"Mr. Beausoleil was to contest the East against Mr. Coursol, but Mr. Beau moiel retires before the nomination day Then Mr. Augustin Robert became the candidate, but he too retired, and then Alderman Robert became the candidate for no other reason, if we are to believe himself, than to force Mr. Coursol to pays debt which he owed to the Alder man's brother. He also resigned, and then the reason is made known. Mr. Joseph Robert, to whom the debt was dear owing, makes a public statement to the effect that he and his two brothers met Mr. Senecal and one Davis at the house of the Alderman and candilate, at 10 o'clock one evening, and that, after seven hours' discussion, it was agreed that over half the amount of the debt or something near $4,000 was to be paid to Mr. Robert on condition that his brother retired, and this was paid him by a cheque on the Jacques Cartier Bank, next morning, and Alderman Robert did then retire. It is only be cause the Roberts appear to be as hard ened and as dead to anything like hon orable feelings as Mr. Senecal himself that the hand which this arch corruptionist is taking in these Dominion elections was so clearly exposed

TORY ASSUMPTION

The grand gathering of manufacturers at Toronto in favor of Mr Blake and his fiscal policy of readjustment is the most valuable protest yet made against the acceptability of the national policy among even those it was calculated to enrich and convert into interested backers of the Tory party. They protested against the assumption that protection is creating prosperity, and from men of their standing the protest is valuable . Every day it is being made more patent shat protection protects only the few. and that at the expense of many.

TORY LOGIC AND VENOM.

When Mr. Carruthers was a candidate the News attacked him because he had not invested in new enterprises for the city'sbenefit. Now when Mr. Gunn proved himself to be the foremost man to re deem this city from its lethargy his motives in doing so and his unblemished business reputation are attacked with unparalleled ferocity. Take the encouragement Mr. Gunn gave to the building of the schooners Singapore, Hyderabad and Bangalore. Mr. Powers is an intelligent and enterprising man. He wanted funds for shipbuilding. Money was then in great demand on first-class real estate loans at not less than eight and even as high ten per cent. Lenders want the strongest security they can get when they lend their money, and not one of them would for a moment have thought of lending at those rates on vessel property to almost its full va lue. We know this for fact. Yet Mr. Gunu to accommodate Mr. Power and to encourage shipbuilding here agreed to lend the money, to charge interest on advances only as they were made from time to time as the work went on, to let Mr. Power sell any of the vessels whenever he could, then pay off the mort gages and keep the profits himself. Un der this arrangement Mr. Gunn assumed great risks of loosing, and if he had not done so not one of these vessels would ever have had a keel laid, because no one in this city had the means and the desire to lend money for the purpose. No man has done so much to redeem this city from the stigma of want of enterprise as Mr. Gunn. No man has a more unsullied business reputation, and no man is more deserving the esteem and gratitude of the electors of

COUNTY COUNCIL. Count How About Road Grants-A

Legal Opinion. The Council resumed at 2 o'clock. It was decided to reconsider that part of the Finance Committee's report which referred to the expenses of Mr. Thomas Tapping in connection with the Deighton investigation.

There was some discussion, but only one member objected to the matter being re-opened. Mr. Tapping defended his position.

He was not so much anxious to recover. the money as he was to vindicate his It was next moved by Mr. Brewer, seconded by Mr. Grant, that Mr. Tapping be paid all the costs incurred by him in connection with the Deighton case. As there was no doubt that Mr. Tapping was brought to the city by the county, the motion prevailed. Mr. Rutledge was glad that the Coun-cii had removed the imputation against Mr. Tapping's character. The Council went into Committee the Whole on the matter of an increase of salary to Mr. C. H. Corbett. The deputation had waited on the Sheriff and he refused to dispense with the services of the second turnkey. Both the amendments were withdrawn and one substituted by Mr. Williams recommending an increase of $100, another by Mr. Patterson recommended

Saturday's Seesion.

The Council resumed at at 10 o'clock The Special Committee who waited upon J. A. Henderson, Q.C., in reference to the Bath Road dividends, submitted a report, accompanied with the legal opinion obtained. It was to the effect that the Council could not recover anything from Mr. Fraser, but that the Bath Road Company was liable for the dividends declared during the past six years Any amount previous to that time could not be collected.

COLLECTION OF MARKET TOLLS. Mr. McGrath said that he wished to make a few remarks relative to the Market By law, as a served in Kingston. rie claimed that the by law was too stringent and infringed on the law as passed by the Ontario Legislature. The farmers asked for protection, and he thought somothing should be done by which the farmers of Frontenac could have their right.

Mr. Walker said he had read the by law. He believed that it infringed on the Ontario Statutes. It was more than stringent. Evidently the City Council had stretched a point in order libel on F. B. McNamee must be put off to obtain all the fees they could. Mr. Rutledge concurred in the opin ion advanced. The by law encroached upon the right of the people Mr McGrath said that farmers had spoken to him about tolls being collect ed illegally and they wanted protection. Farmers should refuse to pay all illegal tolls and an official should be named to defend actions taken against them. The city, when the by law was passed, felt sore and consequently made the by law as close as possible. The statutes override all by laws. Was the Council to resist in the interests of the constitutents?

The Warden said that it would not be right for the Council to have it go forth that they defended actions brought against farmers under the by-law. They would have their hands full. Mr. McGrath said that it was onl against the payment of illegal tolls that resistance should be made and defence

He demanded an investigation. It occurred on Thursday evening at the factory The meeting was attended by a large number of persons, among them being two experts, Messrs. Cowan and Willoughby. The accuser was the cheese maker, Mr. Day, who was supported by several of the patrons. It was claimed that the test was not made in the presence of witnesses which was unfair. A sample of curd coming from the milk tested, was shown but there was no way by which it could be ascertained who had adulterated the milk. Mr. Stratton and family were prepared to make personal affidavits that there had been no tampering with it up to the time it left the farm. The matter thus stands.
