LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An Explanation.

The Editor, British Whig,

Dear Sir,—I notice in Saturday's issue of your paper a local stating that "the star vocalist at St. Andrew's concert was travelling under a nom de plume."

Permit me to make an explanation. The Committee who engaged this star vocalist was well aware that she was Mrs. Dr. Bloott, but as it is a common occurrence for artists to retain their professional name, and as she is recognized by eminent critics as a vocalist in the highest rank, she has a perfect right to use her former name, which is Carrie Kirchhoff, and as she is engaged to sing at the Owl Club concert on the 13th of December, I hope the public will accept this explanation.—Yours, etc.,
O. F. TELGMANN.
Dec. 4.

Drawing at the Public School.

The Editor, British Whig,

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to refer to some remarks made at the last meeting of the Board of School Trustees? The remarks were those in regard to the teaching of drawing in schools, and to Mr. Scott's capabilities as a teacher. Whether drawing should or should not be taught in our public schools is a debatable point, a matter of opinion—though the example of such a nation as the German, in whose schools both drawing and music are taught, should have some weight in causing us to decide in favor of it; but the question of Mr. Scott's capabilities is a different matter.

No one who has attended Mr. Scott's classes, who is unbiassed in his judgment, and who knows whereof he speaks, can say otherwise than that he is an excellent teacher.

I had the pleasure of attending Mr. Scott's drawing class for a length of time, and my observation of the manner in which the class was conducted led me to form the highest estimate of his teaching powers and of his knowledge of the subject. He gained the confidence and esteem of his pupils, he kept perfect order, his explanations were brief yet clear, and he appeared to know his subject exceedingly well.

It is certainly not a generous act and scarcely a fair one to make, at a public meeting, disparaging remarks about any teacher who is in the employ of the Board, and who therefore has his hands tied and can not defend himself. Such remarks should, I think, be made in committee, and should not become public property.

I was glad to see that the inspector and other members of the Board spoke favourably of Mr. Scott who is a deserving and painstaking teacher.—Yours sincerely,

AN OLD TEACHER.

State Aid to the Provincial University.

The Editor, British Whig.

Mr. Editor,—I trust the opponents of the Provincial University will not for a moment suppose that the silence of its friends hereabouts implies the concession that their arguments are unanswerable. I crave a little space to present them, falling into the error of Don Quixote in his famous Battle of the Windmills.

The objection chiefly urged to further Legislative aid to that institution is that it is contrary to sound principle. "It may be," says its opponents, "that we shall be willing to subscribe to retrieve its wants if solicited to do so voluntarily, but to compel us to do so by act of Parliament is tyranny." Ship money over again in fact.

Does not this argument prove a little too much? On the same principle the churlish citizen, without children of his own to educate, might justly demur to the maintenance of the common and high schools at the public expense. Concede its truth and it is fatal to state aid to the various educational, charitable and eleemosynary institutions which hitherto it has been our boast as a people to maintain.

Prior to the year 1849 King's College, with its large Provincial endowment, was under the control of the Church of England. But the people had already, with a mighty voice, demanded that it should be relieved of its denominational character. As a result, in that year, King's College was changed into the "University of Toronto," and all denominational restrictions were removed. Certain sections of the people have dissented from this policy at various times and on various grounds. The people, however, of the Province at large have regarded it as an object of just pride, that from its lowest to its highest grade, education with us has not been left to private enterprise. Commencing with the rudimentary education obtained in the common school it was possible for a youth to proceed untrammelled by any restrictions step by step until he had graduated at the University. In this magnificent educational system the University was properly regarded as the key stone.

And now at a time when this University is impaired in its usefulness by want of funds, a want occasioned by the steadily increasing and growing demands upon it, its opponents prefer that it should labour on under difficulties rather than see it obtain relief from the only quarter to which it can reasonably appeal. "You, as a state, have launched this institution, but it is no further concernment of your's whether it survive or perish. Let its authorities appeal," they say, "to its graduates." Is this a tenable proposition? Was any University ever yet thrown entirely upon such a resource? Is it a fair or adequate one? Are the graduates the only persons concerned in its prosperity? are questions which force themselves forward. Has not every University a constituency upon which it depends outside of its graduates? When any of the denominational Universities find a subsidy necessary they do precisely what the University must do—appeal to the body which founded it—and in this latter case this body was the State.

I very much mistake my fellow citizens if the feet of the locality of the Provincial at Toronto or our zeal for Queen's in our midst, will so stir up a local feeling of jealousy as to make us forget that we have national as well as more limited obligations. I trust to cherish a sincere desire for the well being of Queen's is not incompatible with a sense of our duty to the Provincial University.—I am, Mr. Editor, faithfully yours.

TRAMPS ON THE RAIL.

A Conductor Gives Reminiscences—How Men Steal Rides on the Cars—The Missing Ones.

