The News has not replied to most et the questions submitted to it by us on fueeday evening. They seem to have been unanswerable. The old story is repeated that $20,000,000 of French capital was brought to Canada for in vestment, but not a word is said about Legrue, of the Foncier-Canadien, stated to a representative of the Halifax Herald that the importation of this capital was wholly due to the security afforded by the N. P. We are informed that about $19,000,000 have been withdrawn. What was the cause? The insecurity felt in consequence of the N.P.? Then we are informed that the low rate of bank interest made capital plentiful, that "the importation of capital made it still more plentitul, and reduced still further, the bank rate interest all over the country, consequently wages have risen all over the country!" Well, the withdrawal capital must have a contrary effect, and so bank interest must increase all over the country, and consequently wages must go down all over the country. How does the "leader of the Government" like the idea?

According to the speech from the Throne, delivered in the British Colum bia Legislature, M. DeCesmos mission to England has been successful. Lord Kimberley stated that a light line railway should be built from Nanaime to Esquimalt, that the main line should the Province should receive a heavy compensation for delays in railway con struction.

When Sir Leonard Tilley speaks of the political parties meeting face to face at the close of the Session, is he hinting at an early election? That's the way we read the few lines which compose the peroration of the Finance Minister's budget speech. Sir Leonard thinks the Conservatives are stronger than in 1878. He personally would need to be stronger in order to again trust his case to the electors of St. John's.

For the information of a correspondout we may state that there has been a duty on imported fruit trees of 20 per cent. They have not been enumerated in any of the lists by Sir Leonard Tilley. but in one of his resolutions, passed in 1879, it is stated that upon all imported articles, not specificed, there should be duty to the above extent. In 1880 fruit trees, so far as Manitoba and the North-West were concerned, were admitted free. It was expected that the same exemp tion would be in order in regard to cer tain kinds of fruit trees in the growth of which the Americans make a specialty. and the introduction of which would go to improve the productions of our or chards.

THE BUDGET SPEELH

One story is always good until another is told, and so it will prove, we fancy, with Sir Leonard Tilley's budget speech. The brilliancy of which the Tory papers speak so exultingly is some what dimmed by the critics. since one speaks of it as "quite wearisome, and another as "a confused and mixed up speech," while Sir Richard Cart wright's reply has opened great gaps in the Ministerial armor. The Minister of Finance had all the advantage of paration, which also gave him the benefit of matured thought. Upon the other hand, Sir Richard had to reply off hand and that he arraigned the Go vernment so formidably and successfully is far more to his credit than if he had made one of his own budget speeches. as of old, with his accustomed ability. completeness and force.
