NOTES TAKEN THIS MURNING

This morning was taken up by arriva of exhibits, and which after awhile vehi cle after vehicle driven into the grounds heaped with goods. Every department was in a state of chaos, but before night order is expected. Kingstonians will have numerous exhibits on the grounds The gates were not opened this morning to the public, but probably this after uoon late there will be admission. The Secretary was engaged all forenoon in receiving entries. Those who have delaved until the last moment have some very plausible excuses to offer for now asking favours. The number of exhibi tors is very large. The cattle are nearly all on the ground and they will make one of the grandest displays ever seen here. They are of all grades and con ditions, their like the people of hing ston have not before beheld. The equine display will be attractive. The sheep pens are all filled. Pigs are on hand in large numbers, in fact the live stock in every section shows up well

The Palace promises to look very fine The exhibitors are hard at work fitting it up. The ladies' display will be a centre of attraction. The carriage shed s crowded with entries. The cheese house is also well filled, with many entries yet to come in. Everything points to a most successful exhibition A FULL LIST.

Opufer per Orbem Dicor. Already the beginning of the trouble subsequent to the war has been made manifest. Russia objects to England deciding upon the future government of Pharaoh's land without the other Euro pean powers being consulted. In ether words Russia has a good deal to say, and will be ugly enough in defining its policy. We have before pointed out the designs of the Czar, and it is safe to say that if his ambassador's opinion goes for anything it will be decidedly anti-Bri tish. The Government, however, which suppressed the rebellion should have most to do with Egypt's destiny, and the troops will no doubt be kept where they have won signal success until the point over which diplomats wrestle has been satisfactorily settled. What to de with Arabi is the question now calling for attention. He has merited no consideration, and yet it is extremely improbable that he will meet a rebel's He will, however, be disposed in such a way that in future he can not cause trouble such as it has cost millions of money and many lives to bring to a climax.

In the excitement incident to fair week attention may be diverted from the Methodist Union's Committee procostings at Hamilton, but the fact remains that the meeting is the most important in many years, and that it promises to make a very important advance towards the object at which four Conferences have enthusiastically aimed. There was considerable irregularity at the first session of the Committee, but at subsequent meetings harmony prevalled and progress was made towards a hans upon which all branches of the Methodist Church can agree. Fields of Libour; Church government and disc pline the principle as to whether a General Superintendent is desirable; the question of ordination of lay preachers. and as to whether there should be the separate order of the diaconate and elder presiding elders and just to what extent the lay delegation should prevail in the courts of the Church-all these plestions will engage attention. Hurried action is not desired, and the principle of give and take must be expressed else there can be no amalgamation of different bodies into one organic whole. The action already taken is applauded by the western press.

THE EXHIBITION

The Provincial Exhibition, which pened to day, with the favor alse o Dominion auspices so far exceeds the best of its predecessors, held here that is a supreme local satisfaction to have regumed it. The cattle show is exceed lows Band. They will remain until jugly good, the cheese exhibit will be the finest ever held in Canada and nearly every respect the exhibition is above the average. This, for an East ern city, is no little pride, and we trust it will break down to some extent the bridge of Western prejudice. This much is certain-so long as Kingston can pre sent such a display the Provincial Fair must come east or be abaudoned alto gether, for want of a general support. One thing the Exhibition officials will freely grant-that the Corporation of Kingston has carried out its pledges, The buildings asked for have been provided, and] where they have failed to tally with the entries received every energy has been shown towards enlarging them. To day there is room and safety for every exhibit. If the good weather last over the great days, Wednesday and Thursday, the attendance will well satisfy the Provincial Board In several departments, notably in stoves and carriages, Kingston's industries come well to the front. This is a good | Carter, Rochester, N.Y. sign, and may the show be doubled at our next great fair.

THE BYE ELECTIONS.

The elections for the eight vacant seat in the Legislative Assembly have been appointed for Wednesday, October 18th, and there will, therefore, be no general election until 1883. The Tory giarm has thus been a sort of hunt of the "all cry and little wool" order. The energetic protests of the organs against a Fall campaign, after the manner o the Tories themselves, seem to have been about as necessary as they were reasonable. The Government have chosen the courageous part, though the people are ever willing to allow a party in power to take all the chances it can and would have freely given the Cabinet of Mr. Mowat the favor they granted to that of Sir John, of going to the country in prosperous times and under favering ircumstances. Mr Meredith and his indifferent following can organize, under the fond maternal care of the great wet nurse for political waifs, located at Ottawa; and can prepare a host of buncombe resolutions to condemn the Government policy, all the important features of which they have so far this parliament voted for steadily. With so much preparation the Opposition ought to present a great front, and so when Mr. Mowat's victory occurs it will be all the more signal and decisive. The bye elections will probably be contested with vigor, and as an index of the feeling of the Province will be closely watched by thousands outside of the particular constituencies.

MANITOBA EXHIBITS.

One caunot judge which to admire most, the quality of the Manitoba exhi bits at the Dominion Exhibition or the energy with which they have been presented to the public. Not a week has mucous surface of the system. Price 75c. elapsed since they left the Prairie Province, and this morning they were upon exhibition, being the first attraction and makes them white, and makes people day. This activity is characteristic of to me. What would your fair be worth the Nor-West. It seems as if it were imbibed with the invigorating air of the plains. "Manitoba First" is no mere eatch cry. It is a sentiment which pervades every class, since every Manitobian is an enthusiast for his country. Public spirit is keen when it is desired to bring the Province to the front, keener, it must be confessed, than it is in Kingston, when a gala week is at hand The soil of the Nor-West does not extend a greater hope for its future as a great country than does this hopeful, reliant energy pervading the people, and giving

The qualified the roots and cereals shewn is most excellent. The exhibits are not by any means choice cullings from an immense stock, but fair samples of choice crops. There is a deal of poor soil in Manitoba but there is a much greater area that is very rich, and needs only "to be tickled with the hoe to augh in harvest." Considering the short seasons growth is marvellous. As each year will cheapen fuel and improve transportation, the farmer has a bright hope in that once long land.

Street rumor had it that the schrs Norway and Lilie Hamilton had been last. So far as we can learn it is withbooks and accounts of the Brooklyn out foundation. The only cause for it is the statement of Capt. M. Griffin, of the schooner A. G. Morey, running back from Cabbid Head, Georgian Bay, for W. Doran, Sharbot Lake; Dr. Chanon- such a manner that if the books of a shelter, that he saw an unknown vessel, rigged fore and aft, during the late storm A flag of distress was flying and the A. G. Morey down to rescue the crew, but about twenty minutes after first seeing her the vessel sank. When the Morey reached the spot where the vessel sank nothing could be seen of her Every effort was made by the Morey to reach and rescue the crew, but al hands were lost before assistance could be rendered.
