warned you time after time about this man."

When the officers approached Rowell he submitted quietly to arrest. After he had put on his overcoat and hat he turned to his wife and said:

"Well, Jennie, I have got to go to jail. Good-by. Won't you kiss me before I go?"

His voice was tender and compassionate, and her reply was breathed between sobs and sighs.

"Oh, how can I? Oh, how can I after doing such an act?" she piteously asked.

His wife did not kiss him, and he accompanied the officers to the Justice's office and thence to the jail, having been committed for murder in the first degree.

ROWELL TRAPS HIS WIFE.

When Rowell left home on Monday morning, telling his wife that he was going West on a business trip, he proceeded to the National Hotel, where he remained in seclusion until evening, at which time the train was due from Utica upon which Lynch arrived. Mrs. Rowell was at the depot to meet Lynch. Rowell hastened to his home, which was vacant, his children having been sent by his wife to visit a friend. He secreted himself and watched Mrs. Rowell and Lynch enter the house. They ate supper and then repaired to her room.

Shortly afterwards Rowell emerged from his hiding place and was crazed at what he saw, fired two shots in rapid succession. One of the bullets passed near Mrs. Rowell's scalp.

Lynch rushed down stairs. As he descended Rowell fired two more shots, one of which took effect in Lynch's back, passing through his right lung and penetrating the aorta near the base of his heart, lodging in the muscles of his chest. It caused instant death.

TWO TELL-TALE LETTERS.

Two letters from Mrs. Rowell were found in Lynch's pockets. One read:

"I am alone. R. went away this morning. He will be absent two weeks or longer. Agreeable to you I would be glad to see you some evening this week, say Thursday or Friday. Can you not get here at 6 and come up to tea soon afterwards? Will try and have the chicks in dreamland at 7. Let me hear from you soon. Will look for a letter on Wednesday. Affectionately yours, "JENNIE L."

A CONNECTING TRAGEDY.

Utica, Nov. 3.—A.B. Johnson, lawyer, well known in politics, was found dead in his office this forenoon with a pistol ball in his breast. He was the uncle of Johnson L. Lynch, who was shot by Rowell in Batavia on Tuesday. They occupied the same office. The deceased probably suicided under the depression caused by the Batavia tragedy.

GOOD AND BAD

Give and bad TEAS alike unable to feel and it is only that bad Tea is sold in some establishments where good Tea is said to almost deadline. It is in such places the latter invariably goes unsalted. But if you want to get it of Teas at the lowest prices go to

CRAWFORD

The fact that we sell to every person who looks at our Teas shows what our prices are. Remember all our Teas are new and we have no old Stock.

FIGS.

We have received some very choice new FIGS in mats and boxes, choice Malaga Grapes and fine table Raisins.

GOLDEN GROCERY

Facts are Stubborn Things

"BUT YET THEY ARE TRUE"

Although doing business in this city for upwards of thirty years, we beg to state that our Stock of Staple, Fancy and general Groceries, fine Wines and Provisions was never before so large and complete. It embraces everything in fact that families require in all departments every thing is new and fresh and the greatest care has been taken in selecting the Goods. Families may with confidence rely on anything bought at our establishment in giving satisfaction. As to price our customers are aware that they have often tried and no other house in the trade gives equal value because the goods are sold retail at wholesale prices. Of course some of the grocers are very angry at us, especially those Lords who profess to be wholesale men. Still we do not care how wealthy some of them may be if we do touch them on a tender spot we will continue as usual selling cheap and making Kingston the cheapest market in Ontario for Groceries.

Off upon the prettiest fairy a bill,
She's greater than a Lord mayor,
As we, a sweeter sheet is made
Of a human heart.

TO-DAY WE ARE OPENING VERY FIN HARRINGTON in mustard and we have varie of other Mushroomroom Pickles and other goods