"Yes, sir," continued the conductor, "we railroad men have some funny adventures with the tramping fraternity. Nearly all of those who beat their way have money, and prefer to take the risk incident to stealing a ride than to pay their fare. In an accident some years ago a beat was killed who had on his person over $500, and papers showing him to be the proprietor of a livery stable in California. It is remarkable how persistent some can be. Six of them secreted themselves in the water tank of a 'dead' engine that was being hauled in the middle of a freight train, and when discovered refused to come out. A better plan suggested itself, that of pulling the engine up to the tank and drowning them out. They capitulated, when about six inches of ice cold water had been soused on them, and all came forth like drowned rats, with the exception of a big Irishman, who could not force himself through the hole until he had removed his clothing and the oil-gineer had lubricated him with black oil.

The engineers on a western division were compelled to blow their engines out quite frequently, owing to the bad water. This is done by opening a cock that lets the water and steam out directly under the cab. While one of the express trains was rushing along in the night, the engineer found it necessary to 'blow her out,' and opening the cock, a most unearthly scream went up from under his feet. Jumping to the air-brake and reversing the engine, the train was quickly stopped, and all hands rushed back to ascertain the meaning of that unusual cry. There on the track, torn to pieces by the wheels and scalded beyond recognition, was the remains of a man who had been stealing a ride on the brake beam of the engine tank, so as to be near the heat of the fire box, and had received the full charge of steam and hot water on his body, and been blown from his insecure seat without a moment's warning into eternity, adding one more to that great list of 'missing.'

Boot blacks that are up to the times never pay fare. They wait until the train is under headway, run along beside a car, catch on to the irons of the door, swing themselves under and find a comfortable seat on a brake beam, where they while away the time playing cards and sleeping and enjoying themselves fully as well as those who may be reclining on cushioned seats immediately over them. Winter, however, drives them to shelter, and those who do not migrate to the sunny climes of the South, find a haven in some county gaol, under whose friendly roof they sleep away the cold days and are fat and ready for the summer trip when Spring opens. Two men while watching the loading of a car of United States bonded merchandise in New York city, concluded to take passage for San Francisco. They procured an auger and small saw, and during the night sawed a piece of bevelling from the floor of the car, procured a supply of water and food, and rode 2,000 miles before they were discovered. One of them coming out for exercise gave the thing away. They were arrested and held until the Custom House authorities in San Francisco had examined the contents of the car and finding it undisturbed they were released."—Leadville Herald.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of indigestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. A STRANGE STORY.

An Expectant Bride Finds Her Lover Murdered by a Former Playmate—Blighted Hopes.

Fred. Spelker came to America from Germany about five months ago. On his arrival he met a former schoolmate named Ernest Kornhardt, who had preceded him from the old country only a few weeks. They went into the saloon business in St. Louis, Mo. Business disagreements led to frequent quarrels, which culminated last Friday night in Spelker shooting and instantly killing Kornhardt. When Spelker left the old country he left behind a sweetheart. They plighted their troth, and as soon as Spelker got into business he wrote back a glowing description of having met the old school mate of himself and his sweetheart, and told her to come right on; that his prospects were of the brightest. Friday morning a rosy cheeked girl of 18 years arrived. She modestly stood at one side of the steps when Officer Mundinger approached, and opening a conversation in German asked "Are you waiting for anybody?"

"Yes," she answered, "I thought somebody would be waiting here for me."

"Are you going West, or will you remain in St. Louis?"

"Oh," she answered, smiling, "I will remain in St. Louis, of course."

"Who are you waiting for, or who is waiting for you?"

"Fred. Spelker."

The officer had not the heart to tell her the sad news, but as no one was found in waiting for her she was sent to Herman Trans. When she arrived at Mr. Trans' home she was warmly received by the family, who were ignorant of the fact that she had not yet learned of Spelker's position. Time and again they promised to look after her, referring to her in endearing language and giving proof of the sorrow they felt at her lot. The girl was bewildered for seven moments and seemed to doubt her senses. She knew of no reason for concealing with her, and wondered at the reiterated professions of sympathy which met her expressions of joy. "Where is Fred?" she said, innocently, and in this way the family were first apprised of her ignorance of her lover's fate. Impatient at the delay in receiving an answer she asked, "Where is Ernest?" meaning her old schoolmate. The family broke the news to the girl, who was almost prostrated by the announcement. She had severed every tie at home and came to St. Louis all the way from Minden, Westphalia, only to find her intended husband conquering a murderer's cell for the death of her old playmate, Ernest Kornhardt.

A Fortunate Escape.

Mrs. Berkenshaw, 36 Pembroke St., Toronto, at one time was about to submit to a surgical operation for bad lameness of the knee joint, all other treatment having failed, when Hagyard's Yellow Oil was tried, and speedily cured her.

