The City Council Make a Grant of $260 for the Purpose-Lively Discussion L pon the Vote.

An interesting and rather heated discussion occurred last evening in the City Council when Ald. Smythe, seconded by Ald. Gordon, moved that $200 be granted towards the entertainment of the Queen's Own and other volunteers visiting Kingston on the 24th and taking part in the military review.

Ald. M'Cammon asked-How is the money to be apprepriated? Into whose hands is the amount to be paid?

Ald. Smythe said two corps at least of distinction are coming. To extend hospitality to these the officers of the 14th P.W.O. Rifles have raised some $400. But this sum will be insufficient to do all that is reasonably expected of our citizens, hence the appeal to the Corporation for $200. The officers of the local force will be heavily taxed in entertaining the visiting staff.

Ald. Gordon said the local Committee of Management was composed of the of ficers of our own regiments, headed by Col. Kerr, Col. Duff, Col. Montizambert and Col. Hewitt. Into their hands the funds would be placed, tegether with the $400 subscribed by the citizens. The Toronto Battalion will number about 450, the Montreal Artillery about 250, and the Gananoque Field Battery and Kingston Field Battery 100 more. Ald. Smythe-The Council can afterwards arange how the money is to be FIRST SHOW OF OPPOSITION.

The Mayor-Shall the motion pass? Ald. Creeggan-Not yet a moment. Personally I would like to go for the grant because it is for an object in which have great belief, still in my position as a representative of Frontenac Ward, and remembering how the city is situated financially, that, as you have intimated, an increase of taxation is quite probable, I must object. The rate of taxation is as high as the people can comfortably pay. Not that the $200 can make much difference in the assessment, but it will help towards a general result. We must bear in mind that the city loses consisiderable on account of licenses, that there will be a loss on account of market fees, and economy is absolutely necessary. As the custodians of the people's purse we must proceed carefully. The Government have refused to give anything to the review, for good and sufficient reasons, I suppose. $600 to them would be felt less than the $200 to the city. I will contribute out of my private means to the entertainment fund but I cannot consent to a grant from the public exchequer.

MILITIA PERFORMING A DUTY. Ald. Smythe reminded the Council ience, not to suit private taste, but because those connected with it had a duty to perform. The review on the 24th would cause the local corps to emulate the forces that had gained distinction in the country's service. The Queen's Own had not been invited to Kingston, but had themselves decided to come here. It did not become us, however, to do nothing towards entertaining them when they did come. He repudiated the reflections cast upon the militia by Ald. Dupuis. If ever he (Du puis) were forced into hostility he would not be found at the front.

Ald. McCammon-He would not be required at the front; his place would be at the rear.

Ald. Smythe-Aye, and that's where you would be found, too. (Loud laughter.) He remarked that the service was not a matter of profit or convenience, but one of expense and inconvenience. It was nonsensical to say that the taxpayers were not concerned in the volunteer's movements. There had to be a force, and it was important that it should be as efficient as possible. The exhibition on Barriefield Common would attract hundreds, even from a distance. Was it nothing that the citizens would have an easy and pleasant way of spend. ing a holiday at home? He was surprised at the illiberal and ungenerous way in which the subject had been discussed by some Aldermen.

SHADES OF LORDS RAGLAN AND WELLINGTON Ald. J. P. Gildersleeve was surprised that Ald. Smythe should question the bravery of the Aldermen. Two of them he had singled out for special reference. He had spoken of them to the effect that in active engagement they would be found where the shot was the thickest-under the ammunition waggon. With the course and utterances of one in particular he was astonished. This man had seen over 80 years service, and the speaker called upon the shades of Lords Raglan and Wellington to look down upon him now. (Laughter. The review would be the means of attracting hundreds to the city, and while the Corporation spent $200, the money left in Kingston by the visitors would amount perhaps to $1,500.
