DUTY OF THE HOUR

Mayor Gaskin's organ announces that if the Provincial Fair is not a success the facilt will be with the Secretary, who is charged with not having had it properly Water we not been put up in conspicu ous pinces, as directed by him, and that in consequence the Exhibition has not received as much publicity as circum stances justified. Mr. Wade has probably followed instructions and the consequences, however serious, will not affect him personally. It must be remem. bered that the success of the Fair is a matter which concerns more than one individual. Every citizen should feel that he has something at stake, and the Mayor and Council ought to realize that a mighty responsibility rests upon them. It is now eleven years since a Provincial Show occurred in Kingston, and the inele nent weather made the last a financial failure. That fact has been a damaging one, and bearing it in mind we should have no difficulty in accounting for the indifference with which subsequent ap plications for the Exhibition have been treated by the Arts and Agricultural Association. Toronto rejected the Fuir this season, and Kingston was preferred to Ottawa, though the delegate. from the latter place were particularly, urgent in the canvass. Our Alder manic replesentatives have been aware. of all these thirgs, and they have been solemnly warned besides that the city a few days hence will be placed upon its trial. Dissatisfact.on and non-success. ed. then, will be a terrible mistortane. For bid that they should be experience .. and yet intolence is not usually fruitful of good. Admitting that the movertising ) has not been extensive can nothing be done to develope public interest? This is not the time to talk of how any man squeezed through the last election. The question is, What is being done to popularize the Provincial Exhibition, to give it prominence and life and reality? Why were the tactics pursued at To public meetings called in order that the people might be consulted upon the Council not discussed the est write lout. lay so far incurred on buildings, and the city's ability to provide special attractions? Has the action of Mr. Wade in regard to the posters prevented the citizens from meeting the emergency in some way? We trow not. It is hever too late to attempt amendment. Let there be a new interest awakened, let ] the merchants and manufacturers exhibit as much as possible, and above all

INTIMIDATING JURIES The London correspondent of the New York Tribune thinks that Mr. Jus tice Lawson's punishment of the High Sheriff Grav, of Dublin, is defensible from whatever point of view it may be regarded. His Lordship was presiding over a special Commission organized under the Prevention of Crime Act. which, as originally adopted, gave the Judge the power of convicting without a jury, but which was amended to admit of trial by special jury. The leaders of the agrarian agitation in Ireland knew that the success of their agitation | Major. depended on the perpetration of crime and the impunity of the criminal. The assassins could be relied upon for the necessary murders, and the juri's. sometimes terrorized, could be relied upon not to convict. Mr. Hynes upset all the calculations of the plotters mischief. They set themselves to dis credit both the system and the jury and the latter they accused the Conv ernment of packing. They also accused the jury of drunkenness, and employed a widely circulated journal to spread the calumny. "If Mr. Justice Lawson. continues the correspondent," had to rated this, the Prevention of Crime Ac. would have been from that moment, so far as trials by special jury went. a dead letter. He had to choose between two things. He could but onforce the an questioned and unquestionable power of the Court to punish for contempt He could refrain from using that power and perm. junies to be intimidated ju justice paralyzed. There was no m. dle cause. He chose the former." W have been among those who have contended that the press shoul! be licensed to do as it pleases. We have not paliated or defended the offence of the Freeman's Journal, but we have pronounced the sentence of Mr. Gray exce-sive for what was represented to be an ordinary con tempt of court. Now we are given t understand that there was a great con spiracy against justice of which Mr. Gray was only an agent. "Am I to sit here," said Mr. Justice Lawson, "an tolerate that public jurors are to be held up to execration for simply doing their duty? I see perfectly well the design of the articles. It is to endeavour to destroy in the public mind the moral effect of these convictions, to interfere with the trial of the prisoners. and to prevent jurors from bringing to the discharge of their duties that free and unfettered judgment, the t judgment free from alarm and trepidate a, which every man ought to have when he comes to discharge his duty?" What is the position of these twelve men? We know that jurors have lost their lives in this country, and there is that memorable case of Mr. Herbert in the County Kerry, who lost his life because he did his duty as a juror. The end is not yet. The Irish Executive has

The unfortunate affair was a true illustration of a drop from the frying pan into the Major-General Luard, though in many of the posters sent out by Mr. plain clothing, challenged Major Mudge Major Scott stepped to the front and assumed the responsibility of his act and was in turn ordered under arrest, while the company which he command. ed was there and then ruled out of the competition. There is quite an excitement in Ottawa over the event. An official inquiry has been demanded, the nature and effect of which we cannot Low even conjecture. The Major Geneeral will certainly not add to his popularity; indeed he does not try to win applause, is a great sticker for discipline, and ignores public opinion when n the discharge of his duty. He is considered a severe inspecting officer and not sufficiently mindful of the poor encouragement men have to serve their country in the volunteer militia. His purposes are no doubt good-to overlook no defect, and, by promptly applying correction, to increase the efficiency of the forces. He could do all this perhaps with less brusqueness than he exhibited it London and Ottawa. Major Scott has had an interview with the Minister o Mulitia in regard to his castigation, and that it is a matter of some concern to the latter we may assume from the fact that he was formerly Colonel of the regiment to which the Major is attach-CEBUULG MILLITAKY CAMP