A Little Behind Hand.

Some people are always a little behind hand in all undertakings; delays are dangerous, and none more so than in neglecting what seems a trifling cold. Prudent people break up the ill effects by timely use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, thus preventing serious lung troubles.

Wait a Minute

And read this. You may be troubled with corns, and if not at present they may take root in the near future. Therefore we want to tell you what to use in order to make a perfect cure, and especially what to avoid. Of course like the majority of people you will want to use the best that is to be had. That is Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sure, safe, painless. Avoid, then, the article "just as good" or the something else "a good deal better." You will regret using anything else than Putnam's, for it don't hurt, and you can't tell what the others will do until you try. Don't live to be sorry when you can so easily prevent it. Polson & Co., props.

Stamina.

To increase the weight of the body, invigorate the system, revitalize the exhausted and depressed, is the true object of medical science. The digestive organs must be in a healthy condition if we wish to secure this desirable result, and no remedy yet discovered has proved so effectual in accomplishing this as Plax-Seed Emulsion Cure. It contains the Phosphorous to build up the nervous system and all the fat producing properties of Flax-seed to enrich the blood and supply the animal economy with the elements for reconstruction. For sale at Wade's and the Pharmacy, W. J. Wilson.

Important.

The Excelsior Rupture Treatment was introduced to the American people several years ago by furnishing the remedy to those afflicted with Hernia in any of its forms and collecting no pay until permanent cure was effected. In this way the treatment gained a world wide reputation on its own merits, never failing to cure any reducible Hernia. The Company has placed the remedy on sale by all druggists in the United States, Canada and England, in this way bringing it within the reach of all classes at a trifling cost. Ask your druggist for a free book or send six cents for one to the Excelsior Rupture Cure Manufacturing Co., Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Honest and True

This is eminently the case with Polson's Nervoline, the 'great pain cure.' It is an honest remedy, for it contains the most powerful, the purest, and most certain pain subduing remedies known to medical science. It is honest, for it does all it claims to do. It is honest, because it is the best in the world. It only costs 10 or 25 cents to try it, and you can buy a bottle at Polson's and King's drug stores. Nervoline cures toothache, neuralgia, pain in the back and side. All pains are promptly relieved by Polson's Nervoline.

Everybody Has! Has! Has!

Read this carefully. If you or any friend are suffering from any kind of pain, internal, local or external, try Polson's Nervoline, the 'great pain cure.' Nervoline is one of the most elegant combinations ever offered to the public for the relief of pain. Pleasant to take, powerful in effect, sure in results, and cheap because the strongest, purest and most certain pain remedy in the world. You can test this great remedy by going to Polson's and King's drug stores and buying a 10 cent sample bottle. Try it at once.

Cured Free.

Any reader troubled with dyspepsia, costiveness, bad stomach, liver complaint, etc., should call at Chown's Drug Store, and secure a free trial bottle of McGregor's Speedy Cure at once, which will convince you of the merits of the medicine. It cures permanently where all other medicines have failed. As a blood purifier it has no equal. Remember it costs nothing to try it. Regular size, 50 cents and $1.

A Failure in Crops.

A species of worm is eating all the leaves from the chestnut and hickory nut trees in many sections, and the crop will be a failure. Worms that afflict children or adults will prove a failure if Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup is used. It is a safe and sure cure for all worms that lurk in the human system, tape worm included.

Miscellaneous.

Failing!

That is what a great many people are doing. They don't just know what is the matter, but they have a combination of aches and pains, and each month they grow worse.

The only sure remedy yet found is SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS, and this by rapid and thorough assimilation with the blood purifies and enriches it, and rich, strong blood flowing to every part of the system repairs the wasted tissues, drives out disease and gives health and strength.

This is why SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will cure kidney and liver diseases, consumption, rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fevers &c.

Office of Edmund Elliott, Wholesale and Retail Grocer, Cor. Henry and Lagauchetiere Sts. Montreal, Nov. 9th 1883.

I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and for several weeks could eat nothing and was growing weaker every day. I tried SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS, and am happy to say I now have a good appetite and am much better in every way.
EDWARD ELLIOTT.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS is not a drink and does not contain whisky. It is the only preparation of Iron that causes no injurious effects. Get the genuine. Sold by all dealers. Price 50c.

Old Mistress Thatcher
Went to Galloway's store
To get her last daughter some furs;
And when she got there
I declare! I declare!
She didn't know that skin from Cats.

She got in a stew
To know what to do,
But Galloway came to her aid;
He said her last remark
Made those skins dark
Good value for all that she paid.

She went away pleased
And raved of her bargain
She'd secured at the store;
For the goods that he sold
Were equal to gold,
Was the verdict that had a large flock.

The moral is plain
To his store again,
The people go back who now buy
His goods are marked low
And all have to go
Before the December snow flies.
