FORGET-ME-NOT Very Warm Reception From a

Mingston Andieuce. There was a large and select audience Saturday evening when Miss Genevieve Ward appeared in her favorite play, "Forget-Me-Not." The play in a literary sense is above the average, and abounds in brilliant repartee. The "plot" s simple, but in the working out of the details the writer has interwoven series of most enteresting scenes, inc. ients and dialogues. Miss Ward's performance was as perfect as we can wel conceive. As the woman whose antecedeuts were not what they ought to be and whose ambition to figure in society was belped by a cool calcucalculating disposition, not disconcert ed by trifles, and exceedingly sharp her study of men and methods, sh was very interesting throughout. trequently evoked applause.
