THE LAST ELECTION

We make no prophecy about the elec tion either in the city or country, but we have had reason to feel hopeful and much encouraged, and cheerfully anticipate the battle at the polls. The canvass is virtually over, and to all intents and purposes the die is cast. What the result will be no one can say, and it is not wise to speculate. It will not be uninteresting, however, to give a summary of the vote at the last election, so that our readers can compare it with the returns to be published at the close of the polls to morrow evening. A POLITICAL MARTYR.

Just as we expected the case of Mr. Charles Hentig, a good citizen barring his politics, has been given a great airing in the columns of the Neus, and Mr. Britton and his party are denounced for their intolerance. It is unnecessary to repeat the facts as set forth in the Whie of last evening. Mr. Britton, leaving home, desired Mr. Hentig, for ur gent business reasons, to put in at least half of to-day at the law office, and was surprised to find "an old servant" so indiscreet as to make arrangements for a prolonged absence without consulting any one, and so headstrong as to insist upon having his way, irrespective of whom it pleased or displeased. Mr. Britton had no desire to part company with his over zealous subordinate, but the wishes and business engagements of an employer are entitled to some consideration, and few would have shown the liberality which Mr. Britton exer-
